Cost Will Be $84 Per Year

60 More Homeowners Must Pay For Fire Protection

About 60 more homeowners in unincorporated areas near Elk Grove Village will be required to pay the village for fire protection by Nov. 1 or face an end to the protection, the village board decided this week.

The board approved a recommendation Tuesday which will force those homeowners to pay an $84 yearly charge or face withdrawal of fire and ambulance service, which is now being provided at no cost by the village.

The policy brings those homeowners under the same program offered this year to residents of the Forest View subdivision, where 100 of the 121 homeowners paid the $84 fee this year. The other 21 have been without fire protection — except emergency rescue of persons — since Nov. 1.

Included under the new policy will be about 40 homeowners in the Itasca Meadows subdivision and a number of homeowners in unincorporated areas around Devon Avenue and Tonne Road, Fire Chief Allen Hulet said. Also included are several smaller sections of six or eight homes each just outside the village limits, he said.

Village board members said the decision to expand the program to other unincorporated areas was made because the system has worked well in the Forest View subdivision. The $84 fee was calculated on basis of the department's cost to the village.

BOARD MEMBERS indicated the decision was made at this time to allow homeowners ample time to make their decision prior to the deadline.

Residents of the areas affected will be notified by mail of the policy and told that unless they pay the $84 fee by Nov. 1, fire and ambulance service will not be provided after that date. The policy will also be continued in the Forest View subdivision.

Under the policy, the fire department is to take no action in case of a fire at an uncontracted home except to save residents in the house. Callers requesting ambulance service for uncontracted homes are to be referred to private ambulance services.

The fire department keeps a record of homes not covered by contract in Forest View and apparently will expand the system to cover the other unincorporated areas.

Forest View residents were notified last fall that at homes where no fee has been paid the department will provide "persons trapped in burning or stricken buildings . . . only such emergency evacuation services as can be rendered by the Elk Grove Fire Department. Once persons have been removed no further fire protection services will be performed."

Residents Protest Traffic Congestion On Side Streets

Another problem created by the Arlington Heights Road reconstruction project was brought to the attention of the Elk Grove Village Board of Trustees this week.

Five residents of the village submitted petitions Tuesday night containing the signatures of 150 persons protesting traffic conditions on four residential streets. The residents complained that as a result of the construction on Arlington Heights Road, the residential streets are being used by heavy volumes of traffic, which often travels at well above the speed limit.

"The speed is unbelievable," a resident of Ridgewood Road told the board, noting that residents of Ridgewood and three other streets — Tanglewood Road and Holly and Forest lanes — signed the petitions. The petitioners noted that the streets also are being used by a large number of trucks, which contribute to the problem, making the streets unsafe for children.

VILLAGE BOARD members indicated they were aware of the problem and were working on a solution to reduce the problem. "The board is considering some remedy to the problem," Village Pres. Charles Zetek told the petitioners.

Zetek noted that the road improvements would ultimately greatly improve the safety of village roads, but admitted that in the meantime "we've created a monster."

In other business Tuesday, the board: —Rejected a request from Schmerler Ford Inc., 1200 Busse Rd., for approval of a 90-day temporary permit for use of a trailer for an office. Building Commissioner Tom Rittenbacher had earlier rejected the request.

—Approved a resolution supporting federal legislation which would establish a group life and dismemberment insurance program for police officers and firemen.

—Awarded a contract to the C. B. Construction Co. for constructing valve apparatus around six main gate valves along Higgins Road.

Peony Pageant, Parade June 11

The 14th annual Peony Pageant and Parade will be held June 11 in Elk Grove Village.

A number of marching units, bands and floats already have been entered in this year's parade. First, second and third place trophies will be presented to the top marching units in the parade and entrants in the float competition will vie for a $100 cash award for first place and $50 for second place.

Among the units entered for this year's parade are those of Medinah Shriners Motor Corps, a U.S. Navy Marching Band, the Regal Vallants Drum and Bugle Corps, the Elk Grove High School Band, the Nisei Ambassadors and the Devilaires Rippling Rifles.

Floats representing the following organizations and businesses have been entered: Village Realty, the Republican Township organization, the Elk Grove Village Athletic Association, the Elk Grove Park District and the village Lions and Elks clubs.

Persons interested in entering marching units or floats in the parade should contact George Grenda, 437-4554.

Elks Lodges Name 'Teens Of Month'

The Elk Grove Village Elks Lodges 23 and 24 have named their Teenagers of the Month for May.

Larry Friedrichs, 18, of 462 Shady Ln., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Friedrichs; and Carla Sall, 16, of 800 Maple Ct., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sall, will be honored at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the lodge, 110 Gordon St., Elk Grove Village.

Friedrichs, a senior at Elk Grove High School, has been active in the school band and received the John Phillip Sousa Award.

Miss Sall, a sophomore at Elk Grove High, has been active in student council, and is a member of the National Honor Society.

Local Teacher In World Competition Again

Aquatic Artists Going To England

by CAROL RYHNE

The United States will be represented by a teacher from Devonshire School in Des Plaines next week at an artistic swimming symposium in Stevenage, England, near London.

Donna Glinka of Mount Prospect is one of the top swimmers in the world in the little-known sport of aquatic art, which is like acting out a story in the water. Last year she and her partner, Garrett Hopkins of Des Plaines, won a first place trophy in mixed duets in international aquatic art competition.

Mrs. Glinka and Hopkins will present the number that won them top honors as well as help conduct a workshop on mixed duets at the symposium sponsored by the International Academy of Aquatic Art from June 1-4.

"Aquatic art is a more creative form of swimming, than water ballet or synchronized swimming," she said. "It takes a strong swimmer but speed is not important."

"I STARTED aquatic art at Wright Junior College in Chicago in 1955, and I have been doing it ever since between children," the petite mother of five said.

She said she practiced for 10 years before entering the mixed duet competition which won her a total of four first-place trophies from the International Academy of Aquatic Art. After she won her third first place trophy in 1970, she was awarded a lifetime membership in the Swimming Hall of Fame in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where five pictures of her swimming talents are on permanent display.

Mrs. Glinka said it takes about a year to perfect the three or four-minute routines that have won her international honors. "I make up all of my own routines and originality is important. I guess a person needs to be a little far out to come up with the winning ideas."

Last year she and Hopkins won with a number entitled, "The Sheik," a comic take-off on an old Rudolph Valentino movie. "It was the first time I had ever tried adapting comedy to aquatic art," she said. "I thought of the idea, and then my partner (Hopkins) and I worked out the technical side of it."

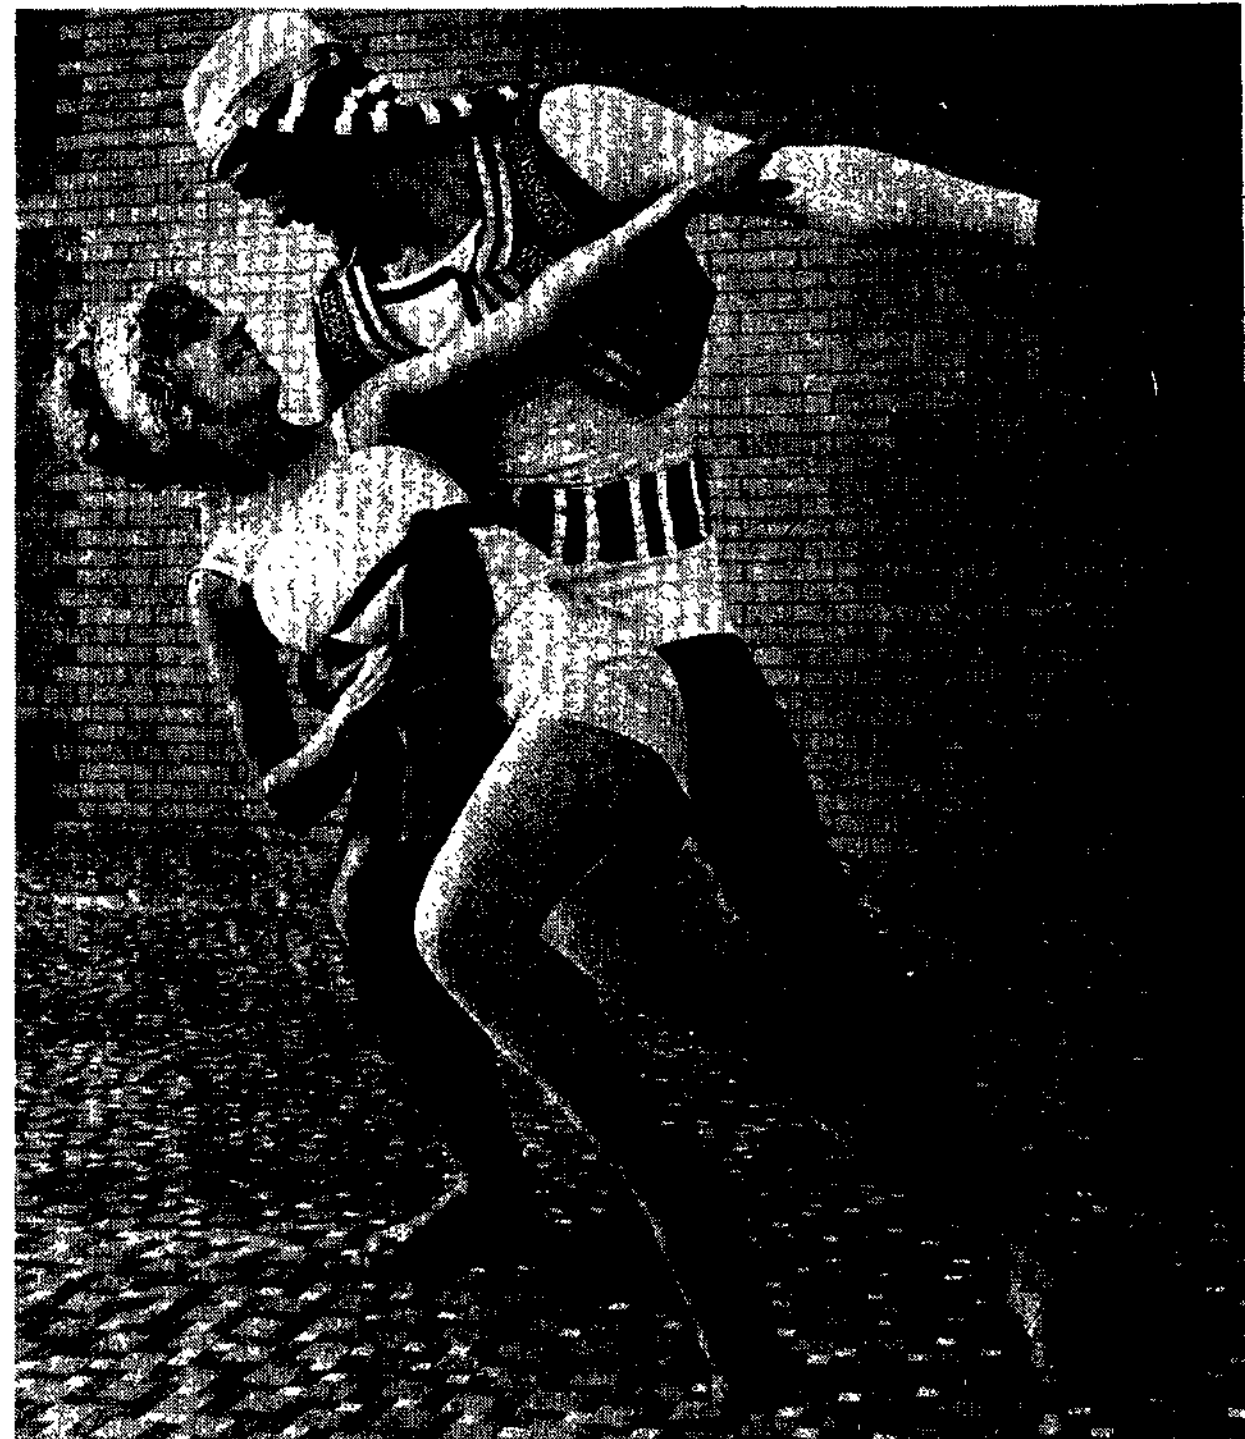

"AQUATIC ART is ageless; you don't have to be really young to compete like in the racing events," Mrs. Glinka said. "I practice only three to five hours a week because of family responsibilities, but I have been swimming so long my muscles are attuned to the exercise."

"Aquatic art is a relaxation for me," she said. "It is my creative outlet away from school, housework and family."

Aquatic art is strictly an amateur event and Mrs. Glinka said she pays her own way to meets, including the upcoming symposium in England. She said there is a movement under way to get aquatic art accepted as an official Olympic event, but it is too late to get competition in this summer's Olympics in Munich, Germany.

MRS. GLINKA said the biggest problem with aquatic art is finding a place to practice. "We have been using the Mount Prospect Park District pool at Dempster Junior High to get ready for the symposium, but I don't know where we'll practice later."

Between family and swimming Mrs. Slinka also found time last year to earn a master's degree in special education from Northeastern Illinois State College. This is her first year as learning disabilities teacher at Devonshire School.

DONNA GLINKA of Mount Prospect and Garrett Hopkins of Des Plaines demonstrate the winning style that brought them a first place trophy in aquatic art in international competition last year. They will fly to England next week to represent the United States in an international aquatic art symposium.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for a country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev . . . Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine . . . Latest medical bulletins said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blond busboy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 6 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sens. George S. 'I Won't Attack Him Because He's My Mayor'

Daley's 'Lieutenant' Gets Out The Vote

by PAMELA REEVES

Ever wonder how Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's ward bosses turn out those lopsided vote totals in favor of Democrats?

Meet Vito Marzullo, 74, an organization man who piles up 15-1 vote margins in his West Side ward, even when he doesn't like the candidate.

Critics of the city administration view Marzullo as a behind-the-scenes member of a political organization that perpetuates itself through ghost voting, vote fraud and bully politics.

But Marzullo says his part of the machine runs on "service." "I live with my people. I give my people service. My home is open 24 hours a day. I go to every social, civic and religious affair. Then, when election day comes, everybody does what Vito Marzullo tells them."

It is in the 25th Ward, around the intersection of Cermak Road and California Avenue, that Marzullo presides as ward committeeman and alderman, representing in the city council an ethnic mix of 22,000 voters — 30 per cent Polish, 25 per cent black, 12 per cent Spanish and 5 per cent Italian.

Those two jobs mean that Marzullo can almost guarantee street repairs, regular garbage pickup, delivery of welfare checks, cooperation from building inspectors and permit issuers, even a job for the daughter who wants to be a secretary, or the son who wants to be a city hall lawyer.

IT ALSO MEANS, according to critics, that you can expect trouble if you oppose Marzullo by supporting a Republican or by, for example, refusing to display a city campaign poster on the church bulletin board.

Anti-Daley factions recall the story of a 25th Ward Italian woman, Angie Pieroni, who was active in Republican Richard Friedman's unsuccessful 1970 mayoralty campaign. Daley won by an overwhelming margin and it cost Angie.

Soon after the final votes were in, the building inspectors were knocking at her door. She had two outside entrances, in fact, leading into her four-flat building, but the inspectors determined that wasn't enough. Angie had to add four more. There are now six outside entrances.

Marzullo, remembering the incident, laughs.

"Pieroni baloney," he says. "They found something wrong with her building, didn't they?" He's right. Under Chicago's building code, one of the strictest in the nation and critics say a potent political weapon, Angie's building did not have enough entrances.

But Angie, whom Marzullo describes as a disgruntled Democrat turned Republican because she didn't get a party job she wanted, is in the minority in Marzullo's ward. As a six-term alderman controlling 48 precinct captains, 140 other patronage jobs and many of the votes, he sees to it that she is.

Even in the March 21 Democratic gubernatorial primary, Marzullo's ward voted 2-1 for party-endorsed candidate Paul Simon over independent Daniel Walker. And Marzullo piled up a 9-1 margin for Neil Hartigan, a "party regular" who defeated Carbondale Mayor Neal Eckert in the lieutenant governor's race.

IN 1970 SEN. Adlai Stevenson took the 25th Ward 15-1 over Republican Ralph Smith with Marzullo's help although Marzullo has professed dislike for the senator, whom he says "thinks he's bigger than the party."

Even if one were convinced, however, that Marzullo is among those who perpetrate ghost voting and vote fraud and bully political opponents, that wouldn't be the whole story.

For 62 years, ever since his father brought the family from Italy to Chicago in 1910, Marzullo has lived in the same neighborhood, first with his father, who became ill after a year and returned to Italy, then with his sister, and for the past 50 years with his wife, Edith. They have six grown children, none overly interested in politics.

Marzullo quit grammar school to earn money, $3 a week doing errands, then worked in a shop, a factory and finally as a machinist. He has kept the friends and acquaintances he made along the way.

"I just came from a funeral last night," he says in thick Italian tones. "A woman died, 76 years old. I baptized her little girl in 1928. When my godchild, 44 years old, saw me, she grabbed me and kissed me in front of everybody.

"These are the things. These are the facts of life."

It wasn't always that friendly, Marzullo says. When he first ran for office of precinct captain in 1919, the area was solid Republican, and he lost 31 to 347.

"After about two years of losing it became a challenge," he says. "I was single, young, full of pep and vinegar. I stayed and made a Democratic precinct out of it. Then, even when the Republican landslide was on, I had one of the best Democratic precincts in Chicago."

MARZULLO WENT on to become the ward superintendent of streets and sanitation, a job he held for 24 years, maintaining it even while he served seven terms in the Illinois Legislature.

He gave both spots up at the request of the party in 1953. "Financially it was a losing proposition" to become the 25th Ward alderman, and he's held the post ever since.

During those 19 years, he says, he had opposition only once, from a Polish man who lost his own Polish precinct 3-1.

With that kind of power base, one would think Marzullo would be free to vote his conscience in the City Council, and he says he does — although he votes with Daley every time.

As he explains it, "Daley got a set program. If I disagree, I take it up with him personally and he is credited with key influence on several major decisions."

But he says, "I won't attack him because he's my mayor. I know the man for 35 years. He's been elected and re-elected five times, unprecedented in history."

"The majority of the party rules. After all, who am I? After the decision is made, I go along with the majority."

Marzullo's view is shared by most of his fellow city councilmen, but there are five or six who think differently, and for them Marzullo has little use.

"They just against everything," he says. "The Lord Christ himself could come down from heaven. So all right for them, we got the votes and we pass it bills anyways."

Marzullo feels the same way about proposals which would take the politics out of Chicago's civil service.

"When John Lewis a Republican took over the secretary of state's office after Paul Powell the Democrat who left a cash hoard of $800,000 in a shoebox in his hotel closet died," he says, "he wiped out every employee in that office 60 days later, not because they were doing a bad job, but because he wanted his own employees in there."

"And he was right. Why should he have Democrats that could sabotage his office?"

"If people don't believe in my politics, let them be a Republican. But they're not going to be a Republican and work for me."

He smiled, thinking of the "dogooders."

"If these people think they're such intellectuals, such smart fellows, let them move into the 25th Ward and run against me," he says with a laugh. "I'll beat the hell out of them."

Sacred Heart Of Mary H. S.

School Free To Explore

by JOANN VAN WYE

"The utmost in academic freedom" — this is Gerald Giles' description of what Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows has to offer its students.

Giles, who was recently appointed principal of Sacred Heart effective July 1, explained that while it seems paradoxical, the very fact that Sacred Heart is a religiously-oriented school lends itself to more academic freedom.

"Religion is an important aspect of so many areas and here at Sacred Heart this aspect is integrated right into the curriculum," said Giles. Public schools often do not have as much liberty to explore the religious aspects of subjects, he said.

"The freedom to explore this important aspect of human existence is a very liberating factor."

Religious studies is the area Giles and Miss Louise Jacobs, newly named associate principal also effective July 1, are focusing most of their attention on as they plan for next year.

Sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded and staffed the school since its opening in 1961, will be leaving at the end of this school year.

"We will be deliberately having some sisters on the faculty next year," said Giles. "Preferably the sisters will be from different orders."

Giles and Miss Jacobs agreed they felt it was important to have sisters on the staff to serve as exemplars for the girls at Sacred Heart. By staffing the school with sisters from different orders, they feel the sisters can serve as exemplars of diverse interests and direction.

At the present time Giles, Miss Jacobs, and the Rev. James E. Michaletz, superintendent of Sacred Heart, are interviewing teacher candidates. The exact number of new teachers there will be next year is still unknown but all of the current teaching sisters and approximately 10 per cent of the lay faculty will be leaving.

"Flexibility and a readiness to interact with teenage girls of today on all issues on a personal level as well as strength in their academic field" are the qualifications the three are looking for as they interview candidates, according to Giles.

As to possible curriculum changes, Miss Jacobs said, "We are in the process of reviewing the curriculum now. It is difficult at this point to say what direction the curriculum will take."

Flexibility and an interdisciplinary approach to subjects will definitely be retained in the curriculum, according to Giles. He said he felt these two factors were important to develop responsible freedom in students, stimulate the faculty and show the interrelationship of various areas.

Time is the major problem facing Giles and Miss Jacobs now. Both are currently employed at other schools but they are trying to spend as much time as possible at Sacred Heart talking to students, parents and faculty and just getting the general feel of the school before they actually assume their new positions officially on July 1.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Previously he had been English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and an administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

He is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University. Giles, his wife, and four children are looking for a home in the area.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching at Trinity High School and Rosary College, both in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in La Grange, where she was curriculum coordinator. She holds a master's degree from Loyola University.

The trial of the owner of a truck charged with being 100,000 pounds overweight while traveling through Elk Grove Village was continued yesterday to July 12.

The scheduled jury trial for the Bonji Carriage Co. of Chicago was continued because of a conflict with another jury trial at the Des Plaines branch of Cook County Circuit Court.

The truck was cited for being overweight last January by police after a check allegedly showed the truck to have a weight of 175,350 pounds, almost 102,000 over its legal limit.

If found guilty, the trucking firm faces a fine of more than $10,000.

AN "ARTS IN ACTION" workshop was held last week at Rupley School in Elk Grove Village to demonstrate some creative and practical arts to students from 59 schools and two area Catholic schools. Here, fourth grader Jenny Munn works on a birdhouse and fifth grader Jeff Sprengen makes a collage.

Buffalo Grove Firemen Join Emergency Plan

Buffalo Grove and possibly Wheeling, are to be included in the mobile emergency care network being set up at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Hospital Pres. Malcolm D. MacCoun indicated at a meeting of area fire chiefs Tuesday that the addition of Buffalo Grove, which would operate one mobile unit, would not adversely affect the network.

The suggested number of units served by a participating hospital is eight, but 12 already are included in the local system, and more may be added.

Dr. Stanley Zydo, who is training firemen in paramedical techniques, said it "doesn't matter how many units there are. It's the number of calls that counts."

He estimated that emergency calls handled on the network would overlap only seven-tenths of one per cent of the time.

Zydo also pointed out that emergency vehicles could be directed to another hospital that may be considered more convenient or preferable by the patient.

For example, if a case arose in Hoffman Estates, doctors at Northwest Community Hospital could transmit instructions to the firemen on the scene while at the same time contacting nearby Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village that the patient was en route, Zydo said.

EVENTUALLY, other area hospitals may set up mobile emergency networks for surrounding communities or, if necessary, the Arlington Heights hospital may add a second receiver to handle additional calls, according to MacCoun.

Currently expected to participate in the network are fire departments in Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

In addition, a private ambulance service, Delta Ambulance, has indicated its vehicles also will be equipped and its attendants trained for the program. Another firm, Arlington Ambulance, plans to get the equipment at a later date, but is training its attendants now.

Wheeling Fire Chief B. Koepfen said his village is considering joining the network, but has not made a definite commitment.

The service is expected to begin in August. It involves firemen and ambulance attendants transmitting data on a patient's condition to doctors in the hospital emergency room, who would relay instructions over a two-way radio on how to care for the patient before his arrival at the hospital.

Equipment is to be ordered by the end of June from Dann Co., Beachwood, Ohio, which submitted the low bid for Pioneer Medical System equipment.

The cost is $7,000 for the hospital and close to $5,700 for each mobile unit. Villages split by railroad tracks must acquire two units.

LEGISLATION enabling paramedical personnel to administer drugs and apply an electrical shock to restore heartbeat, under the supervision of a physician, is being considered by the Illinois Senate.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, the bill has been endorsed by Illinois State Medical Society and the head of the state division of emergency medical services.

Three other groups, the Chicago Board of Health, Illinois Hospital Association and Illinois Nursing Association, are studying the bill.

According to Anne Zimmerman, executive administrator of the organization, the nursing group has taken no formal stand.

MORE THAN 200 AREA firemen are taking part in nearly 80 hours of training to become paramedics. Training includes five hours in Northwest Community Hospital emergency room and five hours in the coronary care unit. Pictured above, from left, are: firemen Dominick Saviano Jr. and Bob Douglas of Buffalo Grove and Bill Arnett of Wheeling. They are receiving instruction in the use of a defibrillator from Mrs. Florence Larabee, a nurse at Northwest. The defibrillator and nearly $5,000 worth of other equipment will be employed by local fire departments and two ambulance services when taking victims to the hospital. The para-med program will hopefully be ready for service in August.

Delay Weaver Trial Until At Least July

by STEVE BROWN

The federal district court trial on a recent six-count indictment against Schaumburg State Bank Pres. Ward A. Weaver probably will not start until at least July 1, according to attorneys for Weaver and the government.

Weaver's attorney, Joseph Lamendella entered a plea of not guilty for the banker during a brief arraignment hearing yesterday. Erwin D. Oosting, Weaver's codefendant also pleaded not guilty. Both men waived formal reading of the 12-page indictment in open court.

Weaver and Oosting have both been indicted on charges of making false entries in the records of three suburban banks during 1967 and 1968.

Lamendella said he planned to file pretrial motions on the indictments before proceeding to trial.

"This indictment involves some very complex financial matters and we could not possibly be ready for trial before July 1," he explained.

Federal District Court Judge Thomas R. McMillen set June 7 as the date for a status report on the case and the entering of pretrial motions.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Frank Murtha agreed that July 1 would be the earliest the case could come to trial.

The indictment against Weaver and Oosting, president of the Bank of Clarendon Hills, alleges the two men falsified bank records at the Schaumburg State Bank, the Bank of Clarendon Hills and the Evanston Trust and Savings Bank to show loans and transfers of funds totaling more than $630,000 to the Mar-K-Z Motors and Leasing Company, Inc.

The Elk Grove Kiwanis Club will sponsor a Chicken Day June 4.

Kiwanis representatives will contact Elk Grove Village residents by phone asking them if they would like to place an order for adult or children's size dinners and the time between 12 noon and 6 p.m. they would like to have them delivered.

Murtha has refused to say whether he believes the two accused men allegedly took the money from the banks or made the false entries to cover deficiencies from bad loans.

Sacred Heart Nuns' Last Graduation

Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows will graduate 161 girls at its eighth commencement tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the school.

This commencement has a special significance for the school since it is the last one sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary will attend.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary founded the school in 1960 and have staffed and operated it since. Due to financial problems and problems in staffing the school, the sisters will be leaving at the end of this academic year. The Archdiocese of Chicago has assumed ownership of the school.

The commencement will climax two days of graduation activities which will start tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Arlington Park Towers.

Tonight's activities will begin with mass celebrated by Rev. Patrick Rander, acting principal of St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights.

MANY OF THE sisters at the school will act as extraordinary ministers and distribute communion at the mass.

Miss Vanden Dolder is the valedictorian of the class of '72. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Vanden Dolder of 406 Ridge, Arlington Heights.

A straight A student, Miss Vanden Dolder has been active in the National Honor Society and Girl Scouts while at Sacred Heart. This year she was cited by Merit's Who's Who Among American High School Students. An Illinois State Scholar, she has won a scholarship to St. Theresa College in Winona, Minn. for next year.

The welcome address will be followed by the presentation of awards to the seniors and a graduation dinner.

Friday's commencement activities will start with a multi-media senior profile put together by the faculty.

PATRICK O'BRIEN, dean of faculty and curriculum at Sacred Heart, will be the graduation speaker. Len Baenen, principal, will give the girls their diplomas and a rose.

The farewell address will be delivered by Mary Alice Ward, salutatorian of the class.

While at Sacred Heart, Miss Ward was active in NHS and won several trophies in forensics competition. She recently placed 12th in the National Catholic Forensics League Competition. She was also named Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ward of 1820 Illinois St., Des Plaines, Miss Ward was named an Illinois State Scholar and will be attending the University of Illinois in the fall.

Several sisters who have taught at the school will be coming from New York where the order is centered for the graduation activities. They will stay until Sunday when an alumnae reunion is planned for students who have graduated from Sacred Heart. The reunion will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. at the school.

7 Park Districts Plan Connecting Bike Routes

Representatives of seven Northwest suburban park districts will get together tomorrow to discuss the development of connecting bicycle routes.

A master plan devised by the Council of Governments of Cook County which links the communities is to be presented.

Roger A. Bjorkvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the governmental council, proposed that the workshop be held to coordinate each village's plan for a bicycle trail. Some have already begun mapping out a route.

Invited to the meeting, scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday at Olympic Park in Arlington Heights, are park district representatives from Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Rolling Meadows.

In addition, Joe Kesler, Arlington Heights village planner; Robert Cleckner of Arlington Heights, field director of the Bicycle Institute of America; and Richard Mirner of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, have been invited to speak.

According to James Devos, director of Recreation Park in Arlington Heights, most of the planning will involve setting up a bicycle route along roadways.

A bike route differentiates from a bike path in that a path is set aside from the streets, specifically for bicycles or hiking.

Devos said the route is to be developed "so a person could ride with some degree of safety from one town to the next and not get lost."

Thoroughfares are to be selected based on traffic safety and riding comfort, he indicated.

Defer Talks On Condominium Bill

Hearings slated for yesterday morning before the Illinois Senate Judiciary Committee on a proposed condominium truth-in-selling law were not held.

According to the office of State Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, who introduced the bill in the Senate, discussion was deferred. The committee meets at 9 a.m. every Wednesday, and presumably the bill will be taken up next week, Graham's office said, although it is not definite.

The bill has been passed in the house, where it was introduced by State Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect. Regner worked with Hoffman Estates Plan Commission chairman Richard Regan in drafting the bill.

Regan and several village residents of condominiums had planned to testify at the hearing yesterday. They might not do so, however, since Regan has received indications there may be no opposition to the bill in the Senate. The bill was opposed in the house by the Home Builders Association of Illinois, which lobbied for an amendment to weaken the bill.

HOW THE RICH GET RICHER

It's really very simple. The Rich get richer by letting their money make more money. You can do the same.

You've heard a lot about the successes of the Rich in the stock and real estate markets. Here you can both gain — or lose — a lot of money. If you might need your money in a hurry, you risk having to sell your investments for a lot less than you paid for them. These are good investments for those who can afford to take risks or those who have a substantial base of savings behind them.

But very few of us are rich, or even on the road to being rich. Very likely you are most concerned with keeping the money you've already got and seeing it grow enough to prepare you for retirement or to provide you with extra income.

For people like yourself the best way to put your money to work may be 6% Certificates of Deposit from Palatine Savings and Loan. These certificates combine a high yield with the safety and convenience of a savings account.

Risk? None! Your certificate is insured just like a savings account. And the interest rate is guaranteed for two years or more. Return? 6% per annum compounded daily to yield a high 6.18% yearly — and without costly brokerage charges. That's earnings of $309.15 per year on a $5,000 investment or $1,236.60 on a $20,000 investment, if left in for a full year. Availability? With a 6% certificate you agree to keep a minimum of $5,000 with us for two years. But if you really need it, you can have your money on demand with the loss of only 90 days interest.

Some financial institutions are lowering their certificate rates. We are not. If you have $5,000 or more of hard earned money that you want to put to work, complete the coupon below.

If you didn't know warm weather has arrived, you know it the moment all those cold-water pipes in your basement begin sweating and dripping. Moisture in the air hits the cold surface, condenses and the next thing you know — puddles on the floor.

Condensation is particularly a hot weather problem. It is not only annoying, it also can be damaging.

Anything stored in the immediate area is bound to be damaged — mildew and rust.

You must eliminate the moisture and you must prevent the pipes from sweating. Since you cannot keep the air completely dry, consider the prevention of sweating pipes in any event.

This is done by insulating the pipes. A number of insulating materials are available for wrapping around. The material should offer both insulation and vapor barrier so that it does not become saturated itself.

ONE FORM IS a tape of a plastic cork material that is adhesive-backed and which can be wrapped around the pipe and left in place. Just wrap and press. The material is waterproof and, therefore, needs no moisture barrier. Wrap tightly so that no pipe is exposed between the turns of the tape.

Fiberglass insulation is very effective. This must be used with a separate vapor barrier that is wrapped around the fiberglass. First wrap the fiberglass around the pipe. Then use the vapor-proof tape (generally an aluminum tape) over it. This holds the fiberglass in place while protecting it as well.

Don't neglect elbows, tees and valves. Cut small pieces to use in these areas. A trifle more expensive, but very attractive, is plastic foam. Tubing is made of the material and is applied by slitting the tubing along one side and then fitting it over the pipe. Seal the cut with adhesive or with tape.

With the pipes insulated, you have eliminated the problem of dripping pipes but not the one of excessively moist air. Remove excess moisture before it can damage other surfaces. Good ventilation is the key. Open basement windows whenever it is warm and dry outside. Use a dehumidifier if the moisture is too troublesome.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Readers of Tennyson may recall that Galahad's strength was as the strength of 10 because his heart was pure. That made it rather easy for his father, Sir Lancelot, to teach him how to handle sword, spear and shield. As for his bridge, the Wizard Merlin, who was the first bridge teacher, found him a most apt pupil.

Most of Merlin's pupils, like many pupils today, would go right after clubs at trick two, only to find that they would wind up one trick short because of the bad club break.

Galahad simply pointed out that he could be sure of nine tricks if he just went right after diamonds. He had only six diamonds, but was sure to establish two of them as winners.

Then he surprised his teacher by explaining that he might well wind up with an overtrick on his safe line of play.

The young prodigy did exactly this. East won the first diamond and led back a spade. Now Galahad, who had played the three of diamonds the first time, led out his queen.

West could do no better than win the trick and clear the spades, whereupon Galahad cashed the last two diamonds while discarding a heart and a club from dummy.

East, who had discarded a heart on the third spade, let a second heart go. Now Galahad played king and ace of hearts and by that time his seven spot had become high.

The Volunteer Bureau

Bureau Board Honors Two Volunteers

Audrey Phillips and Bob Huffman, of the Elk Grove Village branch and the Lois Moore branch respectively of the Volunteer Service Bureau, Northwest Cook County, were honored at the May meeting of the board of directors of the Bureau at the High School Dist. 214 Administration Center in Mount Prospect.

Mrs. Phillips, of Arlington Heights, has been a volunteer for three years in various capacities. She has been a reading tutor for emotionally disturbed children and she has been a telephone assistance and referral worker for the branch office in Elk Grove Village, which serves School Dist. 59 among other agencies. In addition, she has handled transportation requests for the Elk Grove branch. Mrs. Ethel Brodl, retiring branch director, presented Mrs. Phillips to the board.

Huffman, of Rolling Meadows, is a student at Northeastern University and has been a volunteer with the bureau since October, 1970, in a variety of assignments. He is involved in the enrichment programs in the schools, having filled such assignments in photography, conservation of wildlife, forestry, athletics, French, speech and drama. Mrs. Tammy Meade, retiring co-director of the Lois Moore branch office, which serves Palatine and Rolling Meadows, said he also has been a resource person through whom other enrichment volunteers have been recruited.

THE HEAD START Program serving the area will operate through June, but will close in July and August due to lack of funds. There is a need for volunteers in June because the usual source of mothers for volunteers starts its annual retreat back into the homes while the children are on vacation. Call directly to the Head Start Program if you are interested. Teens and college students are most welcome.

The Recording for the Blind, Inc., Winnetka, will be using volunteers this summer who can record textbooks that will be used in the fall. The central office can help you in contacting this agency if you think you might qualify. Most of the textbooks are college level, but recordings are being increasingly used in secondary schools, also.

Arlington Heights School Dist. 25 will be using volunteers in its summer school program. The district expects a record enrollment and is hopeful that teens and college students will try their agency as an interesting summer volunteer assignment. Call directly to the School Administration Center, because the Arlington Heights branch office is closed for the summer. Mr. James Montgomery is director of the summer school.

For the over 20-year-olds, Herrick House in Bartlett, which is a temporary home for children whose court cases are pending for child abuse and neglect, not delinquency, has issued a request for volunteers with the Bureau.

The Bureau reminds teens under 16 that they must have a work permit to be a volunteer. This procedure can be facilitated through the high schools.

The Doctor

Dear Dr. Lamb — With all the disagreement regarding cholesterol, I would like your opinion on treatment. Can cholesterol be handled by diet, or should one look at the heredity angle and be happy with a count of over 400?

For your information I have taken Atromid which caused continuous headaches and diarrhea. Then I have been on another medicine for four months. The reading was down to 360 but now I have a headache day and night. I usually feel peppy and seem well. Should I live with cholesterol, or is that possible? I am 70.

Dear Reader — Not everyone responds the same way to treatment for high blood cholesterol. I have been impressed that a very large percentage of individuals can decrease their level of cholesterol by adequate weight reduction — all excess body fat.

Weight loss is not so successful in people who need to lose 60 pounds and only lose 10 any more than the dietary management of diabetes is successful in an overweight person who loses only a small part of the weight he needs to lose. The crux of dietary management of high cholesterol is limiting your total calories and decreasing your total fat intake, particularly the saturated fats found in animal fat and lastly limiting foods that are high in cholesterol.

I might point out though that even if you had no cholesterol at all in your diet and ate a lot of saturated fat, you could still develop high blood cholesterol.

In general most people who follow a good diet program can lower their cholesterol to quite satisfactory limits provided they really do enough with the diet. Different diet combinations are necessary for different people. Simple calorie restriction works for some. Others need to strictly limit calories, saturated fat and cholesterol. If need be you can put yourself on a diet of fruits, vegetables, cereals, fortified skim milk, uncreamed cottage cheese, lean fish and lean fryer chicken without skin.

The dietary treatment is very important because a lot of the medicines that are given are somewhat less than satisfactory. Just because you have a high cholesterol level doesn't mean you are going to have immediate difficulties. It is really one of several factors that produce an increased risk for atherosclerosis. So, yes, it really does increase the likelihood that you are going to have problems.

St. Viator Awards Banquet June 2

Many St. Viator High School undergraduates will receive special academic awards on June 2. The awards, given to students who have an outstanding record in one subject area and to those who have consistently achieved honor roll status, will be presented at a 7 p.m. Academic Awards Banquet at the school, 1213 E. Oakton St., Arlington Heights.

Outstanding student awards in mathematics will go to freshmen John Butler and Larry Kay for their successful work in advanced algebra. Sophomores Steve Ley and Dan May will receive recognition for their progress in geometry and junior Richard Virnig will be honored for his record in algebra II.

Social studies awards will be presented to freshmen Richard Kozakiewicz and Hugh Devlin and juniors Michael Mitchell and Larry Moran.

Winners of the language awards are juniors Greg Dunn, French; and Michael O'Kane, Spanish. Freshmen Victor La-

Mantia and Gary Takata, sophomores Thomas Freese and Chris Erbach and juniors Andrew Dörner and Mark Sullivan will be honored for their work in English.

School Administrators Request 5% Pay Increases

Administrators in High School Dist. 214 have asked the board of education to grant them an average 5 per cent pay increase next year, more than the amount being recommended by District Supt. Edward Gilbert.

The board postponed action until June 5 on the administrative salary proposals Monday, after receiving salary and fringe benefit recommendations from Gilbert and a committee of administrators.

Gilbert recommended that the board put aside $60,000 to be divided among the administrators. The amount would mean average raises of three per cent, although some administrators might receive more and others less as determined by Gilbert and the board.

The committee of administrators, with representatives from most of the administrative categories, asked the board to set aside $100,000 for the raises, which would mean an average five per cent increase over this year. The committee is not a formal bargaining group.

In addition, Gilbert and the committee disagreed on proposals for increasing fringe benefits for administrators, including proposals for extended sick leave, retirement pay and extra duty pay.

Supt. Edward Gilbert

The administrators' committee also asked the board to adopt an auto purchase plan which would allow administrators to take a decreased salary if the district buys a car for their personal use.

Gilbert said he had no recommendation on the plan, but pointed out the idea would result in income tax savings for the administrators and would allow them to benefit from the district's tax-exempt status. He said he thought most administrators would eventually participate if the board adopted the plan. This, he said, would mean the district could end up owning as many as 100 cars for their administrators.

The administrators, whose salaries will be determined when the final package is accepted, range from the district's two assistant superintendents to the heads of each academic department in each school.

Once the board has determined the total limit on raises, Gilbert will present the board with a recommendation for raises for each individual administrator based on a merit evaluation. Gilbert said he hopes to have the individual raises prepared by the middle of June.

The administrative salary package is not related to the negotiations currently underway between the board and the Dist. 214 Education Association, the bargaining unit for teachers.

District teachers recently turned down a proposed salary package that would have reduced base pay for beginning teachers and would have given teachers now in the district a four per cent increment for additional experience plus $100 across the board raise.

The Education Association and the board agreed last week to call in a team of fact-finders to try to break the deadlock on salary negotiations.

Board To Discuss School Decentralization Study

The Board of Education of High School Dist. 214 will meet next week to discuss the possibility of participating in a study on school decentralization that may bring the district as much as $1 million next year.

The study, being prepared by the Illinois Department of Urban Education, would set up a local school board at one of the district's seven high schools, according to Supt. Edward Gilbert. The department would then study the school for three years to see if decentralized control will result in better education.

If a district agrees to participate in the study, it becomes eligible to receive grant money of between $100 and $200 per student for one-fourth of its average daily attendance, Gilbert said. For Dist. 214, this grant would amount to between $500,000 and $1,000,000 a year.

The district would have to submit proposals on how the grant money would be used, Gilbert said, but it does not have to be limited to the school involved in the study.

The law authorizing the study set aside $6.7 million to be given to participating districts as grants, Gilbert said. Most of the money, more than $2 million, will probably go to the Chicago schools, he said.

Dist. 214 is the only eligible district that does not have all grades from kindergarten to senior in high school. It is also the only district not in a major city.

"Apparently when they defined the characteristics of urban districts," Gilbert said, "they based it on size, but not on whether they were in a city."

Humphrey Running Out Of Steam

McGovern In The Driver's Seat

by BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota has taken a commanding lead in the third NEA-National Observer nationwide count of potential delegate strength for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Second in significance to McGovern's surge were the strong gains Alabama Gov. George Wallace was making at the time he was struck down by an assailant's bullets while campaigning in Maryland.

The newest survey gives McGovern a huge and growing advantage, showing him with 971 actual or currently prospective delegates. That total puts him almost 500 votes higher than in the second count published in April, and within reasonable striking distance of the 1,509 delegate votes required for nomination in July.

Only a handful of primaries now remain. Should McGovern win the hotly contested June 6 California primary with second-place Hubert Humphrey, the 1968 nominee, the rush to put the South Dakota over on the first ballot in Miami Beach might become unstoppable. California gives the primary winner 271 votes in one big bundle.

IF FEW politicians and observers dreamed last winter that "outsider" McGovern would be leading the pack by late May, fewer still imagined that George Wallace, the flamboyant, controversial southern conservative, would by now have won six primaries — more than any other candidate — and be running a powerful third in the delegate count. NEA today shows his potential at 396 delegates as compared with 291 in the second survey. He could win still more in several nonprimary states.

The striking performances of McGovern and Wallace have been costly for other 1972 Democratic contenders. The original front-runner, Sen. Edmund Muskie, tumbled to bad defeat in four of the first six primaries and thereafter announced he would no longer seek delegates in the many primaries then remaining.

His once-enormous delegate potential, seeming in early March to promise easy nomination, has melted away dramatically. In the newest NEA-Observer check he has dropped nearly 500 votes from the previous count. He lost 509 the last time.

He appears today to have almost no chance to recoup. The tide is running away from him, and he is virtually a forgotten figure.

NOT TO BE overlooked in this third count is the serious lack of momentum in Humphrey's drive for a second straight nomination. His net gain was a mere seven votes from 468 to 475.

Even as Humphrey was winning four primaries, the first such victories of his career, he was being pressed by McGovern and Wallace and blocked off from really smashing triumphs.

Political appraisers coast to coast find no fire in his campaign. His third-place, 16 per cent showing in important Michigan was nearly as disastrous as some of Muskie's damaging showings. He has given up hope of a big delegate haul in New York's June 20 primary where 278 votes are at issue. His California clash with McGovern has become make-or-break for Humphrey. He seems not to have either the money or the troops for the kind of sweeping effort McGovern is making.

Expect Phone Rate Decision Soon

Hearings on the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. rate increase proposal should draw to a close in the near future. At least that's the hope of Illinois Commerce Commission hearing examiner Robert Tarrel.

Additional professional testimony is slated for presentation, Tarrel said early this week. "I hope we're getting pretty much to the close of this thing," he added.

"I will have a day this week for the presentation of opinions by general interveners in the case," said Tarrel. "This includes villages and other groups which are interveners but which have not been active participants in the case so far."

The next hearing before the Illinois Commerce Commission is slated for tomorrow in Chicago. The 10 a.m. session will be held in the hearing room, 19th floor of the State of Illinois Building, 100 N. LaSalle St.

Several thousand pages of testimony have been recorded since the proceedings began eight months ago.

Bell seeks commission approval of a service rate increase package which would boost the suburban user's bill by approximately 18 per cent for the basic local service plus the number of calls outside the basic calling area.

Tarrel anticipates that testimony on Bell's bid will be wrapped up within a few days. The filing of briefs by participants in the case will take another month, he said.

The commission will then consider the testimony presented by Bell and other participants. The full commission, by statute, has 11 months to consider the rate increase proposal. A decision could possibly be deferred until late August since proceedings began in September, 1971.

A previous interim rate increase proposal by Bell was turned down by the commission. The interim rate increase would have netted Bell an additional $122 million a year in revenues; the full rate boost would increase revenues by $182 million a year.

St. Viator High Adds 'Man-Made World' Course

St. Viator High School students will study traffic patterns and waste disposal systems next year.

The Catholic high school, serving boys throughout the Northwest suburbs, will include the McGraw-Hill "Man-Made World Course" in its curriculum. The course is primarily designed to show students the interaction between technology and society. Community planning, population growth and work with computers are also covered in the program.

The Rev. John Milton, C.S.V., science department chairman, said current plans call for sending pupils out into the community sometime during the next school year to study traffic flows and waste disposal systems. "The boys will also study mathematical models which will show the social consequences of various technologies," he said.

The course, open to juniors and seniors, will be team taught by Father Milton, the Rev. Robert Erickson C.S.V., mathematics teacher, and Social Studies Teacher Brother David Erbach. They will receive in-service training through the University of Wisconsin and laboratory equipment from McGraw-Hill. St. Viator is one of four schools selected to introduce the course in the Chicago Archdiocese next year.

ALL ST. VIATOR students will have a choice of four different study programs next year. Pupils may enroll in science, social studies or humanities "schools" or decide to remain in the traditional St. Viator program. While pupils in all four programs will take the same basic courses, class work will be approached through the subject area in which each student is most interested. The "Man-Made World" course, open primarily to students in the social studies program, will give pupils an opportunity to apply some mathematics and technology to social studies concepts.

St. Viator has made other changes in curriculum recently, and this spring the school was rated among the top 10 entries in a nation-wide competition on innovations in physics teaching sponsored by the American Association of Physics Teachers.

The school now uses two approaches to learning physics: one course with a heavy emphasis on mathematics, is geared to the student who has a high interest in science; the other class is more general and includes the study of physics from a historical point of view. Introduction of the general course has increased student enrollments in physics.

Father Milton also stresses the importance of take-home examinations in physics and recently spoke on the subject at a National Science Teachers Association meeting in New York. He explained that "the take-home tests allow the emphasis to shift from memorization of facts to letting students deal with questions in depth."

Connie Reed Queen Of Fair

Connie Reed, representing St. Alphonsus Catholic Church in Prospect Heights, was elected queen of the Mount Prospect Plaza Charity Fair Saturday.

She won with a total of $260.31. Votes were cast for candidates by donating money to the charities they represented.

First runnerup was Fran Morava, representing St. Stephens Catholic Church. Second runnerup was Marge Knutsen, representing the Nathan Goldblatt Cancer Research Fund. Pam Peterson, representing the Maryville Academy Volunteers, was third runnerup.

In the booth decorating contest, St. Alphonsus was first, United Cerebral Palsy Fund second, Waycinden Park Women's Club, third and St. Stephens, fourth. Honorary mentions went to the Northwest Assembly of God and Girl Scout Troop 881.

Slightly more than $4,000 was raised by the charities through their booth sales Saturday. The United Cerebral Palsy Fund was the largest single fund raiser with $713. Second was the Maryville Fund and third was the booth sponsored by Teen Aides for Special Kids, an affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy fund.

'New Father' Rules Changed At Northwest

Beginning this week, fathers of newborns at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights will be allowed to hold their babies a day after delivery.

Formerly fathers weren't allowed to hold their child until the day it was sent home. Mothers have always been allowed to hold their babies one hour a day.

There are still strings attached to the new father privilege. First he must make an appointment so the nursery staff can be prepared. Second he must scrub his hands for three minutes and wear a full length gown. Third, he may only hold the baby while seated, and must relinquish it after 10 minutes.

Another rule is that only one baby holding is permitted each new father during the baby's confinement. Babies are usually hospital-bound for four to five days.

Though fathers are not allowed in the delivery room at the hospital, they are allowed in the labor room.

IT WAS A LONG time in coming, but — as returned to our cold and rain-beleaguered latitude, and blossoms and sun-worshippers burst forth in equal profusion. (Staff Photo by Dom Najolia)

Electrical Railroad Idea Told

A Northwestern University professor Wednesday detailed a proposal for a 132-mile electrical railroad system designed to carry persons from Kankakee, Elgin and Waukegan to downtown Chicago in one half hour or less.

In explaining the proposal at a news conference, Stanley Berge, professor of transportation at NU's Graduate School of Management, faulted Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's administration for "lack of leadership" on transit problems.

Berge said Daley was wrong in proclaiming recently Chicago does not need a third major metropolitan airport. He also said the electrical railroad system would eliminate need for the controversial crosstown expressway proposed by Daley.

AT THE HEART of the proposed system is a railroad tunnel, six miles long and 230 feet deep under downtown Chicago, linking the Illinois Central Railroad right-of-way at the south side of the Loop to the North Western Railway on the north side.

The system would link existing railroad lines running north of Waukegan, northeast to Elgin past O'Hare International Airport and south to Kankakee.

The line, which Berge says could carry passengers at up to 100 miles per hour, would link Chicago with a metropolitan airport which Berge proposed several years ago be built near the Will-Kankakee county line.

Total cost of the system is estimated at $125 million, "less than the cost for two miles of the Stevenson Expressway," Berge said.

"What is lacking is leadership," Berge said. Daley often asks for concrete proposals, he said. "Well, here is one. Where's the action?"

"Maybe we should call it Daley's ditch," he added.

Bill Can Cut Deaths

In all probability, this week will mark another step in the forward progress of a remarkable idea in saving lives.

The Illinois General Assembly this week was expected to consider — at least in the Senate — a bill which would enable para-medical personnel to administer emergency treatment to the injured and ill under the supervision of a physician on a pilot basis.

The supervision would take place as the physician talks to ambulance drivers and attendants caring for the critically injured or ill on the way to the hospital. Doctors would communicate with the paramedics and get patient data through a radio network based at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

The unit would be the first of its kind in Illinois and would serve many of the Northwest suburban communities and their emergency facilities.

Passage of the enabling legislation is expected to come without major hindrance. The bill would not appropriate any money for the project, but would simply remove the participating hospital and firemen from liability in the emergency care of the patients. Without the law — which has worked successfully in other states — the emergency personnel would be virtually handcuffed in trying to treat people critically in need of aid.

Sponsored by Sen. John Graham (R-3rd) and backed by numerous professional medical and emergency care organizations, the bill deserves passage by the General Assembly and quick enactment by the governor. It is a remarkably simple yet beneficial piece of legislation which is aimed solely at helping people in critical need of immediate, professional care.

Preparing for the enactment of the bill are some 220 firemen of nearby suburban communities who are engaged in a nine-week program at the hospital to prepare them for a national emergency medical technicians examination.

But as remarkable as is this whole emergency treatment program, it is no less remarkable than the person who is almost solely responsible for its inception and continued progress.

She is Mrs. Janet Schwettman of Inverness and she more than anyone deserves the thanks of the community for her efforts.

Mrs. Schwettman conceived the idea for Illinois and has steadfastly shepherded the concept through the various participating agencies and through the professional organizations whose help is needed for the program's success.

In an equally remarkable act of perseverance, Mrs. Schwettman also managed to have enabling legislation drawn and presented in the Illinois legislature in a matter of weeks.

Obviously, this worthwhile project could not have been done without the full cooperation of Northwest Community Hospital, the professional firefighters and emergency vehicle men who care for the injured, and the legislators who will approve the measure.

But just as surely, nothing could have been done without Mrs. Schwettman's diligence. It is a commendable and remarkable feat.

Attila The Tourist

The strange species known as Tourist Americanus "may be less dangerous to the civilized world than Attila, but not much."

The charge is made by author John Keats, writing in Travel & Leisure magazine. In an article called "The Great American Vandal," he ticks off a list of tourist crimes committed by Americans. The samples include:

Partial destruction of the new John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts shortly after its opening in the nation's capital, where tourists dismantled the chandeliers, pried the faucets off bathroom basins, stole the silverware from the restaurants, paintings from the walls and cut swatches out of carpet and draperies for souvenirs and in all did some $1.5 million worth of damage.

The irretrievable loss of several geysers and Morning Glory Pool in Yellowstone Park because tourists could not resist the temptation to clog the vents with coins, stones and logs.

Graffiti and the Grand Canyon, where one ranger caught a family spraying their names on the rocks and was told, "We thought this was what everybody did. The rocks are for everybody, aren't they?"

In addition to our national parks, our historic sites and museums are particular targets of our touring barbarians, which accounts, says Keats, "for the fact that so much of our heritage is behind velvet ropes and iron bars or in glass cases and is only seen through a screen of uniformed guards."

It is bad enough that American tourists "foul their own nests," he says. "But worse, thanks to the creation of cheap jet travel, that our affluent barbarians now commit their nuisances on a worldwide scale."

The British Lord Elgin, it will be remembered, sent home whole shiploads of marbles which once adorned the Acropolis of Athens.

But Americans are the worst of all, claims Keats, if only because there are so many of them.

History According To Howlett

by BOB LAHEY
Political Editor

You come across the darnedest things in a library.

While rummaging through the office archives, I stumbled across a document even more obscure than the one I was looking for.

Its unappetizing title is "History of 23 Illinois Auditors of Public Accounts." And the author, logically enough, is the 24th Illinois auditor of public accounts, Michael G. Howlett.

Goaded by curiosity as to how anyone could possibly write a history of all the men who have held one of the most obscure — although vital — offices in the state of Illinois, I leafed through the slim book. And discovered some gems.

Howlett's book begins with a chapter on Daniel Pope Cook, for whom this county is named, appointed auditor of the Illinois Territory in 1816, when the territory extended from Kentucky to Canada, taking in large segments of Upper Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin. In addition to publishing one of Illinois' first newspapers, which survives today as the Edwardsville Intelligencer, Cook led the fight for statehood and against slavery in Illinois and became the first attorney general of the state.

Michael J. Howlett

One of Cook's successors, thrice-removed, had the distinction of nearly fighting a duel with Abraham Lincoln. He was an Irishman by the name of James Shields, who served five years in the legislature before becoming auditor in 1841.

In 1842 a series of letters signed "Rebecca" appeared in the Sangamo Journal, ridiculing Shields and blaming him and other Democratic officials for failure of the state bank.

Howlett relates: "Shields was informed by Simeon Francis, editor of the Journal, that Lincoln was responsible for the letter. Shields wrote Lincoln a letter demanding a retraction of 'all offensive allusions.' Lincoln replied that Shields' letter contained 'so much menace as to consequences' that he could not answer it any further.

"Shields challenged Lincoln to a duel, which Lincoln accepted. Lincoln had the choice of weapons and chose cavalry broadswords, an advantage for a tall man with long arms against the stubbier, short-armed Shields."

The duel, as Howlett notes, might have changed the course of history, but it never developed. Lincoln finally convinced Shields that only one of the less offensive letters had actually been written by him, and the challenge was dropped. It is believed that the more offensive letters may have been written, however, by Lincoln's future wife, Mary Todd.

Shields went on to a varied political career. Before his death in 1879, he had been an Illinois legislator, auditor, state Supreme Court judge, U. S. land office commissioner, a major general in the Mexican War, governor of the Oregon Territory, a Missouri legislator, and U. S. senator for one term each in Illinois, Minnesota and Missouri.

Probably only Shields' immediate successor, William L. D. Ewing, had a busier political career. Within 25 years he was governor, lieutenant governor, U. S. Senator, state senator, state representative, speaker of the House, president pro tem of the senate, clerk of the House, Indian agent, Army colonel (during the Blackhawk War), and finally state auditor.

Another colorful Irishman occupied the auditor's office from 1913 to 1917. James J. Brady, a former telegrapher and saloon keeper in Chicago, ran for the office in 1912 despite complaints of Democratic officials that their ticket was already full of Irishmen.

It included Edward F. Dunne for governor, Barratt O'Hara for lieutenant governor, William D. Ryan Jr. for state treasurer, and Patrick J. Lucey for attorney general.

Brady persisted, however, and with the support of telegraphers and saloon keepers throughout the state, was elected.

Midway through his term, he lost a suit for damages to a secretary whom he had fired. Only then was it discovered that the man who handled millions of dollars of state money was in bankrupt, and had been for 10 years.

Two of the chapters are devoted to more recent history. Howlett sketches the $2 million embezzlement case which sent Orville Hodge to prison in 1936, following an investigation instigated by Howlett. He also devotes a chapter to Lloyd Morey, former University of Illinois president, who was appointed to succeed Hodge and who is credited with more fiscal reform in Illinois than any other man before or since.

With the possible exception, Howlett hints in the final chapter, of the 24th Illinois auditor of public accounts.

Ecology Stand Lauded

The Herald editorial and cartoon May 15 supporting H.B. 2532 or what has been labeled the Lake Michigan Bill of Rights cheers me considerably. (I speak for The League of Women Voters of the Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect area and, I hope, for all environmentally-concerned citizens in Illinois.) We suffered a setback several days ago when the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee killed the scenic rivers bill (subject of another Herald editorial May 22) That same committee, chaired by Sen. John L. Knapp of Petersburg, is now considering the fate of the Lake Michigan bill. It is the responsibility of newspapers like yours and of environmentally-concerned citizens to let Sen. Knapp know many support the bill which provides for resource management and preservation of Lake Michigan. As you mentioned in your editorial the act also would restrict commercial use of the lake and require treatment of waste going into the lake.

Many consider the lake the "property" of those towns and individuals with land abutting the lake, but it washes onto three other states — Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan. One-half the Illinois population draws its municipal water supply from the lake and by 1985 it may be the reservoir for all of northeastern Illinois where two-thirds of the state's population resides. Added to our dependency on the lake is the fact that the lake has critical ecological problems, including slow circulation especially in the southern part of the lake and depths up to 923 feet. These facts deal merely with human survival and do not necessarily address themselves to the more nebulous recreational needs we have, but they stand as definite reasons to save the lake.

The League of Women Voters of Illinois supports H. B. 2532 under positions adopted by its members in 1960 relating to preservation and enhancement of water quality. The League recognizes that land use management has impact on water quality, and agrees that comprehensive planning for water development and management must be done on a regional basis which is the essence of H. B. 2532. Regional planning can only increase dependency on Lake Michigan as a source of water supply and outdoor recreation.

Tomorrow . . .

EDITORIAL: That vandalism task force in Mount Prospect may be one way to cut into so-called "nuisance crime."

It is the hope of the League that Sen. Knapp and members of the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee acknowledge your supportive comments. They should realize that the editorial and cartoon reached about 200,000 readers in northeastern Illinois.

She Scolds Dist. 59 For Textbook Fee Increase

A word of thanks to the one board member of Dist. 59, Mrs. Sharrie Hilbrandt. I'm sure she stated the unanimous opinion of the over-taxed home owners, who also have children attending Dist. 59 schools.

It seems she is the only board member that feels textbooks are a necessity, not a frill and belong in the educational fund.

The school board thinks they will get more money by raising the present book fee of $10 to $10.75 per child. Evidently, the past policy of charging a maximum of two children in a family also must be changed in order to have $120,000 for school books available. Is it possible that this increase is necessary? That the school district cannot exist within its present budget? The families supporting these schools must live within budgets, pay their bills and try to have a comfortable life without constant pay increases.

The fact that this matter was voted and passed by the board of education of Dist. 59 and can now only be eliminated by a referendum makes me wonder about the antagonism and bitterness of the board because of the last defeated referendum.

The price freeze saved us the increase this year, much to the board's dismay. What can be done now, to help put an end to the ever increasing budget.

Local Firemen Lauded

We would like to thank the Elk Grove Fire Dept. for the speedy and courteous response to our call for help on May 1, when our son, Jerry, was struck by a car when crossing Highway 72, from the forest preserve to his home.

The fire department was called right away and within 15 to 20 minutes the firefighters had Jerry in the emergency room at St. Alexius Hospital.

One firefighter radioed ahead and alerted the hospital of a possible broken thighbone (of course he used the medical term for thigh), so emergency room could call in a specialist so there wouldn't be anymore delay than absolutely necessary.

The other firefighter sat with our son and comforted him. He didn't know our son, yet he comforted and cared for him, not as just another case or individual but as though he was his own son or a close friend or a relative.

Also, we want to thank the young man in the green car who stopped traffic and flagged for the ambulance. He did a marvelous job in clearing the traffic so the ambulance could perform its duty without delay.

Thank you cannot begin to repay, but at least you know we appreciate and feel obligated to your firefighters.

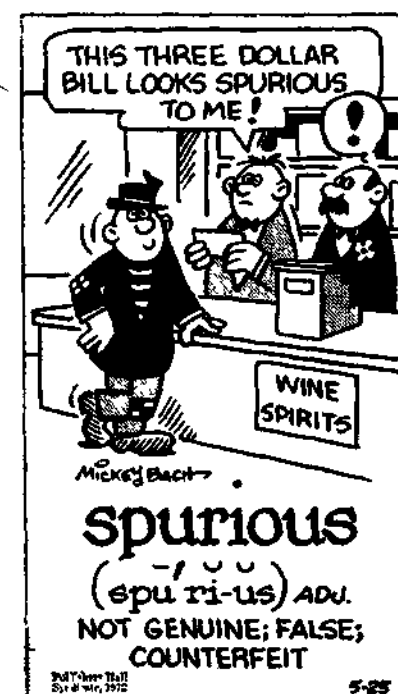

Although three weeks have gone by, the thought of you fellows has not left our minds and hearts.

Jerry is improving each day and is still in isolation at St. Alexius Medical Center in Elk Grove. Anyone wishing to send him a card may do so. He is in Room 352.

We feel honored and proud to have a fire department like this in Elk Grove.

Word-A-Day

Business Today

by LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — This story might be entitled "From Disfranchisement to Riches," but it's really about an alternative to franchising.

Sam D. Battistone, 32, of Santa Barbara, Calif., and his father, Sam, Sr., built a 200-unit chain of snack restaurants called Sambo's from scratch in 14 years.

"Everybody in the company's executive and managerial family started out the same way — washing dishes — and they're all well off today," said young Battistone.

Of course the hard work started the Sambo family members on the road to riches but what really turned the trick is that alternative to franchising. The plan raised the necessary capital for expansion as rapidly as a franchising plan does but avoided many of the pitfalls of selling franchises, Battistone said.

HERE'S HOW it works. The company takes and keeps a half-interest in every restaurant. The initial capitalization is always $100,000. The manager buys a 20 per cent interest, but the remaining 30 per cent is sold to six other managers in the chain.

"We call it the fraction of the action plan," said the younger Battistone. "It creates maximum motivation throughout the company. The company has to stand behind every action of every manager, negotiate the leases, do the major buying, set policy and so forth. But the individual manager's opportunities are not limited to making his own restaurant succeed because, after he has been with us for a while, he will have 5 per cent interests in several other restaurants."

When a manager is promoted to a company executive, he sells his 20 per cent stake in his original restaurant to the new manager. He retains his 5 per cent stake in other units of the Sambo chain and probably buys some more.

"Some of our managers have fractions of the action in as many as 16 restaurants," said Battistone. The fact that six other managers in the chain own pieces of his restaurant as well as the parent company produces a powerful incentive to each manager to do well.

"IT ALSO MAKES US a highly cooperative family," he said.

His restaurant as well as the parent firm has all the real corporate responsibility, the headaches over division of rights and responsibilities that have caused troubles for some franchise operations are avoided.

Nor does the parent firm have an incentive to buy up the minority interests in its restaurants the way many franchising companies ultimately buy up successful franchise holders to increase profits.

There also is no way for a Sambo's manager to buy absolute control of a group of the company's restaurant as a prosperous franchise holder might do in a franchising operation.

Sambo's owns its own food packing and food processing facilities wherever possible. It uses backhauling to cut costs. Trucks that deliver meats and other supplies to the Sambo restaurants in Florida bring back orange juice for the rest of the chain. In the same way, potatoes are picked up in Idaho, shrimp on the Texas Gulf Coast, chickens in Georgia and ham in Iowa.

Dash-80 Flies For Last Time

EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of the following dispatch covered the first passenger flight in the 707 15 years ago, and now reports on the last flight of the 707 prototype as it heads for retirement in the Smithsonian Institution.

by MARTIN HEERWALD
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 707 prototype, grandmother of the family of 2,200 Boeing jetliners flying today, goes into retirement Friday as "one of the 12 most significant aircraft of all time."

The first lady of the American jet age, all dressed up in a bright new coat of brown and yellow paint, will be turned over to the Smithsonian Institution in ceremonies at Dulles International Airport near the nation's capital.

She will take her place of honor with 11 other aircraft Smithsonian has given the "most significant" designation, including the forerunner of all flying machines — the Wright Brothers' flyer — and Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis.

Apollo 11 astronaut Michael Collins will accept the 707 prototype on behalf of the institution.

The next day the prototype, young in age at 18 but venerable by jet age time, will go on display at Transpo '72, the first "world's fair" of transportation at Dulles Field.

THE FIRST 707 is known by several designations, including "Boeing's $16 million gamble," "grand old lady of the jet set," and the plane that broke the economic barrier of the jet age.

But to those who put her together, one hand-tooled piece at a time in Boeing's Seattle plant, she is known simply and affectionately as "ol' dash eighty," a name derived from engineering model number 367-80.

In its 18 years, dash eighty logged but 2,360 flight hours, but as Boeing spokesman Jim Boynton explained, "These were flight test hours — hard, intensive, sometime dangerous, flown in search of the unknown or to confirm the predicted."

Test pilots flew dash eighty like a fighter plane, performing barrel rolls and steep dives at 10,000 feet a minute.

They loaded her with a fifth engine on the side, attached a huge radar dome to the nose and modified her hundreds of other times to test new landing gear, wing flaps that enabled her to stay in the air at 75 knots and quieter engines.

Now she is old and the plane that spawned the 720, 727, 737 and 747 has outlived her usefulness.

DASH EIGHTY will make her last passenger flight Friday in a nostalgic and leisurely hop from New York to Washington, carrying many of the aviation writers and editors who made the first passenger flight 15 years ago.

The last flight can be nothing like the first.

For that first trip with passengers, Boeing wanted to fly nonstop from Seattle to New York's La Guardia Field but Port of New York authorities decided they weren't ready in 1957 to initiate the commercial jet age.

However, Baltimore's Friendship Airport welcomes the new craft, and she dashed from Seattle to Baltimore in a record 3 hours, 48 minutes. Aided by a jet stream over Idaho, Montana and the Dakotas, dash eighty hit a top ground speed of 698 miles per hour.

Her work is done. The $16 million Boeing spent to build dash eighty paid off.

Half of all jet airliners in the free world today were built by Boeing.

Even President Nixon's Spirit of '76, the plane that took him to Peking and Moscow, is a branch of dash eighty's family tree.

Chrysler Announces Price Increases

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. has announced price increases ranging from $17 to $113 on many of its 1972 model cars and said it was acting with the approval of the Price Commission.

The price increases, which took immediate effect, stemmed from the designation of optional items such as front disc brakes, electric clocks, deluxe wheel covers and an automotive tailgate lock for station wagons as standard equipment.

It was the third price hike Chrysler has implemented for its 1972 models.

The word "professional" conjures up in your mind a pretty definite image. You think of a person expert in his field — knowledgeable, skilled, experienced and tireless. A professional puts a high priority on getting the job done right.

The men and women who bring The Bankers Life's modern insurance services to millions of policy owners are professionals in every sense of the word.

Consolidated profits of Combined Insurance Co. of America hit a record level of $6,957,000 during the first quarter of this year, 16.7 per cent over last year's first quarter net income of $5,959,000.

W. Clement Stone, board chairman and chief executive officer who is observing his golden anniversary year in the insurance business, told shareholders at the recent annual meeting in Chicago he will recommend a share distribution of 10 per cent to be issued in the third quarter of this year. The share distribution would be the 20th in succession since the corporation began issuing stock distributions in 1953.

"Our board will study the situation to determine our future policy regarding stock distributions," Stone said. "I anticipate that we will continue our program of 10 cents per share per quarter plus an extra cash dividend at year-end in an amount to be then determined."

Stone said consolidated profits for the first quarter amounted to 28 cents a share on each of the 25,286,294 shares outstanding on March 31 compared to last year's 24 cents a share, adjusted for the 1971 share distribution.

Combined's first quarter operations, Stone said, set new records for total income, direct premiums written both for life insurance and accident and health insurance, net investment income and total life insurance in force.

Lucky Stores

Lucky Stores' sales and earnings for the first quarter, ended April 30 reflect increases over the first quarter of 1971, it was announced today by William H. Dyer Jr., chairman of the board.

Earnings amounted to $6,674,000, compared to $6,595,000 in the first quarter of 1971 — an increase of 4 per cent. This is equivalent to 23 cents a common share, after preferred dividends, on the average number of common shares outstanding during the quarter, as compared to 22 cents a common share in the first quarter of 1971 (after adjustment for a 3 per cent stock dividend and a 100 per cent stock distribution). Pre-tax earnings were $13,404,000, compared to $13,361,000 in the first quarter of 1971.

Sales for the quarter were $468,476,000, compared to $425,342,000 in the first quarter of 1971 — an increase of 10 per cent.

During the quarter, Lucky opened eight stores and closed four stores. There were 565 stores in operation at the end of the quarter.

Sales and earnings for 1971 have been restated to include the operating results of Hancock Textile Co., Inc., Dormans, Inc., and Kragen Auto Supply, acquired by Lucky in 1971 and accounted for on a pooling of interests basis.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Communist offensive has produced a marked change in the Vietnam War. Any doubts about that were removed by Vice President Agnew's report on his recent trip to Southeast Asia.

After the 1968 Tet offensive, you'll recall, U.S. officials said they could finally "see the light at the end of the tunnel."

But Agnew, upon his return from Saigon, told newsmen "We are coming out of the woods."

Military affairs experts to whom I turned for an instant analysis of Agnew's appraisal told me the shift was profoundly significant.

"It's a whole new ball game now," one of them remarked.

I said, "How did we switch from the tunnel to the woods so quickly?"

"Actually, we've been in the woods for a long time but the move was kept secret to prevent the North Vietnamese from finding out about it," the expert replied. "NOW THAT WE'RE coming out, there's no need for further classification."

I said, "Is it possible we were never in the tunnel at all? We may have been in the dark part of the forest instead. And that light we kept seeing might have been a clearing in the woods rather than the end of the tunnel. If so, a mistake like that doesn't speak very well for our officials who were appraising the situation."

The expert assured me such was not the case.

"We definitely were in the tunnel," he said. "But it was not a long, straight tunnel. It was a zigzag tunnel with a lot of 90-degree angles. That is why our officials kept saying we were turning the corner in Vietnam."

I noted that Agnew said the South Vietnamese "feel they have turned the corner and are on their way back."

"Does that mean the South Vietnamese are now in the tunnel?" I asked.

"Very definitely," the expert said. "The South Vietnamese have taken over the tunnel as part of the Vietnamization program. They moved in as we were withdrawing into the woods."

"THEY HAVE," as Agnew reported, already started turning corners. Any day now, I expect they will start seeing the light at the end."

I said, "Now that we are coming out, will the woods be Vietnamized too?"

"Those are the plans," he said. "We hope they will soon be occupying both the tunnel and the woods. When that happens you will know that the tide has turned."

"Is there a tide in the tunnel?"

"There is during the monsoon season."

The Search For Mental Health

Obsessive Child Lacks Naturalness

(This is a weekly column presented by Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, a fully-accredited, 135-bed psychiatric hospital, known for its programs in psychiatric treatment, research, education and community service.)

A Florida psychiatrist has found that non-distinctive mothers and fathers often have obsessional children.

"An obsessional child is one who lacks naturalness and spontaneity," explained Dr. Paul Adams, professor of psychiatry and pediatrics at the University of Florida. "He is often very much preoccupied with a power struggle — between himself and his mother."

Dr. Adams has noted certain behavior characteristics of the obsessive child. "He is the kind of child who is compelled to touch all the door knobs, wash his hands repeatedly after urination or he's afraid to step on the cracks of sidewalks for fear of breaking his mother's back. He has many ritualized acts that recurring thoughts which make him feel victimized by these thoughts."

Where does the difficulty lie? "With his mother. The child has had to struggle with his mother for his autonomy — his independence as a separate human being. The mother trains her child much as she would train horses or dogs. She is determined she will triumph over the child. She will try to break his will particularly by imposing irrational authority over him. He fantasizes that his mother's efforts, even though in some cases, they're mild, are intended not to allow him any type of independence."

According to Dr. Adams, in closely studying the child's parents, he has seen everything short of the child's symptoms. "The parents can be featured in their rectitude and correct social behavior. They are socially isolated and have a high regard for etiquette and conventionality. They're well versed in what it means to be bourgeois, middle class, orderly. They lead lives with many features of productivity but actually unrewarding and unhappy."

"There is nothing particularly distinctive about the mothers," he continued, "except that they're almost typically North American. They're white, well-educated and from middle America. They have taken many of the virtues that are necessary for social order and they're always busy with methodical work. They're often attractive and likeable and they're powerful, dominating and castrating."

"The fathers of obsessional children," Dr. Adams said, "are much less vibrant and vivacious than their wives. They're likely highly educated, well trained, well controlled bumps on logs. They're not happy about themselves, don't enjoy their sexual lives and don't enjoy either being a father or doing much fathering to their children. They never divorce, though. They stay married or unfilled."

Obsessional parents have very small families — not usually more than two children and they live in the kind of mass bureaucratic societies you see in various parts of the world like the United States and the Soviet Union. "They're absolutely desirable from the standpoint of law and order."

According to Dr. Adams the obsessive child is a blood brother to the child who is severely emotionally ill. "His fate is tragic unless some human compassion or naturalness can be injected in time. He must be identified early so a smaller investment in time, energy, money and human anguish can do something for these kids."

Sox Greg Meyer earned the win and doubled as did Jeff Curtin. Paul Smith, Ken Santowski, Ken Horn and John Lopez tripled while Reds Mark Lundeen and Chris Salvig doubled while Tom Duffey tripled.

Orioles 000 000-0-0-0-0

Giants 000 000-0-0-0-0
Pirate Gary Romano got credit for the victory on the power of home run by Ed Knapleski and Todd Jones. Giant Gary Aleksak homered and tripled while Mike Jablonski doubled.

Tigers 000 000-0-0-0-0
Angels 000 000-0-0-0-0
Tom Hadley struck out 12 in earning the win while the Angels executed a triple play, 6-4-5, in the fifth inning.

Mets 000 000-0-0-0-0
Indians 000 000-0-0-0-0
Four Indian pitchers held the Mets to four singles while fanning 12. Ed Laga, Ted Sulanski and Bob Muff homered for the winners while Rick Peter hammered two triples. Bob Small and Steve LaForge each one. Rob Catania doubled.

Braves 000 000-0-0-0-0
Brave Steve Hennessey tripled home Ken Algozin with the winning run as Mike McKisic picked up the triumph in relief. Phil Willis doubled, and homered for four runs batted in for the Braves while Gary Hammers doubled and Save Streich tripled for the Cubs.

Kersting Garden Center Golds Past Ed And Gil's

Kersting Garden Center stroked past Ed and Gil's Barber Shop 7 1/2 to 2 1/2 in Tuesday's competition and found themselves back in sole possession of first place in the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League as Kruse's Tavern dropped back into fourth place following a 7-3 defeat by Kirchhoff Insurance.

Kirchhoff's victory moved the Insurance team into second place, one point behind the league leaders.

Mount Prospect State Bank moved into contention after defeating Morton Pontiac 8-2, while George L. Busse & Co., with a 7-3 victory over Annen and Busse, moved up a few notches into a fourth-place tie with Kruses.

Louie's Barber Shop finally moved into the win column as they humiliated Licht's Paint Store 8 1/2 to 1 1/2 for the best team showing of the season.

In the final match Illinois Range struggled to a 5 1/2 to 4 1/2 decision over Busse-Biermann Hardware which didn't do much to change the relative position of either team.

George Kratsch of the Illinois Range team captured low gross honors for the evening with a 41 over the second nine and also took a share of the low net honors with a 31 net. Sig Hellstrom of Annen and Busse tied Kratsch for low net.

Birdies were reported by D. Snyder on

Dottie Fisher Has Low Gross

In the Arlington Heights Newcomers Golf League Dottie Fisher had low gross of 55 with Jeannie Schoonmaker right behind at 56.

Area Paddlers Place In 15th Canoe Marathon

The 15th Annual Des Plaines River Canoe Marathon was held Sunday, climaxing Illinois Clean Streams Week.

The race, which drew over 1300 paddlers from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, and Washington State was co-sponsored by the Illinois Paddling Council and the Forest Preserve District of Cook County.

New records were established in seven of the 12 canoe and kayak divisions.

Plans are now underway to make next year's Marathon a special commemoration of the 300th anniversary of the discovery of the Illinois country and the Des Plaines River by Pere Marquette and Louis Joliet.

Winners from the Herald area were:
Girls 14-17 — Peggy Klein of Arlington Heights and Roxanne Treibold of Glenview, 1st; Karl and Dawn Johnson of Arlington Heights, 3rd.

Women's C-2 Cruising — Matille Christman of Des Plaines and Carol Burkholder of Missouri, 2nd; Ellen Jahn and Sue Hogland of Arlington Heights, 1A; Debbie Hill and Peggy Hill of Palatine, 3A.

K-2 — George Horn and Tom Barrett of Des Plaines, 3rd; James Jullison and Brian Buenzow of Wheeling, 4th.

K-1 Women's — Evelyn Tennyson of Des Plaines, 2nd; Sharon Thomas of Elk Grove, 4th.

Cubs' Jenkins Visits Schaumburg State Bank

Baseball fans will have a chance to shake hands with the strong right arm of Ferguson Jenkins.

The ace pitcher of the Chicago Cubs will appear in the lobby of Schaumburg State Bank, Friday, May 26, from 6 to 8 p.m.

The personal appearance of Jenkins, only Cubs pitcher in history to rack up five consecutive 20-game years, is tied in with Schaumburg State Bank's "Great Moments in Cubs Baseball" record album promotion.

Narrated by WGN-TV sportscaster, Jack Brickhouse, the one-hour record traces 40 years of Cubs highlights, broadcast by the actual announcers on the scene. The voices of Vince Lloyd, Lou Boudreau, Brickhouse, Jack Quinlan, Bert Wilson, Pat Flanagan, Hal Totten and others capture the excitement of such memorable moments as Ernie Banks' 500th career home run; Gabby Hartnett's historic homer-in-the-dark; the no-hitters of Kenny Holtzman, Don Cardwell and Sam Jones; Billy Williams'

The bank, 320 W. Higgins Rd., Schaumburg, is giving away the record free when you open a $100 checking or savings account or add $100 to an existing savings account.

Jenkins, whose picture is on the back cover of the album jacket, will autograph copies of the record during his visit.

Ed Moehling Advances In Open Qualifying

Ed Moehling, who grew up in Mount Prospect and prepped at Arlington High School, was the low golfer Monday at Olympia Fields in the local qualifying session for the United States Open.

Moehling, who is now in business after a brief try at the professional golf tour, shot 71-71-142 for the 36 holes to top the field of 136 entries.

Moehling has qualified for three previous Opens. He will now battle in the sectional qualifying play on June 3 at Midlothian with the low finishers then earning berths in the U.S. Open June 15-18 at Pebble Beach, Calif.

Legion Tryouts For Palatine

Tryouts will be held for the Palatine American Legion baseball team at 6 p.m. Thursday at Fremd High School, coach Bob Grybas announced. All boys who want to play must be present at this time.

Players from Palatine, Fremd, Conant and Schaumburg High Schools are eligible. The team will play a 40-game schedule this year, highlighted by a weekend trip to Wisconsin and a game at Joliet State Prison July 4. Palatine will again be entered in the Ninth District for league play against other local teams.

Righty Power

Only one left-handed hitter has led the American League in runs batted in since 1961. That was Carl Yastrzemski, the 1967 RBI champ. Harmon Killebrew, Dick Stuart, Brooks Robinson, Rocky Colavito, Ken Harrelson, Frank Robinson and Frank Howard have been the other post-1961 leaders, Killebrew leading three times.

Junior High Track Meet At Elk Grove Thursday

The Lions Relays for junior high schools from several communities in the area will be held for the first time under the lights at Elk Grove High School stadium Thursday, May 25, starting at 6 p.m.

The meet is being sponsored by Lively Junior High in Elk Grove in cooperation with the high school. An all-relay meet, including field events, it will have 12 entries.

Elk Grove schools from District 59 will include Lively, Grove, Holmes and Dempster. Frost and Keller will make the trip from Schaumburg, Paddock from Palatine, Sandburg from Rolling Meadows, Edison from Macomb, Ill., Gemini and Apollo.

In the field events (long jump, high jump and shot put), each school will enter three participants with the best marks being tallied to form one score for each team.

The running relays will be the 440, 880, mile, 200-yard hurdle shuttle, sprint medley (110, 110, 220, 440) and distance medley (two 440's, two 880's).

There will be two divisions — seventh and eighth grade. Schools may enter in only one division or in both. Teams are not required to enter any certain number of events to participate.

Participants may not wear spikes of any kind and may enter no more than three events. No participant may total more than 880 yards during the meet. All races will be finals with no preliminaries. Scoring will be 10 for first place, eight for second, six for third, four for fourth, two for fifth and one for sixth.

No eighth grader may be 15 years old and no seventh grader 14.

Maine-Northfield Baseball

The Flying Frenchman Restaurant beat Lochman Insurance 10-0 in Maine-Northfield Little League play, with Billy Knauber and Jimmy O'Brien combined for the shut out. Bill Schuchman homered and Jimmy Rehak had two singles. Howard Kaufman delivered a double for Lochman. Joe Kuhn and David Ostrowsky were the winning pitchers as Glenview Foremost edged out Main State Insurance 16-

14. John Paulson drove in a run with a double and the winning run was driven in on a single by Jim Klausner.

For Main State Don DeCarlo tripled in two runs. Ken Orlovski had two doubles, driving in one run, and Scott DiGillo doubled, singled and drove in two runs. Hackneys defeated Central-Greenwood Standard 19-11.

The first quarter senior prep winner is Uncle Mitty's. In a series of scheduled and make up games the Uncles downed Dash's Texaco 4-1. Jamie Humenski pitched a two hitter and hit a double as did Chip Marbach and Bob Stark.

In a rematch, Humenski gave up four hits as the Uncles topped Dash 4-3 with Jerry Glees getting a single. For the losers Jim Dash had two singles, Kerry Ertich and Gary Silver each had one. Bob Stark was the winning pitcher as the Uncles defeated Biggy's Restaurant 9-6. Humenski and Glees each had two singles. Bob Machun had two singles for Biggy's. Uncle Mitty's beat Zweig's Restaurant twice, 12-4 and 7-6. Dave Matter was the winner in the first meeting, picking up two hits. Bob Stark homered and Humenski tripled with bases loaded.

For Zweig's, Glen Olsson doubled, Dale Langer had two singles and Kevin Maly, John Maly and Lou Gerlach each had one single. Jerry Mendrala was the winning pitcher in the second meeting and Jeff Erenson had four singles for Uncle Mitty's. Kevin Maly had three singles for Zweig's and Keith Steinbrink had a double and a single.

Zweig's also dropped a 19-8 game to Biggy's Restaurant. Don Fawcett was the winning pitcher while Bob Machun was strong at bat with a triple and double. Dean Maggio had two doubles and a single and Kenny Littell had one double. John Konuk, Randy Prundheiser and Jerry Levy all singled. For Zweig's, Dale Langer had two doubles, Kevin Maly knocked out three singles and Steve Koulogorge had two RBIs.

Heights Legion Tryouts Slated Today, Friday

Tryouts will be held today and Friday for the Arlington Heights American Legion baseball team.

Coach Lloyd Meyer has set his second and third tryouts (they began Wednesday) for 4 p.m. at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights.

Any boy who is 13 years of age or younger may try out for the Heights entry if he attends one of four high schools: Arlington, Hersey, Prospect, and Wheeling.

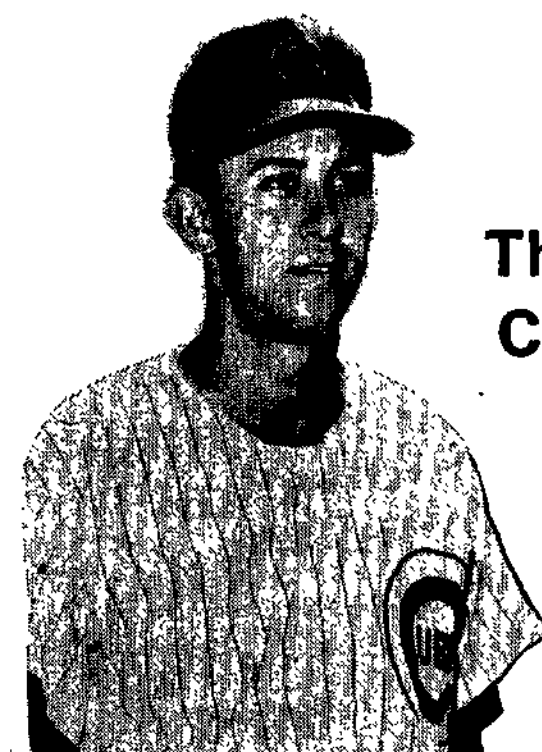

Arlington will participate in the Ninth District again this summer and will serve as the host post for the 1972 state tournament in August.

Arlington reached the Cook County playoffs last summer before being eliminated. In 1965 Post 208 was fifth in the nation in American Legion baseball.

Recreation Park is located at 500 E. Miner in Arlington Heights and the field is just south of the main park building.

Blanks By Grover

Grover Cleveland Alexander pitched 90 shutouts during his career, more than any other pitcher in National League's history. Christy Mathewson's 83 puts him in second place. Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Juan Marichal of San Francisco had the highest total among active pitchers, entering the 1972 season with 50.

Collecting Coins

Hold Coin Day In Cayman Islands

by MORT REED

May 1, 1972 was "Coin Day" in the small British Crown colony of the Cayman Islands, an event marking the release of the first four coins of that government's new coinage.

The Cayman Islands are three small islands — Grand Cayman, Little Cayman and Cayman Brac — located just south of Cuba in the Caribbean, an hour jet flight from Miami. Although they were discovered by Columbus in 1503 on his way to Haiti, the islands have only recently been "rediscovered" by tourists.

Jamaica was ceded to England in 1670 by Spain and the Caymans were included in the package deal. From 1670 to 1960, they remained a dependency of Jamaica. Even after Jamaica's independence in 1962, Cayman islanders continued to use Jamaican coins and paper currency. But with the introduction of the new one, five, 10 and 25-cent pieces, the islanders will finally have their own official coinage.

V. G. Johnson, financial secretary of the Cayman government, disclosed that additional coins will be released later in the year, including several large silver pieces. This is the first step in putting the Cayman currency before the public as part of a numismatic program designed for collectors all over the world.

Specific details will be released later in the summer, but in the meantime, further details may be secured by writing Paramount International Coin Corp., Paramount Building, Englewood, Ohio 45322. Just indicate the department by marking the envelope — "Cayman Coins."

WHITE HOUSE MEDAL

The U.S. Mint introduced its new White House medal at the Congressional Club's annual noon breakfast held on April 27, 1972, in honor of the First Lady. The presentation was made by Mrs. Mary Brooks, director of the Mint.

By special order paid for by the Congressional Club, composed of wives of congressmen, a limited edition of 40 percent silver proof quality specimens were struck to launch the new bronze medal list which becomes part of the Mint's miniature presidential medal series, 1-3/16-inch in diameter. The miniature presidential medals are replicas of the official three-inch medals of the presidents.

The front or obverse shows the north portico of the White House. The initials E.Z.S. appear at the lower right and represent the signature of the sculptor-engraver, Edgar Z. Steevers.

The Mint's chief sculptor-engraver, Frank S. Garparro, executed the seal of the president of the United States appearing on the reverse. It is the same design (presidents often change the design of their individual seals) that originally appeared on the reverse of the official President Nixon Medal.

ANYONE MAY purchase these miniature medals. The new bronze White House medal is available by mail order direct from the Philadelphia Mint, Philadelphia, Penn., 19130 at 60 cents each, or over-the-counter at the Treasury Department's Exhibit Hall, Washington, D.C.; the mints at Philadelphia and Denver, or the San Francisco Assay Office at 50 cents each.

To avoid an added delay while personal checks are cleared, it would be advisable to send mail orders in the form of a certified cashier's check, or a United States Postal order in the full amount of the purchase.

Q — I made a wager with a friend who says that the story about the blue ribbon the Pabst Brewing Co. says that it won at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893 and so proudly proclaims in its advertising is more fiction than fact. I can't believe that a company as big as Pabst would dare tarnish its image. Can you assure my friend that the famous Pabst blue ribbon doesn't have a flaw in it so that I can collect his money?

J. L. R., Oak Park
A — Tell your friend to cough up the dough. Pabst's entry in the beer tasting contest at the 1893 World's Fair here was awarded a blue ribbon, and a gold medal to boot, as the "best tasting beer in the world." The original blue ribbon and the medal were pilfered from the Milwaukee Historical Society several years ago, but Pabst has the authentic papers that were presented along with the ribbon at the fair, a spokesman for the Milwaukee brewery told us. Pabst's beer won in competition with 200 beers from around the world, the company spokesman said.

Edward Christian

Join the winner and drink Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer. You too will say it is the best tasting beer. You have to be a winner to wear the Blue Ribbon.

Social Security and You

Q — MY FATHER and mother were collecting monthly social security retirement benefits in a single check when my father died last month. We reported his death to social security, but when the check came yesterday, it still had both my mother's and father's name on it. What should we do?

A — You or some member of your family should bring the check to the social security office. We will stamp it so that it can be cashed with just your mother's endorsement on it. Any adjustments necessary will be made in your mother's next check.

Q — MY 17-YEAR-OLD daughter has been disabled since birth. She and I are collecting monthly social security benefits on my deceased husband's earnings record. Is there any way my daughter's monthly benefits can continue after she reaches 18 even though she will not be attending school?

A — If her condition is severe and she remains in your care, you and your disabled daughter's social security benefits may continue after her 18th birthday. Call or visit the social security office about 6 months before your daughter's 18th birthday to apply for childhood disability benefits.

Q — I AM 65 and have Medicare, but my doctor does not accept direct payment from Medicare and has sent me an itemized bill. How can I file a claim for the amount Medicare will reimburse me over the $50 annual deductible?

A — Follow the directions carefully in "Your Medicare Handbook." Fill out Part 1 of the Request for Medicare Payment form and attach the itemized bill. Then mail the itemized bill and the form to the address shown in the upper left-hand corner of the form. You'll find extra copies of the form at most doctors' offices or at any social security office. If you have any problems understanding the form, call or visit any social security office. The people there will be glad to answer your Medicare questions.

Stars Line Up Behind Candidates

by VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Movie and television stars are lining up behind their favorite presidential candidates and, as usual, most of the luminaries are Democrats.

In previous elections one of the most vociferous campaigners was Frank Sinatra.

He raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for John F. Kennedy. Four years ago he traveled the hustings for Hubert Humphrey. But he may sit this one out.

The only political notes from Sinatra recently came last week when he emerged from 14 months of retirement briefly, singing a tribute to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, his frequent golf partner, at a party in Agnew's honor. And he won't do it again, Sinatra said.

He's retired. Really.

For the first time in Hollywood politics, a large group of stars will appear on a telethon to raise funds for a campaign. With the help of Ruth Berle, Milton's wife, the telethon will be beamed via ABC the evenings of July 8-9 during the Democratic convention.

THE PROCEEDS WILL go toward financing the campaign of the nominee, be the man McGovern, Humphrey, Muskie, Wallace or Sam Yorty.

"Time for the telethon will be paid for by John Y. Brown, Jr.," said Mrs. Berle. "It's going to cost more than a million dollars, but he is head of a large fried chicken franchise and can afford it."

At the moment Sen. George McGovern is the darling of Hollywood's politically oriented stars: Barbara Streisand, Jack Nicholson, Raquel Welch, Robert Vaughn, Goldie Hawn, James Earl Jones, Shirley MacLaine, Warren Beatty, Julie Christie, Ryan O'Neal and Sally Kellerman to name a few.

Natalie Wood and Charlton Heston had come out for Sen. Edmund Muskie, but there has been little activity in his camp in recent weeks.

Among the hardest workers are Miss MacLaine and her brother, Beatty. They have made frequent appearances on behalf of McGovern.

Another McGovern campaigner who attends rallies is Mario Thomas. Her father, Danny, is less outspoken but it is suspected that Papa Thomas is in the Nixon camp.

Humphrey has less support among show folk. On his side are Robert Goulet and Lorne Greene, among others.

Nixon supporters manage to restrain themselves from shouting their preferences. They exist in fewer numbers than the Democrats.

"THERE ARE MORE Democrats in show business than Republicans because the majority of performers came from underprivileged backgrounds," says Mrs. Berle. "They haven't forgotten their struggling days and they're convinced the Democrats represent the little man."

The GOP forces are less organized among the pretty people, too.

But among Nixon supporters are Jimmy Stewart, Fred MacMurray, Jim Nabors, John Wayne, Bob Hope, Richard Boone, Richard Graves.

There are other stars with strong political convictions on both sides of the fence, but they believe a performer alienates half his audience by speaking out in favor of one or the other party.

So far as is known, no citizen has cast a vote for a particular candidate solely because some glamor girl or leading man suggested it.

DuBrow On TV

by Rick DuBrow

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Summer television will be more lively than usual this year thanks to the national political conventions, the Olympic Games, Leo Tolstol. Leonardo Da Vinci and some new video series.

The highlight for most viewers during the summer will, of course, be the Democratic and Republican presidential nominating conventions, with both to be held at Miami Beach and each to get gavel-to-gavel coverage by CBS-TV and NBC-TV.

The Democrats meet July 10-13, the Republicans Aug. 21-23. And the competition between CBS-TV and NBC-TV at the Miami Beach convention hall will be intense because of their traditional belief that the network that dominates coverage of these two specific events takes the lead in television news for some time thereafter.

For sports fans, meanwhile, the all-out coverage by ABC-TV of the Olympic Games in Munich will be another major summer video highlight. The network will offer 17 consecutive days of broadcasts about the competition and ceremonies starting Aug. 25. For two straight weeks in this period, all of ABC-TV's weekday prime time will be devoted to the Olympics.

BEGINNING AUG. 12, on four consecutive nights, ABC-TV will present Russia's epic movie version of Tolstol's classic novel "War and Peace," dubbed in English, naturally, and running about six-and-a-half hours plus commercials.

And starting Aug. 13, on five consecutive Sunday nights, CBS-TV airs an Italian-made series, "The Life of Leonardo Da Vinci," which combines "dramatic action and documented evidence," and won this year's grand prize at the Monte Carlo International Video Festival.

Then there are the new summer television series produced in America, quite a few considering the government reduction of network prime time which has made the affected broadcasting organizations more conscious than usual of cost-saving. These series are:

— "The Melba Moore-Clifton Davis Show," a CBS-TV variety hour that arrives June 7. A guest of their premiere is Jean Stapleton, leading lady of video's "All in the Family" series.

— A variety hour starring singer-composer Jerry Reed, also on CBS-TV, and bowing on June 20.

— "THE SUPER," a half-hour comedy with Richard Castellano as the superintendent of a tenement-type apartment building in New York. Debuts June 21 on ABC-TV.

— "The Corner Bar," another half-hour

What's Coming To Television

NEW YORK (UPI) — NBC's one-hour "Take a Giant Step" program for youngsters on Saturdays will become a half-hour weekly known as "Talking with a Giant" in the fall.

"NFL MONDAY Night Football" returns to the ABC air in the fall for its third season. First broadcast is Sept. 18 from Bloomington, Minn., where Washington plays Minnesota. The Frank Gifford, Don Meredith, Howard Cosell unit again will handle the telecasts.

NBC's 1972 football schedule consists of a record 93 games, including the climatic Super Bowl after the regular season of American Football Conference telecasts.

NBC's "IRONSIDES" series has started production in Hollywood on episodes for the 1972-73 season, its sixth. Elizabeth Baur, who made her debut this season as the distaff member of Ironside's police unit, is again playing Officer Fran Belting.

Today's TV Highlights

CBS REPORTS. "Higher Education: Who Needs It?" Hour documentary about college graduates and the problems a number of them have in finding jobs when they get out of school. 7 p.m. CDT.

TODAY, NBC. A portion of the program is scheduled to emanate from Moscow, covering President Nixon's visit. Other planned segments include: A panel discussion on marriage; and a talk with a fellow who is the leader of a group of gypsies in the northwestern part of the United States and says the view of his people, and others like them, as happy-go-lucky, carefree romantics is a myth. 9 a.m. CDT.

FLIP WILSON, NBC. With Joe Namath, George Carlin and "Miss Black America," Joyce Warner. The guests also include three other finalists in the Miss Black America pageant. Repeat. 7 p.m. CDT.

CBS LATE MOVIE. "The Little Hut." Comedy rerun in which a beautiful woman, her husband and his best friend are shipwrecked on a deserted Pacific Island. The friend David Niven hits upon the idea that the domestic alliance between the wife Ava Gardner and husband Stewart Granger should be amended to include him. 10:30 p.m. CDT.

Don't buy a home until you read this booklet.

Here's the book that answers the most asked questions about mortgages.

For example:

- What are the different types of mortgages?
- What service charges and fees should you expect?
- How do you shop for a mortgage?
- What are the hidden costs in buying a home?

- What does the length of a mortgage mean in dollars and cents?
- How much home can you really afford to buy?
- Why is it wise to have a lawyer when you buy a home?
- Exactly what is included in a monthly mortgage payment?

And every question is answered in plain, simple English!

We'll also give you a valuable source of information for any other questions you may have about home financing.

Stop by or write us for your free copy of our "12 Questions" book—it could save you money.

GENERAL INFORMATION:

Buffalo Grove is a "community on the grow" with its population increasing 945.8% from 1960 to its present 1972 population of 15,600. The village is primarily planned for single family residences though some apartment units are being developed in the area. There still remains a landmark of earlier days, a church built in 1847 on Buffalo Grove Road.

Buffalo Grove is situated in two counties; Lake County on the north and Cook County on the south with Lake Cook County Road the dividing line.

VILLAGE HISTORY:

The name, according to traditional account, has a most logical origin. When the English, French and Pottawatomie Indians were ranging through northeastern Illinois, so were the buffalo. The buffalo left the Wheeling woods in the morning and grazed their way diagonally to Long Grove. Noon found them in a grove of trees along the creek, drinking and resting. A buffalo skeleton was found beside the "Buffalo Creek" as it soon became called.

There is little known of the first settlers to the area. They are believed to have come from New England. They did the job of creating communities from nothing with great industry and dedication, but no landmark remains in the area today.

With the arrival of German immigrants names were registered along with tintype pictures. There is recorded a "First Mass celebrated in Buffalo Grove" in 1947, so the German Catholic community must have existed before them.

SCHOOLS:

There are 4 elementary schools in the village proper, 1 junior high school and 1 Catholic elementary school. The area is now served by Wheeling High School - Buffalo Grove High School being built now and ready for occupancy by 1973. Pupil-teacher ratio is 22:1 with $556 spent per pupil annually.

HOUSING:

The average home in Buffalo Grove is between 2 and 7 years and ranging in price from $28,000 to $56,000. New additions are being constructed on the western side of the village at about $31,000. About 450 apartment units are in town renting from $200 to $275.

CHURCHES:

Baptist, Catholic, Lutheran and Methodist congregations are available in the area. One Jewish Temple in the village also serves the northwest area.

MEDICAL:

The village is served by 2 nearby hospitals, Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights, and Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines. It also has several professional buildings within the village.

TOWN SHOPPING:

There are 3 major shopping centers within the village proper; Buffalo Grove Mall, Ranch Mart and Dunnell Service Center. Randhurst and Woodfield shopping centers are within a few minutes driving time.

RECREATION:

The park district maintains several park areas on 30 acres with 5 future sites available. Four playgrounds offer summer and winter programs. Nearby forest preserves offer fishing and hiking. Two riding stables are in the area. Buffalo Grove Golf Club is within the village and Arlington Country Club is adjacent.

VILLAGE GOVERNMENT:

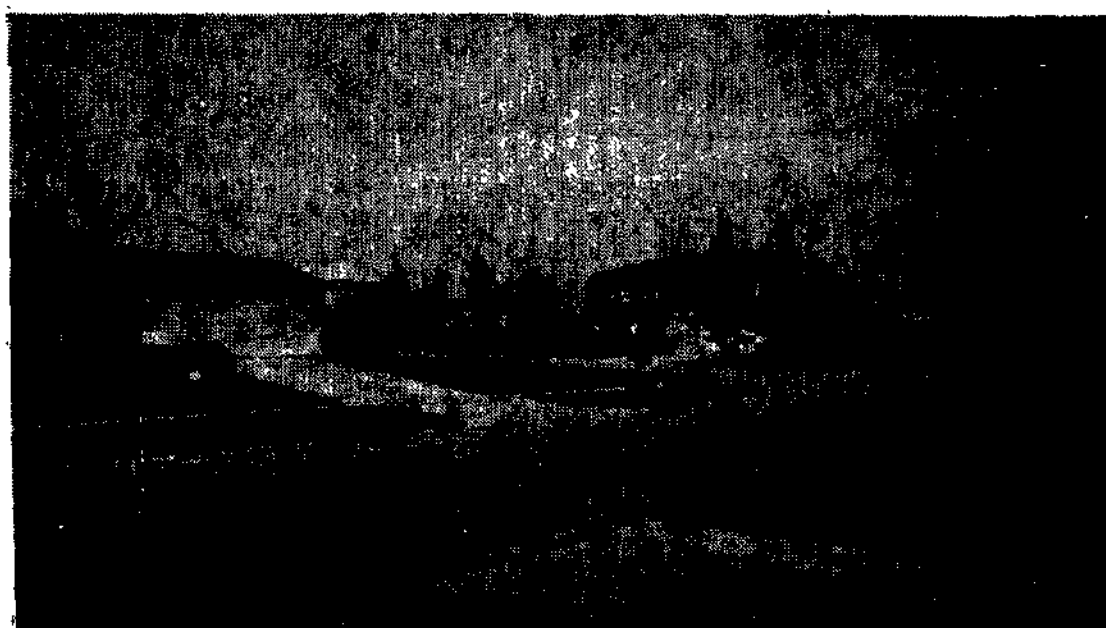

Incorporated as a village in 1958 it has an elected president and board of trustees who determine the policy. The president and board of trustees appoint a full time village manager to administer all functions of the village.

TRANSPORTATION:

C&NW commuter train is available 4 miles south in Arlington Heights (47 min. local; 33 min. express). United Motor Coach buses take 85 minutes to Chicago Loop. Two major routes in the village, Dundee Road and Arlington Heights Road are being revamped.

Briefly on Business

by LEA TONKIN

ONE-DAY REHABILITATION seminar will be presented in Chicago today. It is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). John Waner, director of the HUD Chicago area office, said the seminar will start at 8 a.m. in the Bal Tabarin Room of the Sherman House. Rehabilitation programs make up one sixth of the current federal housing programs to eliminate substandard housing in the U.S.

JERRY O'NEIL of Arlington Heights will be a featured speaker at the joint meeting of the National Association of Store Fixture Manufacturers and the Institute of Store Planners. The meeting is slated for May 25 in the Continental Plaza Hotel, Chicago. O'Neil, who is center manager at Woodfield shopping center in Schaumburg, will discuss new shopping centers. Preliminary work has started on Phase II of the Woodfield center, which will add a Lord and Taylor store. Before his appointment to Woodfield, O'Neil managed the Woodland Shopping Center in Kentwood, Mich. He previously managed the Genesee Valley Center in Flint, Mich. A graduate of Indiana University with a degree in business administration, O'Neil has 25 years' experience in retailing, advertising and business promotion.

CURRENT DIRECTORY of Society of Industrial Realtors was recently published, announced society president C. V. W. Trice Jr., Miami, Fla. The publication lists more than 1,130 industrial real estate specialists in North America. Members are included in the U.S. Puerto Rico and Canada. Members are required to have several years' experience in the field with demonstrated technical knowledge and ethical performance. Industry executives may obtain a free copy of this publication by writing to the Society of Industrial Realtors, 1300 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

LEASE OF A 40,000 square foot building in Elk Grove Village was announced recently by Nardi and Co., Inc., industrial Realtors. The one-story structure at 1000 Lunt St. was leased to Connor Hardwood Products for distribution of hardwood lumber moldings, cabinets and flooring. Sole broker was John F. Girsch of Nardi and Co.

ALL CONVENIENT Food Mart stores in the Chicago area are participating in a bicycle promotion through June 4. No purchase is necessary for the promotion. Coupons which can be picked up at the store, are placed in a box for the final drawing. Entries may be submitted only by adults. Two bicycles will be given away in every store — one for a boy and one for a girl.

RICHARDS GROUP, INC., a diversified shelter company, announced plans to open a Midwest division with headquarters in Chicago. Arthur B. Gingold, former senior vice president of operations for Levitt and Sons, will head the Midwest division. The Richards Group is 50 per cent owned by Gulf and Western Industries, which will assist the firm in obtaining short-term financing. The New York based company which began operations in January of this year, will be involved in all phases of real estate development. Other officers of the firm include: Richard M. Wasserman, formerly president and chief executive officer of Levitt and Sons; and Richard P. Bernhard, who served as executive vice president of the Levitt firm.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON Co. came away with seven awards for outstanding advertising in the recent 1972 Better Copy Contest of the Public Utilities Advertising Association. In the ad competition among electric and gas utilities across the country, Edison took first place honors for the best radio commercial on a public relations subject and the best interior display. A runner-up award was won for window displays and three third place plaques were awarded to the local electric company for entries in newspaper ad, window display and television commercial categories. In addition, Edison placed third in the sweepstakes for total number of award points. The awards were presented to Donald A. Petkus, Edison's director of advertising, at the PUAA annual convention in Detroit, Mich.

Employees Were Cited At Recent Meeting

Among the more than 700 Realtors and guests recently attending the convention of the National Multi List Service at Scottsdale, Ariz., were four members of Wm. L. Kunkel & Co., Realtors. Three of the Kunkel representatives received special awards.

Ralph H. Martin, Kunkel vice president and convention chairman, was awarded a plaque of appreciation as retiring member of the NMLS board of governors. He also was the recipient of an NMLS Golf Award.

Winners of the NMLS Idea Awards Contest included Jim Duncan, Kunkel residential sales division manager, for his "most unique HFL distribution methods"; and Ernest Schlanbusch, new homes manager, for his "most unusual sales success story." Also in attendance from Kunkel was Mrs. Florence Villadonga, residential representative.

Among the programs and services provided for and by NMLS members are the Homes for Living photo listing magazine, industry relations, guaranteed sales, equity buying and national advertising.

Opening Conference To Area Realtors

Upgrading Realtors' ability to service client needs through an understanding of the counselor's function is the main thrust of an educational conference, scheduled June 16 at the Drake Hotel, Chicago. It is sponsored by the American Society of Real Estate Counselors, one of nine affiliates of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The one-day seminar — Creating and building a real estate counseling practice — departs from the traditional members only format to open registration to all Realtors and their associates.

A team of four speakers in the real estate counseling field, according to education committee chairman Abram Barkan, will be featured in the program. Topics will include: creating and managing a counseling practice; tools of real estate counseling; and counseling function in the urban agency.

Speakers slated for presentation include Charles B. Akerson, president, Nordblom Valuation Company, Boston, Mass.; Neil J. King, president, Armond D. King, Inc., Skokie; Jared B. Shlaes, vice president and director of Counseling and Development, Arthur Rubloff & Co., Chicago; and John Robert White, president and chief operating officer, James D. Landauer Associates, Inc., New York.

John Gornall Joins Richard Brown, Inc.

John M. Gornall has joined Richard J. Brown, Inc., as marketing director, according to Richard J. Brown, president. The firm is a subsidiary of Leisure Technology Corp., Lakewood, N.J., a developer of retirement and recreational communities.

Prior to joining the Brown organization, Gornall was regional marketing manager for Boise Cascade in the Chicago area. He has also been associated with Kettler Brothers, Inc., of Washington, D.C., as general marketing manager, and as marketing manager of the Sterling Park Development Corp., in Arlington, Va.

He received his B.S. degree in business administration and public relations from the University of Maryland.

He and his wife live at 4 Falkirk Lane, Rolling Meadows.

Celebrate Realtor Week

The term Realtor is an indicator of special qualifications because only a member of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and one of its 1600 constituent boards can identify himself by that term. As such, he or she subscribes to a strict code of ethics and has access to broad educational facilities at local, state and national level.

Members of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors are speaking before various local groups this week on the subject Realtor vs. non-Realtor in observance of National Realtor Week. Among those addressing local groups are:

Jack V. Keller of F.B.K., Inc., Realtors, Arlington Heights, addressed the Arlington Heights Lions Club dinner meeting on May 16; John McKay of McKay-Nealis, Realtors, Des Plaines, will address the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce luncheon on May 25, at the Elks Club, Des Plaines;

Fred I. Gillick of Fred I. Gillick Co., in Park Ridge will address the Park Ridge Lions Club on May 25; Charles K. Burval of Baird & Warner, Inc., in Park Ridge will address the Park Ridge Rotary Club on June 2; Clarence Hendrickson of Smith-Pipenhagen, Inc., Realtors, Arlington Heights addressed the Arlington Heights Rotary Club luncheon on May 18;

Earl Sauter of Sauter & Associates in Wheeling addressed the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce dinner on May 17, and the Lions Club dinner meeting on May 18; Kenneth M. Gunsteens of Bice, Realtors, Louis R. Nistler of Baird & Warner, Merl Day of McLennan Co. and Robert P. Kalth of P. R. Kalth & Co., all in Park Ridge, presented a program for the Park Ridge Kiwanis Club on May 23.

Included in these presentations was a discussion of the Realtor's Code of Ethics, one of the first such codes adopted in the history of American business. Under its 30 articles, which cover all aspects of real estate transactions, Realtors pledge fair treatment and their total real estate knowledge to both parties of a contract, the buyer and seller.

NAREB and its leaders have for years urged and promoted home ownership both by the business in which they are engaged and by support of legislation and custom that have made purchase possible for millions of families who could not previously afford it.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards, one of the country's largest trade and professional associations, was founded in 1908. Maintaining offices in Chicago and Washington, it furnishes Realtors with information on real estate developments, mortgage conditions, economic trends, latest techniques and other business factors. The Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors was founded in August of 1944 and joined NAREB on Aug. 2, 1944.

Lease Elk Grove Industrial Sites

Burton T. Getz, industrial properties specialist with Arthur Rubloff & Co., real estate firm, disclosed completion of a series of recent real estate transactions in Elk Grove Village.

Getz was sole broker in leasing of the one-story, 43,000 square foot, industrial building at 2350 Lunt Ave., Elk Grove Village, to Alps Corp. The Alps Corporation, a division of Ataka America, is a wholly owned subsidiary of Ataka & Co.,

Ltd. of Japan, and is the ninth largest international trading company in the world. The Elk Grove Village facility will be used for assembly and distribution of the firm's wire rope and aircraft cable operations. Total term rental was reported at approximately $250,000.

In another industrial transaction Getz was sole broker in leasing 5,800 square feet at 2420 Lunt Ave., to Lawrence Foods, Inc. Lessor was Slant/Fin Corp. Lawrence Foods will use the 2420 Lunt Ave. location for additional warehousing facilities. Term rental was reported at approximately $240,000.

The third transaction covered the leasing of 42,600 square feet, in the new one-story industrial building at 2701 Lively Boulevard in Elk Grove Village to Humble Oil & Refining Co. Getz was sole broker in the negotiations. Humble Oil & Refining will use the new facility for distribution of packaged petroleum products in the Midwest. Lessor was Trammell Crow Co.

Trimming Down Payment

The 95 per cent conventional mortgage has opened the door to additional home buyers — especially those with moderate incomes and little ready cash. This was reported by Jackson W. Goss, president of Investors Mortgage Insurance Co., Boston, Mass.

Investors Mortgage, a subsidiary of Continental Investment Corp., also of Boston, is a leading organization in the private mortgage insurance industry. The company works with lenders, such as savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks and commercial banks, by insuring the top 20-25 per cent of high-ratio conventional mortgage loans.

"In the past, the most that a potential home buyer could hope for was a 90 per cent conventional loan — which meant a minimum cash down payment of 10 per cent. The new 95 per cent programs have slashed that cash requirement in half."

"The result: thousands of those families who had put off buying because they could not meet the down payment requirements are now in a position to buy — and they are buying," Goss said.

The number of 95 per cent loans being insured by IMI has risen steadily during the first four months of 1972. At the end of April, 26 per cent of the total number of loans insured this year were 95 per cent loans. "We expect a steady increase the rest of this year and well into 1973," Goss said.

IMI has insured 95 per cent loans from both federally chartered savings and loan associations — limited to a maximum loan of $30,000 — and from state-chartered S&Ls, most of which do not have a maximum loan limit. The $30,000 maximum loan for a federally chartered S&L limits the total price of the house to $31,578.

"In 1971, 1971, the average of all loans insured by IMI was $22,500, which means an average priced home of $25,000. However, the average price of homes sold under our 95 per cent loan programs was slightly over $26,000 — the average loan $24,700. The price range of homes sold under our 95 per cent programs runs from $24,900 to slightly above $36,000," Goss continues.

The reason builders are turning to the 95 per cent loan is time savings. The processing of an application for an FHA or VA insured loan takes from six to eight weeks. The time required to complete a conventional loan can be trimmed to a matter of days.

"Anticipating the rush of applications for 95 per cent loans and private insurance, IMI has set up three regional underwriting offices — Tampa, Florida, Chicago and Newport Beach, California — to back up our main underwriting office in Boston. No longer must an application be sent to our home office in Boston. The regional offices now provide fast service — in most cases, same-day service," Goss said.

"A large percentage of the potential home buyers seeking 95 per cent loans are in the middle-income brackets. The average family buying under the 95 per cent program has an annual income of between $13,000 and $15,000 — it is about the same with 90 per cent loans," Goss observes.

Final Phase Is Completed

Cockrell Coffee Service, Inc., recently completed the final phase of its headquarters relocation at 2207 Hammond Drive, Schaumburg. The completed building is 15,409 square feet, including the recent addition of 8,400 square feet.

The completion of this building will allow many innovations in the operation of Cockrell Coffee Services vending line, according to Matt Cockrell, president. Additional equipment has been added, including enlarged walk-in refrigeration space. Expanded commissary facilities will make its food preparation area more productive.

The new warehousing facilities will use a modern system for more efficient handling of products, Cockrell said. An objective is to speed up the rate of product turnover from three times a month to weekly. The new warehouse will also permit the expansion of the parts department. This will allow Cockrell's machine maintenance team to make repairs more thoroughly and rapidly than ever before, according to Cockrell.

The expanded shop area will facilitate the improvement of a previously established program for remanufacturing its vending equipment. Cockrell Coffee Service, Inc., remanufactures an average of one machine a day.

A new ultra high frequency communications system between the company's mobile units and headquarters has been installed. With this new system a more precise explanation of machine malfunctions can be passed on to the company field repair personnel.

The growth of Cockrell Coffee Service, Inc., in recent years has exceeded the capacity of building that is less than 2½ years old. The expanded facilities will make it possible to do a more efficient job and to enable the company to maintain its high standard of quality and service its customers. Surprisingly, there is no intent to expand its 3½ mile radius of operation, said Cockrell.

Palatine Company Expanding Plant

Avnet, Inc., and International Products Manufacturing Co. (IPM) recently broke ground for a bulking addition at its Palatine plant.

The plant, located at 200 E. Daniels Road, includes 74,600 square feet of space. The addition will contain 228,000 square feet of space. It is slated for completion early in 1973.

The new complex will house all of Avnet's ASR engineering, planning, and manufacturing operations in addition to the IPM order filling, shipping and receiving operations.

The firm is seeking to maintain and increase the rebuilder's share of the automotive aftermarket according to Avnet president Albert Mansfield. He and his wife Ann, executive vice president of the firm, participated in recent groundbreaking ceremonies for the plant addition. Other participants included Gary Hopmayer, vice president and general manager; and Jim Paschal, in charge of special projects.

The new addition will include 12 docks backed up by semi-automated order-filling equipment in the 18-foot clear building. The manufacturing area will be doubled in size. The firm produces parts for generators, alternators, starters and other equipment.

The Palatine firm employs over 600 persons. Within one year the firm expects to increase its labor force to 1,100 persons. Approximately 35 per cent of the firm's employees are engaged in manufacturing operations.

EXPANSION PROGRAM is under way at the Avnet, plant in Palatine, shown completed in sketch above. Inc., an International Products & Manufacturing Co. Completion of the addition is slated for 1973.

Shopping Center Exec. Honored

A Des Plaines business executive has been awarded the title "Certified Shopping Center Manager" (CSM) by the International Council of Shopping Centers at its 1972 convention here.

He is Harry L. Dolan Jr., Woodfield Development Corporation.

The CSM designation is awarded in recognition of the highest professional achievement in the field of shopping center management. Recipients must pass an eight-hour written and oral examination covering all areas of shopping center operation.

The CSM program was initiated by the ICSC nine years ago to foster the highest degree of professionalism in shopping center management.

Fewer than 300 executives of a total ICSC membership of over 4,000 have earned the CSM certification.

CONSTRUCTION is slated for completion in the near future on the clubhouse at Lakeside Villas, Wheeling. The community center will be called the Circle House, owned jointly by all townhome owners in the project. A pool and fireplace will be included in the clubhouse, in addition to a children's pool, game room, kitchen and sundeck. Lakeside Villas is a 35-acre, $20 million development by Zale Construction Co. Seven townhome models are available in two- or three-bedroom plans.

Area Man Promoted To Training Director

Wheeling resident William H. Phillips has been promoted to director of the Sickness Income Policy Sales training department for Combined Insurance Company of America's Mid-Continent Division.

Phillips, 26, joined the International firm as a sales representative in Janesville, Wis. in 1968.

Phillips, a Whitewater State University alumnus has a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Three months after he joined the firm, he was promoted to sales management. In July, 1971, he was appointed to the home office staff as a sales school instructor.

While in the sales field, Phillips was a recipient of the highest award presented through the company's W. Clement Stone International Sales and Management Achievement Club. He also qualified two times for membership in the company's Leader's Club.

'Free' Appraisal May Cost Extra

Offers of a free appraisal made in connection with the sale of real estate may sound enticing, but they could wind up costing the buyer or the seller more money than the price of a qualified appraisal in the first place.

Getting this message across to the public is one of the main objectives of the appraisers division of the Chicago Real Estate Board (CREB), according to Ronald H. Becker, chairman of the division. He is vice president of George Becker & Co., appraisers and consultants and is a member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

The appraisers division is implementing a program consisting of seminars, bulletins, and special publications, including cost and price reports. One of the difficulties faced by the division is that any person can call himself an appraiser; no license, examination, or other qualification is required. Thus, the unwary buyer or seller may be dealing with a person whose appraisal is far removed from the true value of a piece of property, said Becker. This can delay the sale, or can short-change the buyer or the seller.

Appraisers are also involved in matters other than buying and selling of real estate, Becker explained. They serve in establishing values for renting or leasing; inheritance tax proceedings; condemnations, financing; and property insurance. In all cases, it's the appraiser's experience and judgment that counts.

The best protection is to ask to see the appraiser's qualifications sheet or determine if he is a member of a local real estate board and any of the professional appraisers societies, including the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, Becker said.

Any real estate broker may act as an appraiser. However, members of Realtor boards are bound by the code of ethics not to make an appraisal that is outside the field of his experience unless he obtains the assistance of an authority on such types of property.

An appraisal constitutes a professional service, and therefore should be compensated by a fee, according to Becker. This is an assurance to the buyer and the seller that the appraisal is qualified.

Only a small percentage of member brokers are full-time appraisers. However, since it's common for real estate brokers to engage in appraisal work at one time or another, the division's program is geared to making the brokers as knowledgeable as possible, especially in the area of residential appraisals.

Included in the division's information activities are the following elements: Chicago Building Cost Manual, which gives the reproduction costs of 99 types of Chicago structures; Realty Sales Guide, published quarterly, which lists real estate transactions in Chicago and Cook County; and seminars on technical aspects of appraisal.

Also, residential appraisal seminars, aimed primarily at brokers who do appraisal work as an adjunct to their brokerage business; special bulletins on selected appraisal topics; a general CREB membership program once a year; and development of neighborhood maps.

Becker said the appraisers division is continually seeking data on current operating costs of apartment and commercial properties, demolition costs (which can vary considerably depending on location of the building and nature of improvements), construction costs of special purpose buildings such as theaters, bowling alleys, churches, etc. If the qualified appraiser is under pressure to keep abreast of changes, think of the problems faced by the broker who has no appraisal experience or knowledge but who offers a free appraisal, Becker said.

"We don't like to see this happen because it gives everyone in the profession a bad image," Becker said. "That's why we're working to eliminate the free appraisal offer, and why we're working harder than ever to give our members the background and data they need to make qualified appraisals."

Schaumburg Tops In New Housing

Schaumburg leads the Chicago metropolitan area in new home building for 1972, reports Bell Federal Savings and Loan Association, Chicago.

The association recently published a housing report for April of this year. Schaumburg topped the list of area municipalities in the number of new homes for the first four months of the year, with 405 permits. The total value of the permits in Schaumburg reached $10,142,210 with an average value of $25,045.

Other leaders for the first four months of 1972 according to the Bell Survey of Building, are: Hanover Park, 245 permits; Arlington Heights 164; Naperville, 159; Tinley Park, 159; Wheaton, 192; Roselle, 155; Northbrook, 77; Palos Hills, 179; and Munster, Ind., 68.

Construction activity in the six-county Chicago metropolitan area declined 33 per cent last month from figures issued for the same month in 1971, according to the Bell Federal Savings Survey of Building.

According to that survey, the number of housing units (apartment and single family) for which permits were issued last month reached only 4,413, compared to 6,630 reported in April, 1971.

Single-family homes declined 19 per cent (from 2,895 to 2,338) and multiple permits dropped 45 per cent (from 3,735 to 2,075).

The sharpest decrease was noted in multi-family units in the suburban areas with only 1,206 permits reported compared with 3,176 in April last year, a decline of 62 per cent.

Apartment activity in the City of Chicago which reported a whopping increase of 87 per cent with 727 permits totaled in April, 1972 compared to only 389 in the same month of last year.

The combined totals of permits issued for single family homes and multiple units in the first four months of 1972 were 18 per cent lower than figures reported for the same period last year, reaching 12,766 compared to 15,581 in 1971.

The largest gap was in the construction of apartment units for which permits were issued in the first four months of 1972, accounting for a total of 6,102, more than 3,000 units below the 9,286 reported for the same period of last year.

APARTMENTS are slated for completion in June for by Menconi, Inc., and David E. Bradshaw will include Phase I of Villas by the Lake, Vernon Hills. The project single family homes and recreational facilities.

Open Villas By The Lake

Completion is planned for June on Phase I of Villas by the Lake, Vernon Hills. The announcement was made by joint developers Menconi, Inc., and David E. Bradshaw.

The first phase of the development will include 240 one and two-bedroom apartments, renting for $180 and $235 a month, respectively. Cost of Phase I is $4.2 million.

Completion of the total project is slated for 1977. The total cost will be approximately $16 million. It will include 800 additional apartments, single family residences, a recreational park and a shopping center. A three-acre lake is on the premises.

Arnold Menconi, co-developer with David Bradshaw, of Villas by the Lake, said the apartment buildings are low two-story buildings "in keeping with the single family homes that were already here."

According to Menconi, "a developer should have a responsibility to the community to build in character with the community. Vernon Hills' current population is 1,000. That makes it a small, but spacious — in terms of land use — town. It is predicted that by 1976 the area will have increased to a 20,000 population, based somewhat on the development of New Century Town 1½ miles north.

Sloping lawns, setbacks and roads around the lake have all been designed with an appeal to the low lying homes and rolling hills, according to Menconi.

The entrances to the individual buildings are rounded in the tradition of a French manor house. High ceilings, crystal chandeliers and wood railings complementing a curving staircase are all French touches in the architecture. Menconi said: "Each first floor apartment has a private patio which will be landscaped in early spring to resemble the gardens and courtyards which French country home owners use all summer long." Balconies off the second floor living rooms will have wrought iron railings.

No matter where an apartment hunter chooses to live at Villas, his apartment will be the same price as all others of similar size, said Menconi.

Each lobby at Villas by the Lake serves four apartments to a floor. This assures tighter security for the residents and enables parking facilities to be close but hidden from view as much as possible, Menconi said.

All the apartments have carpeting and appliances are installed in the kitchen. Gas heat and gas cooking are included free.

The model apartment at 423 Westmoreland in Vernon Hills is now open for inspection. Villas by the Lake is ½ mile east of Rte. 83, 1 mile south of Rte. 45.

David Brumlik of Bradshaw, Speranza, Veverka and Brumlik represented Bradshaw in development transactions. Menconi, Inc. was represented by Theodore Gaines of Zlatnik, Gaines, Boyer, and Shepp in the joint venture.

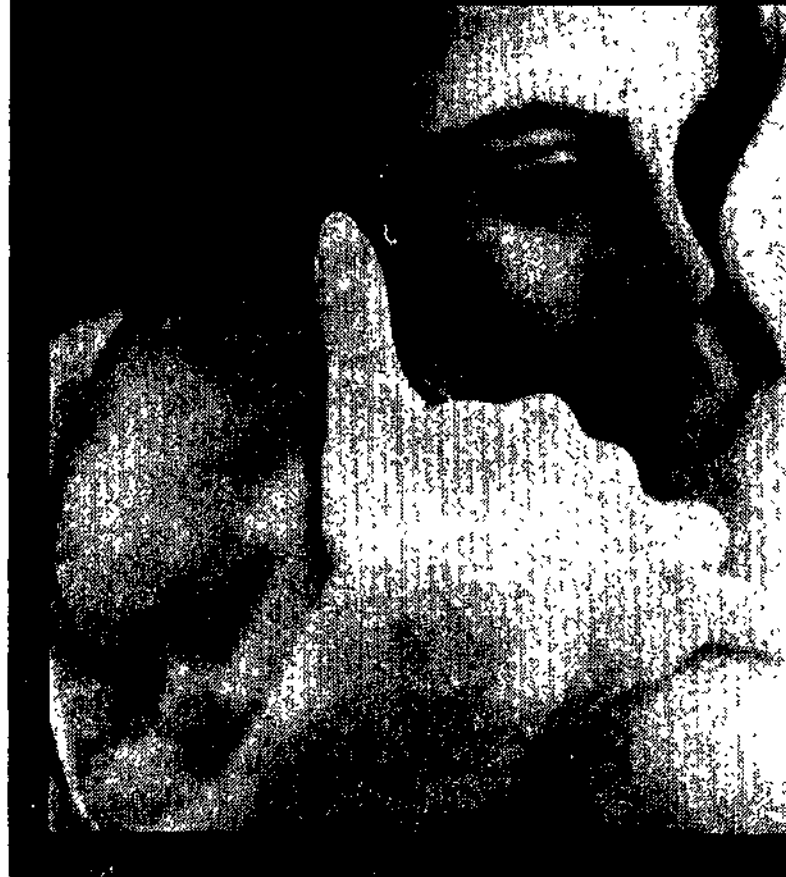

The mortgage was obtained through Percy Wilson Mortgage Co.

Leisure Market Expands

by LEA TONKIN

Summertime, and the living is easy. As warm weather finally takes hold, chances are that you'll hit the road this weekend in search of rest, relaxation and recreation.

Taking full advantage of your weekend leisure and an extended holiday weekend, you're entering the stepped-up leisure market. This means you're a candidate for salesmen of leisure homes and land, recreational vehicles and all the other trappings designed to appeal to the weekend traveler.

According to Sabino Marinella, president of the Continental Investment Corp., "Leisure time means getting away from it all — and Americans are doing just that — summer and winter and over the long weekends which are becoming a part of the modern day life style." As a result, Marinella says, homesite developers are pressed to keep pace with the demand for sites and homes. Many of these developments include campsites to accommodate the growing number of leisure vehicles, he says. The Boston-based financial service complex managed by Marinella include mortgage loan, mutual funds, insurance and development subsidiaries.

The weekend vacation usually whets a family's appetite for a home in a leisure-oriented area. "The result: a goodly number of the more than 2.4 million housing starts expected this year will be in leisure homes," Marinella says.

Recreational facilities for summer and winter activities are a must at the leisure homesite development, Marinella contends. He notes that an increasing number of persons are buying land and leisure vehicles as an interim step until they can afford a permanent dwelling. The cost of campers, travel trailer and fully-equipped motor home alone can range from $5,000 to $25,000.

As this leisure market expands, so do the chances you'll be invited to wine and dine with land developers. You'll be pried with offers of almost limitless recreational opportunities, tremendous investment potential and all the amenities for a second homesite. Then you'll be asked to sign on the dotted line.

IF YOU PLAY your cards right, you could attend a gala dinner dance, fly "free" to a remote resort area, drive to a nearby lake development for a fun-filled weekend and enjoy special dinner parties, compliments of the several land development firms. But before you make any commitments, check the reputation of the company you're dealing with, advises James M. Reed of Palatine, president of the Branigar Organization. Long-established as a land development and management services firm, Branigar is currently offering recreational leisure homesites to Chicago area residents.

"We're working on the development of a code of ethics through the American Land Development Association," Reed says. He sees the organization as a means to eliminate the fly-by-night image created by a few members of the land development industry.

In the meantime, the Illinois Department of Registration and Education and the administration for interstate land sales within the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development require disclosure of a minimum of information to the prospective buyer of out-of-state land.

HUD requires a land developer to present potential buyers with a prospectus describing certain physical and financial data of a given project.

Reed is a disciple of the leisure home development offering recreational amenities. He sees this as the prime attraction of second home sites, rather than the possibility of windfall profits on the land.

"The best time to buy land is now, because the costs will continue to go up," he says. "You really ought to enjoy and use it now — that's what it's all about. Enjoy and invest at the same time."

The market for second homesites is increasing each year, fueled by the added three and four day weekends, the desire to get away from metropolitan congestion and the growing number of recreation-oriented families, according to Reed.

Within a few hour's drive of the Chicago metropolitan area lies the Branigar development, Apple Canyon Lake. Homesites are scattered around a 400-acre man-made lake. A recreation center features a clubhouse, heated pool, tennis courts, marina, golf course and other amenities. Homes are starting to spring up at the Branigar project.

Near the Wisconsin Dells, another Branigar development is under way. Dutch Hollow Lake offers homesites, in addition to a clubhouse, beaches, a heated pool and other extras. A green belt area with property left in its natural states will cover more than a quarter of the project.

Land planning consumes much of the Branigar Organization's long range efforts for a new leisure home development, according to Reed. The company has current projects in Florida and other parts of the country in addition to Illinois and Wisconsin sites. "We look for a product to fill the market," he says. "This means that we look for lake-oriented property. Then we look at the general geographic area, considering the natural terrain and area roads. We narrow down the sites available if there are drawbacks such as pipelines or railroads crossing the property." Aerial surveys, and topographical studies provide information used in drawing up a final land plan once a site is selected. Reed says Branigar conserves natural areas as much as possible in its leisure developments.

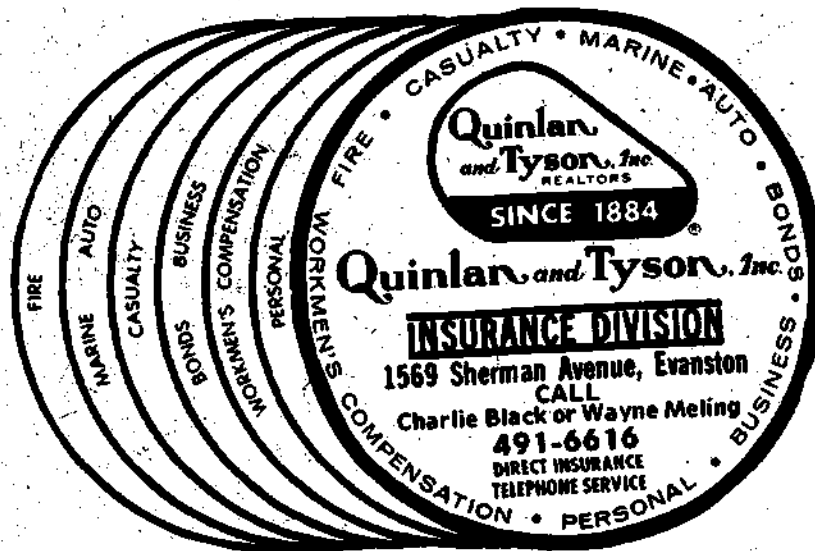

Despite the time consuming plans, not all residents in the vicinity of a second home community see these projects in a favorable light. A coalition of farmers in Jo Daviess County, for example, launched a protest last fall of the gigantic Apple River development. A spokesman for the coalition said the project represents a questionable use of prime agricultural land and artificially inflates the price of land in the area.

Dr. Donald E. "Doc" Smith, of the Jo Daviess County organization, urged families longing to get away from the hustle of urban living to buy a small piece of property in an existing small town. A lack of proper zoning regulations in new leisure home developments could cause problems for buyers in the future, he said. An attorney for the Open Lands Project in Chicago said possible leakage from septic tanks in the Apple River project could pollute the artificial lake created at the site.

DESPITE PROBLEMS cropping up in the initial stages of leisure home developments, experts are predicting the emergence of this type of project as a full-fledged community. "Many leisure home buyers see them as their eventual retirement abodes," says Durand Holladay of Continental Mortgage Investors, Boston. Transportation, shopping centers, conservation and waste disposal systems enter into the forward-thinking developer's plans, he said.

"Leisure homes are no longer a shack in the woods, a cabin in the mountains or a cottage at the shore," he said. Holladay contends that the leisure home phenomenon is maturing into a two-fold industry: providing a place to get away from it all right now and a place for enjoyable retirement living in the future.

THE IMPORTANCE OF YOUR MORTGAGE

Aside from the actual selection of your home, probably the most important transaction involved when purchasing a home is the determination of the mortgage loan.

The selection of the "best" mortgage loan is of prime importance, especially in today's fast changing economical situation.

There are many hidden factors involved when you as a home buyer attempt to arrange financing by yourself, factors such as acquiring the best interest rate, overall term of the mortgage, open end mortgages, and, of course, your ability to know and trust the loan institution you deal with.

Your M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service Real Estate Companies are expert at coordinating your purchase through the most reputable mortgage companies available. M.A.P. salespeople know the current market conditions, the current interest rate situation, and the best, most equitable mortgage institutions for your particular mortgage.

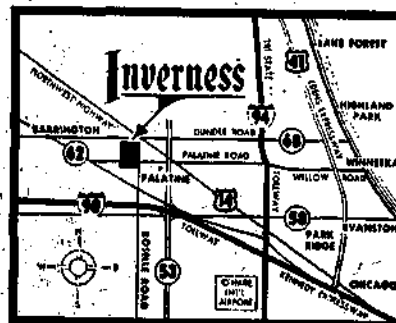

The tremendous sales volume of the M.A.P. organization reflects the constant activity with Banks and Savings and Loan institutions, and the same institutions in turn know the value of catering to an active, progressive organization such as M.A.P. Multiple Listing Real Estate Companies.

When you get ready to buy, let M.A.P. help you get the best mortgage for you ... and your future happiness.

THE VILLAGE THAT NEVER CHANGES

Can you imagine a village where there are no property fences? Where the smallest homesites are an acre? Where there is no industry? Where no two homes are alike? Where every home must receive architectural approval? These are just a few of the unusual features of Inverness that are protected by prudent deed restrictions to jealously guard against changes in the character, value and way of living in the community. How much does it cost to join this exclusive 450-family village? Our acre-or-larger homesites start at $14,000, with only 20% down and an annual percentage rate of 7%. We also have a portfolio of homes for sale for immediate occupancy due to executive transfers. Prices range from $60,000 to $200,000. Drive out today, or, if you prefer, send for a free brochure.

Our picturesque 4-Silo office is open daily on Baldwin Road, just west of Northwest Highway (Rte. 14) between Palatine and Barrington. Convenient to Northwest Tollway (north from Rte. 53 exit).

*Example $14,000 purchase—$2800 down, 84 monthly payments of $169.04.

WHISPERING PALMS and an endless blue sky beckon families seeking weekend recreation at leisure home community. These projects may blossom into full-fledged retirement communities according to industry experts.

CONTEMPORARY CHATEAU architectural style characterizes the new Mallard Lake Apartments development in Wheeling. The 478-unit complex was recently opened by Ceisel-McGuire Industries, Inc.

Open Mallard Lake

Grand opening for Mallard Lake Apartments, a 478-unit complex built in Wheeling by Ceisel-McGuire Industries, Inc., was held recently.

Located at the intersection of Buffalo Grove and Hintz Roads, Mallard Lake's 149 one-bedroom and 329 two-bedroom units will be housed in 52 two and three-story buildings spanning a 30-acre site.

A contemporary chateau style of architecture is featured in the two and three-story buildings.

Tenants may use a recreational building with a rustic fireplace that will be available for planned activities as well as for private parties.

Every apartment at Mallard Lake will have either a patio or a private balcony and many will be available with natural, wood-burning fireplaces. Each apartment will feature wall-to-wall shag carpeting and draperies, as well as fully-equipped kitchens with color-coordinated appliances. Automatic dishwashers, garbage disposals, refrigerators, oven-ranges and cooking gas are furnished free.

Builders have added extra insulation in the floors, walls and ceilings.

Bathroom facilities include cultured marble vanities, his-and-hers medicine cabinets and ceramic floor and wall tile. Individual air conditioning and central heating are provided.

There are full-sized closets in each apartment and every tenant will be furnished with free parking and a private storage area. There will also be a laundry room in each building.

Recreational facilities on the Mallard Lake grounds include, in addition to the recreational building, a duck-shaped body of water, a heated Olympic size swimming pool and a spray kiddy-pool, a large sun deck area, two lighted tennis courts, volleyball courts and a children's playground.

Model apartments at Mallard Lake are open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., seven days a week. Rentals begin at $200 for one-bedroom units and at $245 for the two-bedroom models. Mallard Lake is located on Hintz Road west of Route 83.

Reports April Sales

Baird & Warner, Inc., diversified Chicago-area real estate firm, reported increased dollar volume and sales participation for April on a year-to-year basis.

FLYING CARPET MOTOR INN
OFFSHOTS OF I-55 CHICAGO AIRPORT
6445 N. Mannheim Rd., Des Plaines, Ill.
Phone 299-4422

According to John L. Hall, senior vice president and general sales manager, gross dollar volume climbed 9 per cent for the month to $15,554,367 from $14,271,444 last year. The firm's 28 Chicago-area sales offices had a cumulative sales production of 348 participations for the month in comparison with 342 sales a year ago, a gain of 1.7 per cent.

Hall noted that it was the 25th consecutive month in which the sales division has reported increases of year-to-year sales. He said the company is optimistic for new records again this year.

New York Life Promotes Shannon

William E. Shannon, 313 E. Higgins Rd., Elk Grove Village, has been promoted to manager of New York Life Insurance Company's Chicago group sales office at 1 N. LaSalle St. in the Loop, according to Clifford W. Johnson, group field vice president.

Shannon was formerly Chicago assistant group manager in charge of the company's new Elk Grove Village group sales office. He joined New York Life in Milwaukee in 1956 as a group representative, and in 1968 he was transferred to the company's Chicago group office. In 1963 he was appointed assistant group manager of the Chicago group sales office and he opened the Elk Grove Village office in 1971.

Shannon was recently honored as a group grand slam assistant manager for 1971 for his outstanding performance in all areas of group and pension insurance.

He is chairman of the Plan and Zoning Commission of Elk Grove Village, and a member of the School District 59 Boundary Committee. He is chairman of the Council of Rotary Parish OCD Program, and a member of the parish's religious education committee. He and his wife Joan have four children.

New Director At United

Andrew M. de Voursney, senior vice president-corporate planning, has been elected a director of United Air Lines.

Having joined the company in 1940, de Voursney's first position was as a researcher and analyst in the economic administration. In 1948, he became assistant to the vice president-finance and also acted as assistant corporate secretary. He was elected treasurer in 1950 and became vice president and treasurer in 1958. In 1962, he became senior vice president-economic planning and in 1971 senior vice president-corporate planning.

Andrew de Voursney

In addition to his work with United, de Voursney is identified with various civic, business and educational groups. He is a director and member of the executive committee of Scott, Foresman and Co., Glenview, and chairman of the industry planning committee and the finance committee of the Air Transport Association of America.

De Voursney is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and he has studied at the University of Chicago, Northwestern University and the Harvard Business School. He resides with his wife in Inverness.

Hickey In New Post With Alexander Co.

William M. Hickey has been appointed marketing director for Alexander Construction Co.

William Hickey

In addition to responsibilities for subdivisions currently under construction, Hickey also will aid in the company's expansion plans, which include more residential and commercial planned unit developments, and both single- and multi-family residential communities.

Hickey brings over 16 years of experience in marketing and real estate to Alexander. Before joining Alexander, he was sales director for Abbey Springs Resort Condominiums in Fontana-on-Lake Geneva, Wis. For four years prior to that, he was director of sales and marketing for the Kennedy Co., builders of luxury single-family homes in Chicago's northern suburbs.

Hickey spent a number of years as sales manager for both Miller Builders and John S. Clark & Sons. In 1966, while with Clark, he received the top national award from "Professional Builder Magazine," then "Practical Builder," for Excellent Residential Merchandising Techniques at Clark's Southbridge Commons in Northbrook.

Hickey received his bachelor of arts degree in marketing from Loyola University. He resides with his wife, Arlene, and their three children, in Des Plaines.

Shows Four Models

McKeon Construction has introduced new Quad-Plus homes with two bedrooms at the Fremont Junction development in Hanover Park.

McKeon originated the quad home concept on the West Coast in 1965, and has since added extras to create the Quad-Plus home. Among the features included in the four Quad-Plus models at Fremont Junction are central air conditioning, wall-to-wall carpeting, private garage, and a private garden/patio or balcony.

The four Fremont Junction models are the Stanford Ranch, two bedrooms and one bath, from $20,990; the Hopkins Bi-Level, two bedrooms and 1½ baths, from $22,490; the Huntington Bi-Level, two bedrooms and 1½ baths, from $22,490; and the Crocker Penthouse Ranch, two bedrooms and one bath, from $21,990.

One model, the Crocker Penthouse Ranch, features a private enclosed balcony off sliding glass doors from the dining room. It also boasts a private interior stairway with a sculptured metal railing and carpeted stairs that lead to the unit's ground-level private garage. These differentiate it from the other models that are available with a private garden/patio enclosed by a redwood fence.

All McKeon Quad-Plus homes feature separate living and dining areas and closet and storage space. Other features include private entrances, decorator chandelier with dimmer switch; kitchen exhaust fan, insulated sliding glass doors to the private garden/patio or balcony, sound-barrier walls between homes, and extra heavy-duty insulation. Another extra found in all Quad-Plus homes is the inclusion of thermal-break sliding aluminum windows with storms and screens.

The exteriors of all homes are professionally maintained by the Fremont Junction Homeowners' Association. Fremont Junction's private recreational facilities include two heated swimming pools with bathhouses, game slabs for shuffleboard and bocci and enclosed tot lots.

New Quad-Plus homes built by McKeon Construction are available exclusively at Fremont Junction. Models are located on Lake St. just east of Barrington Road.

THE PORTALS at Grant Place was among the recent Design 72 winners. Entered by I. Simon and Son, Inc., in addition to receiving first place in the apartment homes for sale division and in the land use-total environment division, it received special recognition by the jury for exceptional achievement in design and land use. The Portals offer a continental courtyard with 30-foot-tall honey locusts and companion plantings of rhododendrons and four-season ground cover. Smooth-flowing balconies and thin iron railings soften the geometric lines and add to the atmosphere.

poration, recently promoted John S. Sayah to the new post of zone director for Illinois. It was announced by Charles H. Bruce, executive vice president-marketing.

As head of Illinois operations, he will be in charge of all regional offices in the zone, and will supervise recruiting, training and management of sales personnel.

Sayah will continue to make his headquarters at 2250 E. Devon Ave., Des Plaines. He joined Hamilton in September, 1971, in Des Plaines.

An eight-year veteran of the insurance business, Sayah started with Prudential Life in Detroit in 1964, and later spent more than four years with All American Life and Casualty Co., Chicago. During his term as vice president and director of manpower development for the Chicago agency, it grew from a three-man organization to a sales force of 132 men, with sales in excess of $3 million new premium.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Sayah received a bachelor of arts degree from Rutgers University. He lives with his wife, Tanya, and their two children, at 225 S. Rohlfing Rd., Palatine.

Show New Westlake Homes

THE HERALD

Thursday, May 25, 1972

Section 4 — 3

Six new single-family model homes, most with a choice of exterior styling as well as finished or unfinished space, were opened recently by the Hoffman Rosner Corp. in its Westlake community in Bloomingdale.

Included in the group are two ranch models, two split-level homes and two dual-level models. Basic prices range from $30,500 to $42,500, including fully improved sites.

The new homes have many of the features offered in other models since the community opened in January, 1970, according to Morton E. Silfen, sales vice president.

The firm has delivered half of approximately 946 single-family homes planned for Westlake. The development will eventually consist of some 2,631 housing units including townhomes, Country Four condominiums and apartments.

One ranch features four bedrooms as well as a family room, while the second has three bedrooms and an optional family room. All other models offer optional fourth bedrooms that may, if preferred, be finished at a future date. Additional options include air conditioning, beamed ceilings and fireplaces.

Hartford, a three-bedroom ranch model, features a family kitchen with dining area. Sliding thermal glass doors provide access from the dining area to the back yard. A basement is optional as is a separate family room at the rear.

A sheltered entry is featured in both contemporary and traditional exterior designs. The contemporary model is styled with a walkway flanked by heavy wood pillars and a high brick wall that blends with vertical groove siding and stained wood accents.

Smaller posts, horizontal grooved siding, and stained wood accents are featured in the traditional version. The home is priced from $39,500.

The Greenwich is a four-bedroom ranch model with sunken living room and two full baths. An entry foyer separates activity centers from bedrooms.

A family room is located at the rear of the home, with sliding glass doors opening onto the back yard. Optional beamed ceilings and fireplace are available.

The contemporary exterior features a cedar shake accent wall and a series of exposed roof beams slanting over a walkway that leads to the entrance. In the traditional version, brick and horizontal groove wood siding are combined with stained shutters and timber accents. The Greenwich is priced at $35,500 without basement, $37,900 with.

The Sutherland, an expandable split-level model, is offered with three or four bedrooms and two or three full baths. Three bedrooms, living room with dining "L," and kitchen are located on the main level several steps above an entrance gallery that is directly accessible from the garage.

In addition to its own private full bath, the master bedroom features a balcony overlooking the back yard. The lower level in the furnished model includes a 26

ENTRANCE GALLERY providing direct access from living area to garage and back yard is a feature of the Sutherland model. This split-level model is one of six new single-family homes opened recently by Hoffman Rosner Corp. at Westlake in Bloomingdale. The expandable home has three or four bedrooms, two or three full baths and optional family room.

by 14-foot family room with optional fireplace, plus a fourth bedroom, third full bath, and large utility room. The home may be purchased with the lower level unfinished.

Shown with a New England traditional exterior that features a wall of stone with horizontal groove wood siding and trim accents, the Sutherland 25 is also offered in a combination of brick and wood siding with stained wood shutters. The home is priced at $40,800 for the basic model, $42,500 with finished lower level as shown.

The Kenilworth, also a split-level home with three or four bedrooms, features an entry-level living room and a family kitchen with sliding glass doors opening onto the back yard. Three bedrooms and a full bath are located on the upper level. The lower level may be finished to include a fourth bedroom or den, family room, second bath and utility room.

The contemporary exterior is highlighted by exposed roof beams over the entry, a combination of brick and vertical groove siding, and stained wood accents. An alternate architectural treatment combines rustic shingles with brick and horizontal wood siding.

The Kenilworth is priced at $36,300 with unfinished first level, $37,900 with the lower level finished as shown.

The Dartmouth is a dual-level home featuring three bedrooms and one bath in the basic model. A dining "L" adjoins the living room, while sliding glass doors open from the kitchen onto a spacious rear sun deck. The lower level may be finished to provide a fourth bedroom, second bath and family room.

The Dartmouth exteriors reflect a contemporary Western influence with stained timber accents and oak-trimmed stairways leading to mid-level entries. Both feature horizontal groove wood siding, with brick used for the lower facades. The upper facade of one version is vertical groove wood, while the other has pebble-stone panels.

The basic model is priced at $33,990. With finished lower level, the price is $35,750.

The Princeton, a top-of-the-line expandable dual-level raised ranch, available with three or four bedrooms and one or two full baths, features a family room wing at the front.

The living room, dining area, kitchen, three bedrooms and one bath are located on the upper level. An open stairway leads from the kitchen to the ground-level family room with an outside entrance.

A beamed ceiling and fireplace are optional extras shown in the 14 by 18-foot family room, which has windows on three sides.

The lower level may be finished to include a fourth bedroom, second full bath and an unfinished storage area that can serve as a hobby room.

Exposed roof beams over the front entrance highlight the home's contemporary exterior with its combination of brick and horizontal groove wood siding and stained timber accents. The Princeton is priced at $39,500 with unfinished lower level, $40,500 completely finished.

Standard features of all the new homes include two-car garages; storms and screens; forced air heating; carpeting, cultured marble vanities; oven, range and vent hood; laminate countertops; and furniture-quality kitchen cabinets. Each homesite is graded and seeded. All utilities are underground. Driveways are steel reinforced concrete.

Westlake, which also offers townhomes and quadminiums, includes a 12-acre recreational lake, a 19-acre shopping center site, 20 acres for schools, 30 acres for parks and 15 acres of additional recreational sites.

Fully furnished models with interiors designed by Carol Sigel, and Mary Marks of the Design Center, are on display seven days a week. Models are located on Glen Ellyn Road south of Lake St.

New Medical Center Opens

A new medical center has opened at Golf and Busse roads in Mount Prospect. The Golf Plaza Professional Center, 1751 W. Golf Rd., contains the offices of Dr. Howard J. Krivit, a podiatrist; Dr. Alan H. Udesky, an optometrist and Dr. Barry P. Bennett, a dentist.

Krivit did undergraduate work at the University of Illinois and graduated from the Chicago College of Podiatry. He took postgraduate training in surgery in Detroit and New York. He has been in practice for 20 years and formerly had offices in Lincoln Village, Chicago.

Udesky did undergraduate work at Bradley University and was graduated from the optometry school at Indiana University. He was formerly an optometrist and contact lens consultant at Kildare Clinic.

Bennett was graduated from the University of Illinois College of Dentistry in 1967. While there he received a research fellowship to study animal diseases and their relation to human conditions. Bennett served in the U.S. Air Force including a year's tour in Southeast Asia. He also completed a special course in prosthetic dentistry. For the past three years he has practiced in Chicago.

VERY ORIGINAL.

We call it The 14th Colony. You'll probably call it revolutionary. It's located in the scenic Fox River Valley countryside about a half mile east of Batavia. The 14th Colony is a settlement for families who value such old-fashioned virtues as good taste and community pride. It has been carefully planned with vital protections written into every deed, in the same manner Arthur T. McIntosh & Company has established the enviable communities of Inverness, Preswick and Farmington. And it's very original. Each piece of land is irregular about one-third of an acre. The homes are inspired by Early Americana and reflect tasteful architecture and craftsmanship rarely found in the homes of today. The detailing is exquisite and warm touches of elegance abound in quarry tile foyers, beamed ceilings, curving staircases, oak floors, huge raised hearth fireplaces and wood paneling. All are built with honest quality. And while we believe in independence, every homesite has water, sewer and underground utilities. You can homestead at the 14th Colony from $38,750 to $55,000 including the fully improved homesite. Our boundaries are open every day—10 am till dark.

Buy your homesite now under contract. If you are planning to build in the future, or wish to invest in land, you can purchase your 14th Colony homesite direct from Arthur T. McIntosh & Co.—20% down, 7% simple interest.* Homesites range from $9,000 to $12,800.

*Example—$10,000 purchase, $2000 down, 84 monthly payments of $120.75, 7% annual percentage rate

The Waiting Child He Hungers For A Family

by ELEANOR RIVES

Hundreds of area families are at this moment considering adopting children. Most are dreaming of cuddly, white, healthy infants. There are practically none available. But some will be touched by the plight of the "waiting" child, the hard-to-place child desperately in need of a home.

Some will adopt older white children. Some will cross racial lines and adopt black children. Some will bring children here from other countries, such as Korea. Some will decide on sibling groups, rather than separate brothers and sisters.

And some will adopt children with physical, mental or emotional handicaps.

Can you help a child whose parents have been killed, or divorced, or have deserted or abused him?

There is a child waiting.

Can you help a one-year-old blind boy? ... A 2-year-old dwarf?

There is a child waiting.

Can you take into your home a bright one-year-old girl with a surgical stent in her body and a spinal problem necessitating braces?

There is a child waiting.

Can you develop the potential of a 5-year-old mongoloid girl ... a retarded pre-schooler ... a slow youngster?

There is a child waiting ... and waiting ... and waiting.

A BEAUTIFUL, sensitive child, this 16-month-old baby girl already has a vocabulary of several words, and appears to be quite intelligent. But brain damage of cerebral palsy has affected her arms and legs. To help her develop her potential, an intensive home exercise program is needed as well as contacts with a physical therapist. Motor development has already been noted since she became involved in an exercise program. Call Margaret M. Gill, Lutheran Child and Family Services, 287-4848.

A ROBUST, HEALTHY youngster of 3 1/2, this bright, cheerful little boy loves trucks, ice cream and his stuffed elephant. He's an alert but impulsive youngster who needs a family to give him direction as well as love and affection. It would be best for him to be the youngest in the family; older children would be good company for him. Enthusiastic about new experiences, he's waiting eagerly for a new family. Call Mimi Wuest, Department of Children and Family Services, State of Illinois, 341-8457.

BECAUSE OF THEIR mother's death and frequent separation, it is important for these three youngsters to remain together. The appealing little 4-year-old girl on the left mourned the death of her mother deeply but is gradually becoming more secure and able to stand up for her own rights. Her little sister, almost 3, is extremely friendly — a bouncy, active tyke who loves to chatter and plays well with other children. The lad on the right, a friendly, outgoing child of 6 1/2 who adjusted well in his foster home, is in first grade and doing well. Aware of his "big brother" responsibilities, he has a close bond with his two sisters. Their favorite food — you guessed it — peanut butter and jelly. These siblings are seeking a warm, loving family who will enjoy the challenge of three children and who can provide them with the security they so desperately need. Call Dortha Lane, Illinois Children's Home and Aid, 944-3313.

HIS WIDE BROWN liquid eyes only hint of the bubbling personality of this 6 1/2-year-old boy who loves to play, loves music, likes people and gets along well with other children. Full of fun, he will soon be free of a congenital heart problem which is being corrected surgically. He's a waiting child in need of a loving home. Call Dortha Lane, Illinois Children's Home and Aid, 944-3313.

"HE AIN'T HEAVY, he's my brother." These wistful little boys, age 3 and 4, love cars, trucks and each other. The older one, foreground, an outgoing child, is very attached to his husky, active little brother whose eyes sparkle with mischief. Only recently has he felt secure enough to ease his protective role. Their bond as brothers could be preserved by a loving family in need of two boys. Call Dortha Lane, Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, 944-3313.

Agencies Will Plan Adoptions

The Department of Children and Family Services, State of Illinois, 1028 S. Damen Ave., Chicago, began functioning Jan. 1, 1964. Programs are carried on through three divisions: Child Welfare, Children's Schools, and Rehabilitation Services.

Adoption service for children who need permanent homes is one of the responsibilities of the Child Welfare Division.

The division is primarily concerned with finding homes for hard-to-place children. Couples who request an unavailable child are generally referred to a private agency. Most of these have long waiting lists for healthy white babies with almost no white babies available.

State-supported, the department charges no fee to adoptive parents for its services. For more information, call Mimi Wuest at 341-8457.

COUPLES SOMETIMES prefer to go directly to a private or church-affiliated agency. No all church-affiliated agencies require religious affiliation as a prerequisite for adoption. A list of private agencies in the Chicago area distributed by the Department of Children and Family Services (revised as of March 1972) includes the following:

Bensenville Home Society, Bensenville, Catholic Charities, Chicago.
Chicago Child Care Society, Chicago.
Chicago Foundlings Home, Chicago.
The Cradle, Evanston.
Easter House, Chicago.
Evangelical Child Welfare Agency, Chicago.
Jewish Children's Bureau, Chicago.
Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, Chicago.
Lake Bluff/Chicago Homes for Children, Chicago.
Lutheran Welfare Services of Illinois, Chicago.
Lutheran Child and Family Services, River Forest.
St. Mary's Services for Children, Chicago.
Sunnyridge Home for Children, Wheaton.
The Travelers Aid Society of Metropolitan Chicago.

THE CHILD CARE Association of Illinois publishes an Adoption Listing Service, which is updated weekly. In it are photographs and descriptions of the hardest to place children of Illinois. Also given are descriptions of waiting families. Any agency that wishes may subscribe to this service.

A CLEARINGHOUSE in which all agencies of North America may combine their resources to find a family for a child or a child for a family is ARENA, the Adoption Resource Exchange of North America. The services of ARENA are available only through member adoption agencies. No individual applications are accepted.

TO ARRANGE for American adoption of a child from another country the Illinois Department and private agencies work through International Social Service or the Holt Adoption Program. The latter specializes in placing Korean children in American Christian homes. Couples may write directly to Holt Adoption Program, P.O. Box 85, Creswell, Ore., 97428, but the services of an adoption agency are also necessary.

More detailed information about the Holt Adoption Program may be obtained by calling Mrs. Alan Anderson of Des Plaines at 437-1431.

Suburban Living

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

The Open Door Society Will Help

Originally composed of adoptive parents of hard to place children only, the Open Door Society is now open to anyone interested in children who need adoptive homes.

There are about 200 families in nine chapters in the Greater Chicago area. Two chapters, the Open Door Society of Arlington Heights and the Open Door Society of Schaumburg, accommodate families from the northwest suburban area.

President of the Arlington Heights chapter is Richard Vohrs of Arlington Heights; secretary-treasurer is Mrs. Vic Fries of Glenview; representative to the Illinois board is Dale Unger of Arlington Heights. The chapter is made up of 31 couples, three-fourths of whom have adopted a black child or have a racial mixture within a family. Anyone interested in this chapter may call Mrs. Dale Unger, 892-8729, for more information.

PRESIDENT OF the Schaumburg chapter is Bill McDermitt of Streamwood; secretary-treasurer is Mrs. Don Wisel of Hanover Park; representative to the Illinois board is Jack Lucas of Hoffman Estates. About 14 couples comprise the group; the majority have black adopted children. More information about the Schaumburg chapter may be obtained by calling Mrs. Tom Deet of Hanover Park, 288-3905.

The Open Door Society of Illinois is made up of a board of officers plus a representative from each Open Door chapter. President of the Illinois board is Mrs. Martin Kolt of Arlington Heights; vice president is Tom Deet of Hanover Park; secretary-treasurer is Dale Unger of Arlington Heights; and publications director is Jim Ross of Hyde Park.

THE CONCERNS of Open Door are to find parents for every child, regardless of race, creed or color; to make it easier for adoptive parents of hard-to-place children to relate to each other; and to bring the families together so that the children will see that theirs is not a unique situation, will not feel isolated.

The chapter holds one evening meeting each month for the parents. Books are read and discussed; speakers are brought in; special racial studies are made. Periodically the chapter gives family parties and socials.

The Adoption Information Service, an information pool on available children, invites Open Door chapters to rap sessions for parents and social workers.

LAST MONTH representatives of Open Door attended the North American Conference on Adoptable Children, sponsored by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services of the St. Louis area. Open Door members presented a forum, "The Credibility Gap Between Parents and Agencies (Are children available or not?)" It was pointed out at the conference that there are a half million children in the United States who have no permanent home, the bulk of them older children or members of minority races.

Recently the Arlington Heights Open Door chapter invited the public to an open forum, "All About Adoption." A panel discussed children's reactions when they learn they are adopted and what to tell them about their biological parents. Conducting segments of the forum were a psychologist, agency representatives and parents who were adopted themselves and have also adopted children.

Wedding Bells Will Ring

Peggy Stephens

Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens of Prospect Heights announce their daughter Peggy's engagement to Brian J. Levy, son of Alvin Levy of Skokie and Mrs. Roselyn Levy of Chicago.

The couple plan to be married June 24.

Peggy is a '69 graduate of Wheeling High School and attends Harper College. Her fiancé will graduate in June from Southern Illinois University.

Patricia Ann Miller

Patricia Ann Miller of Chicago has become engaged to Michael J. Loneragan of Palatine, and they are planning a June 17 wedding in St. Thomas of Villanova Church.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Paul W. Miller and Mrs. Margaret Click, both of Chicago. She will be graduated in June from Mayfair College School of Nursing, Chicago.

Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Loneragan, 427 Carpenter Drive, is a '69 graduate of Palatine High School and a '71 graduate of Mayfair College. He now attends Illinois State at Normal.

Janet Hjeltn

A July 8 wedding is planned by Janet Elizabeth Hjeltn and Charles K. Long. The couple's engagement and approaching marriage are announced by Janet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hjeltn, 317 N. Eastwood, Mount Prospect. Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Long of Bethpage, Long Island, N. Y.

A graduate of Prospect High School and Northern Illinois University, Janet teaches school in Atlanta, Ga. Her fiancé is a graduate of the University of Rhode Island and is an accountant with Texaco, Inc. in Atlanta.

The wedding will take place in Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church.

Victory Stingley

Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Stingley, 124 Bonnie Brae, Mount Prospect, announce the engagement of their daughter Victory to Charles Brinkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brinkman of Morton Grove.

Miss Stingley is a graduate of Maine Township West High School and is attending Oakton Community College while employed at the First National Bank of Des Plaines. Her fiancé is a graduate of St. Joseph Seminary High School and Oakton Community College. He is employed with Lyon Healy, Mount Prospect.

They are planning a September wedding.

A Luncheon Installation For Northwest Panhellenic

Mrs. Thoms Hentschel of Arlington Heights will head activities of Northwest Panhellenic Association for the coming club year. Mrs. Hentschel, a member of Delta Gamma, was installed as president at the group's annual May luncheon at Arlington Park Towers.

Assisting her as vice president will be Mrs. Daniel Lemanski, Palatine, a Delta Zeta alumnae. New recording secretary is Mrs. Ronald Hacker, Bensenville, Gamma Phi Beta; corresponding secretary is Mrs. Robert Scheuler, Hoffman Estates, Kappa Delta. Treasurer for the next year will be Mrs. Murray Widdis, Arlington Heights, a Kappa Alpha Theta.

Mrs. Robert J. Anderson, Palatine, bridge tournament chairman, awarded prizes at the luncheon to winners of this year's round robin bridge tournament. The bridge tournament is an annual fund-raising project which aids the Panhellenic scholarship fund.

Guests at the luncheon were the five senior high school girls who won the scholarships offered this year by Northwest Suburban Panhellenic.

Announce Flower Awards From Inverness Show

"Blue ribbon" weather contributed to the success of the "Arts 'n' Flowers" home tour, flower show, and antique and bake sale last Thursday in Inverness.

The triple event was sponsored by the Garden Club of Inverness, Woman's Club of Inverness and three Quaker chapters: Clarinda Cady, Four Silos and Olds Salem. The garden group was responsible for the flower show, the woman's club for the home tour, and the Quakers arranged the sale of antiques and baked goods.

Twenty-four entries in six classes of the artistic division of the show were inspired interpretations of floral arrangements as they might be done by six famous artists.

TOP AWARD in the division, the Tri-Color, went to Mrs. Emmett Boyles of Mount Prospect Garden Club for her arrangement of yellow gladioli. It was done in the artistry of Piet Mondrian. She also earned the blue ribbon in that class.

Mrs. Charles Daugherty of Inverness received the red ribbon.

Other winners in the artistic division are the following:

Renoir class — blue, Mrs. Robert Elrick; red, Mrs. Harry Magill.
Wyeth class — blue, Mrs. Norman Olson; red, Mrs. Robert Fritch.
Picasso class — blue, Mrs. Owen Doss; red, Mrs. Albert Heath and Mrs. F. N. Bard of Barrington.

Gauguin class — blue, Mrs. Byrne Jackson of Villa Park; red, Mrs. Robert Schroeder of Country Gardens of Northfield.

IN THE HORTICULTURE division, the Sweepstakes Award for most blue ribbons went to Mrs. James Besecker. The Arboreal Award went to Mrs. Norman Olson for a specimen of native Hawthorne.

The Award of Merit for outstanding blue ribbon winners went to Mrs. Robert Paris for a tulip, Apricot Beauty; to Mrs. Wyatt Jacobs of Ravinia Garden Club for variegated hibiscus; to Mrs. Gerald Stanton for a white poinsettia.

There was also a junior division for children. In the Grandma Moses class of junior artistic, Jennifer Jones won the blue ribbon; Cindy Jeck, the red; Nancy Fritch, yellow; and Lauren Dailey, white.

6 was held in St. James Church, Arlington Heights.

The couple honeymooned for two weeks in Denver, Colo., and in Los Angeles, Calif., and are now making their home in Wood Dale.

Daughter of the Earl J. Scherrers, 1817 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights, Karen is a graduate of Arlington High School. She also studied at Harper College and is employed now in Chicago. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Levendoski of Niles, and he was graduated from Maine East High School and also studied at Harper. He is now with North Suburban Postal Facility, River Grove.

Michelle Clark, Chicago, attended Karen as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were C. Gene Postvelt, Des Plaines, and the groom's sisters, Donna and Janice Levendoski, Niles. John Sullivan, Maywood, was best man, and ushers were Randy Turner, Franklin Park; Michael Bednar, Arlington Heights; and the bride's brother, Earl Scherrer Jr. who flew home from England where he is stationed with the Air Force. It was Mike Bednar who introduced the couple.

For her wedding Karen chose a white organza gown with rows of lace and pearl beading, and sheer sleeves trimmed with lace and pearls. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a pearl-trimmed lace headpiece, and she carried white carnations, daisies, baby's breath and lilies of the valley with pink roses.

THE ATTENDANTS were in white Empire gowns with blue-flocked flowers, ruffled cuffs and collars and ruffled bibs accenting the bodices. They carried wicker baskets with blue carnations and white pompon daisies.

The double ring, candlelight service at 5 p.m. was followed by a reception in the Cardinal House, Chicago.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: What's a good remedy to use on ants which come in both the kitchen and cellar? I have a Siamese cat and do not want to use a commercial spray.

—Mrs. Dorothy Weidner

Every summer we get fresh home remedies. These that follow come from faithful readers who have shared their successes with us. One correspondent painted oil of sassafras over the area ants frequent and another sprinkled powdered cloves wherever she spotted an ant. A third sprinkled red pepper at the entrances and one poured plain table salt along window ledges and door entrances. And still another heard that chalk lines across doorways and windows would keep them out and, after trying it, said she never saw another ant. Sounds kooky, but if it works —

Dear Dorothy: Washed a red sweater and a yellow robe in cold-water soap and the lint from the robe is all over the red sweater. I've brushed and brushed but no luck. Is there any way to get off this lint? — Mrs. Louise Hall.

It's no surprise about the lint sticking to the sweater. The mystery is why the red from the sweater didn't bleed onto the yellow robe. Cold-water soap is pretty strong and one has to be just as careful as using hot water when mixing certain materials and colors. The only thing I've found that will take off this lint or fuzzy balls is the sweater and fabric comb found at notions counters.

Dear Dorothy: Personally, I like to take the outside leaves off lettuce regardless of whether they are green and full of nutrients. I feel these outside leaves might contain traces of insecticides and germs from dirty hands which couldn't possibly be washed off with cold water. — Lisa F.

Good point.

Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

A Colorful Bridal Party

Royal blue and yellow were combined with bridal white for an April 29 wedding in Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church. At two o'clock in the afternoon Carole Helander of Niles became the bride of George Oreskovich of Rolling Meadows in a colorful setting that included the two accents in the bride's bouquet and her attendants' attire.

Carole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Helander, carried a large nosegay of yellow roses, royal blue baby's breath, lilies of the valley and white carnations. Each of her attendants, gowned in royal blue faille with white lace trim, carried a single long-stemmed yellow rose.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Oreskovich, former Rolling Meadows residents who now live in Oconee, Ill. Young George has continued to live in this area and works as a diesel mechanic for United Parcel Service.

HE CHOSE Bob Steinbraker of Carol Stream as best man and his brother Neal, Rolling Meadows, and Jim Goding, St. Paul, Minn., as groomsmen.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Lynn Clemen of St. Paul, Minn., and bridesmaids were Susan Levin of Homewood and Karen Erikson of Glenview, a cousin of Carole's.

As she was given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk gown appliqued with cut-out flowers at the high neckline, edging the short sleeves and forming a panel down the front of the A-line silhouette.

Mr. and Mrs. George Oreskovich

A CAP OF the same floral motif held her bouffant veil in place.

After the wedding service there was a reception for 300 guests in the church hall. The newlyweds then left for a honeymoon in Florida.

They are making their home in Carol Stream, both commuting to Chicago to work. Carole is a dental assistant in the city and a graduate of Niles West High School. George attended Forest View High and Harper College.

Mrs. Kenneth Roy Heads Alumnae

Mrs. Kenneth Roy of Arlington Heights is the new president of Northwest Suburban Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta. She was installed, along with other new officers, at a recent candlelight ceremony in the Palatine home of Mrs. Larry Barrett.

This was the final meeting of the club year for the alumnae.

On the board with Mrs. Roy are Mrs. James Weston, Mount Prospect, first vice president; Mrs. Thomas Fhuke, Arlington Heights, second vice president; Mrs. Kyle Campbell, Arlington, secretary; Mrs. Philip Ehlers, Palatine, treasurer; and Mrs. Jon Willms, Park Ridge, editor.

OTHERS ON the board are Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mount Prospect, heading ways and means; Mrs. David Rolston, Arlington, altruistic; Mrs. R. J. Anderson, Palatine, Panhellenic representative; and Mrs. James Enright, Arlington, fraternity ambassador.

New Alpha Gams in the area are welcome to join the club. Mrs. Fluke may be called at 394-3823 for details.

After a full eight hours of beauty sleep, the face tends to be a little puffy. Try lightly dabbing ice cubes all over the face. Then after make-up, use just a quick dabbing with ice cubes to help the make-up set.

Victoria Ann Kilgenberg was born May 14 to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klingenberg, 122 Hartford Drive, Schaumburg. She is a new sister for Danny, 9, and Kathy, 12. The 9 pound 11 ounce baby is the granddaughter of Mrs. J. W. McBride and Charles Klingenberg, both of Athens, Ohio.

Wendell Lynne Rosborough, born April 24 to the Alan Rosboroughs of Carpen-tersville, has a great-grandmother living in the area. She is Mrs. Carl Zinner of Palatine. Andrea Marie, 2, is the 7 pound 2½ ounce baby's sister.

Contessa Bernadette LoCascio is the name given to the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo P. LoCascio of 1926 Prairie Square, Schaumburg. Born May 16, she weighed 8 pounds 2 ounces. Her grandparents are the Henry Broadwells of Des Plaines and Mrs. Tina LoCascio of Chicago.

Lauren Kathleen Hull's birth took place May 18 for Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hull, 11 W. Ridge, Prospect Heights. The 6 pound 4 ounce baby is their first child. Lauren is a granddaughter for the Russell Carlsons and the Roger Hulls, all of Arlington Heights.

David Michael Dolendi adds a son to the Ralph Dolendi family of 1220 S. Chestnut, Arlington Heights. His birth was recorded May 16, his weight at 6 pounds 11½ ounces. Deanna, 21 months old, is his sister. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Towey of Westchester and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dolendi of Harwood Heights.

James Michael Hanke was born May 15 at 9 pounds 4 ounces. Mr. and Mrs. David L. Hanke, 211 Fern Drive, Elk Grove Village, are his parents, and he has a sister, Wendy, 19 months old. Mr. and Mrs. H. Hanke of Lake Villa, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. A. Romanello of Cincinnati, Ohio, are their grandparents.

Thomas Richard Dorian Jr., third child in the Thomas Richard Dorian family of Arlington Heights, was born May 2. His brother is Kevin, 5, and sister is Colleen, 4. Birthweight of the newcomer was 8 pounds 11½ ounces. He is now at home at 2303 Burke Drive. His grandmother is Mrs. Vincent J. Gaul of River Forest, Ill.

Joseph Anthony Abboreno, a May 18 baby for the Frank R. Abborenos of Norridge, is the grandson of area residents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Abboreno of Prospect Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Eloy Martinez of Des Plaines. The 7 pound 7½ ounce boy is the Frank Abborenos' first child.

HOLY FAMILY

Melissa Ann Wagner arrived May 11 for Mr. and Mrs. Melvin G. Wagner of 616 Bob-O-Link Road, Mount Prospect. She is the third in a trio of girls in the home. Laura, 12, and Linda, 8, are her sisters. Grandparents of the 9 pound 7½ ounce baby are the T. E. Reuters of Big Lake, Minn., and the A. F. Wagners of Chicago.

Heather Lynn Frost, first-born for Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Frost, is now at home with them at 516 Circle Hill Drive, Arlington Heights. She arrived May 14 at 9 pounds 8 ounces. The Lawrence Schroeders of Glenview and the Leo Frosts of Arlington Heights are Heather's grandparents.

Joseph Vincent Wolfgram's birth adds another son to the Donald R. Wolfgram family of 1718 Estates Drive, Mount Prospect. Born May 15, he weighed 8 pounds 11 ounces. Jeffrey, 2, and the new baby are grandsons of the Vincent Marinellis of Mount Prospect and the Arnold Wolfgrams of Des Plaines.

Luz Annette Maria was born to Mr. and Mrs. Octavio Torres Marin of Rand Road, Palatine, on May 10. She weighed 7 pounds 2½ ounces. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Silveyra of Mexico.

For Club Presidents

It's that time again.

New officers have been elected and new publicity chairmen have been appointed for the hundreds of area women's clubs and organizations. To help us keep our files up to date, we ask that each new president fill out the accompanying form and mail it to Paddock Publications as soon as possible so that invitations to our early fall publicity workshop can be mailed to each and every women's group.

The Potting Shed

by Mary B. Gorman

Lucky me! I've been given access to a $20,000 greenhouse at Rockwood Estates (the former Florsheim Shoe Company property), where I rent one of the homes.

I've never had too much experience in greenhouses, outside of drooling over them.

And to me, it is something like working on a terrarium — from the inside.

After I cleaned up my benches, scrubbed, and hoed, I lined the benches with gravel, and set down 4 x 6 inch fibreboard flats or bulb pans.

Since the medium is the message, I called the shots for vermiculite, composted soil, a little sand, and regular potting soil. Other people who start seeds like peat moss and sand, peat moss and vermiculite, peat moss and perlite, milled shagnum moss and screened potting soil. You have to use what works for you. Personally, I can't stand to use peat moss for anything.

ANYWAY, us big-time greenhouse people (and free-loaders) like to keep the temperature skirting 55 to 75 degrees — especially when someone else is paying the heating bill, and the humidifier at 75 per cent.

What, no humidifier? Then just hose the place down every so often.

To tackle greenhouse pests, I use my supply of ladybugs to eat all the white fly, aphids, scale and red spider mite. The ladybugs I keep dormant in my refrigerator and take out a few when needed. If necessary, I set a praying mantis out to tip-toe through the tulips. I also keep a box of tobacco dust handy for big jobs (condoned by the organic movement) in emergencies, and use a cotton swab dipped in alcohol for errant mealybugs.

WHEN SEEDLINGS are up for seven to ten days, I begin twice-weekly feedings with fish emulsion. (Fish is good for transplant shock, too.) I started giving the tomatoes cottonseed meal every second week, after they graduated to their own 2 1/4 inch pots.

Any sick plants going into the greenhouse "hospital," are isolated first to prevent an epidemic. There is also a plant nursery for African violet cuttings. These take from two to four months to incubate. But just about the time I am ready to give up on them, the cuttings start getting new arrivals.

Automatic timers on the fluorescent lights and waterers make my job easy. The only thing I have to do is open the sashes once in a while, so the plants don't roast on sunny days — and never let anybody sneak soft water into the place — that's subversion!

TWO OTHER FAMILIES are sharing the greenhouse space, filling benches with squash and beans, onions, and lettuce, but mostly tomatoes, tomatoes, tomatoes, which the Bryant family plans to sell. The Dempseys are planning to can their harvest, and Mrs. Dempsey passed on this tip for greenhouse growers: Line wooden flats with wet newspapers before filling, to help keep young seedlings from drying out.

With outdoor planting time here, we have a big headstart on the growing season, as this wonderful greenhouse becomes a veritable flower show.

Nurses Give Scholarships

Carol Cuny

The Jane Manock Memorial Scholarship given by Hoffman-Schaumburg Registered Nurses Club went to two area girls this year. Suzanne Dolan, daughter of the Thomas Dolans of Hanover Park, and Carol Cuny, daughter of the James Cunys of Schaumburg, are the winners.

Both girls are '72 graduates of Schaumburg High School and will enter Wesley Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Chicago.

It was due to the generosity of Dr. Felino Sumang that the club was able to offer two awards this year instead of one.

Bridge Marathon Chalks Up A Successful Year

The bridge marathon sponsored by the Mount Prospect Center of Infant Welfare was concluded last Wednesday evening at Mount Prospect Community Center. When the final scores were tallied all the players were surprised to learn that there was a tie for the first place award. Two first prizes were earned by partners Mrs. Philip Carroll and Mrs. Anthony Bart, and Mrs. Roy Lyngross and her partner Mrs. Anthony Mozzitelli. The third place winners are Mrs. Robert Larson and her partner Mrs. Richard Tank.

The marathon is an ongoing project of the Mount Prospect Center to support the Philip D. Armour Child Development Center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago.

BECAUSE OF the widespread interest in this project and the enthusiastic support of area residents, Mrs. W. Donald Georgan of Mount Prospect, new chairman of the marathon, has announced plans for an Expanded Bridge Marathon.

Included in the expansion plans are a couples group which will play both party and duplicate bridge. Mrs. Georgan reports that so far more than 20 couples in the Mount Prospect area have entered the fall tournament.

Another aspect of the bridge marathon is the newly forming group for teenagers which will include lessons for the young people. It is hoped that these classes will begin about the middle of the summer.

A "NOVICE" GROUP for beginners or inexperienced players is also being arranged. If enough interest is shown in this category lessons will be available to entrants before the season of play begins in the fall. The Novice Group will retain its separate identity throughout the 1972-1973 bridge marathon season.

Openings are available for all the new categories as well as the regular bridge marathon. All interested parties in Mount Prospect and vicinity may contact Mrs. Georgan at 259-3781 or 259-2046 for further information or registration details.

It's Fashion

by United Press International

Many fashion-minded persons are discovering it's fun to don a cafton, lounging robe or long skirt for evening at home — even if nothing special is planned.

Today's neat all-in-one underfashions — bra slips, body shaper, panty hose — offer you a compact way to take along your necessities when making a trip.

Proper care of clothes results in both a better wardrobe and a longer-lasting one, with costly replacements less frequently needed.

One reason double knits are going to the front of the fabric parade with home sewers: the fabric is stable. It does not ravel and therefore no seam finish is required. A knit skirt can be hemmed by hand so it is almost invisible from the right side.

Generally your girdle size is determined by your waist measurement. Waist measurement 23 to 24 takes an extra small; 25 to 26, small; 27-28, medium; 29-30, large; 31-32, extra large; 33-34, double extra large; 35-36 and so on, by a number corresponding to the waist measurement.

BOB Meets Tonight

Best Off Broadway Players, a community theater organization, will hold its monthly meeting tonight, 8 o'clock, at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights.

Reports will be given on BOB's current show in the making, "Gypsy," and also, the new board of directors will be elected.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by "Celebration," a musical group consisting of Linda and Lenny Dweil, Lauren Lubeck and Rick Parkin, all of Mount Prospect, and Greg Ziomek of Arlington Heights.

All area residents interested in community theater are invited to attend the meeting.

Ladybug Lady Takes To Needlepoint

by JOANNE SCHREIBER

In France, it's a cochenille; in China, it's a placeum; in South America, it's a mariguita. To Americans, it's the friendly and familiar little ladybug that has been Vera's signature and trademark for more than 25 years.

"A ladybug is a good luck omen all over the world," explains Vera. "Sometimes it's called a ladybird. And it has religious significance — for some reason, it is connected with Mary, and gets its name from Our Lady."

The ladybug became the trademark of the talented designer quite by accident. Vera Industries was started in 1945 with Vera and her late husband, George Neumann; their first design was a place mat silk screened on the kitchen table. When Vera signed her name to the mat, she impulsively added the little ladybug.

SINCE THEN, the signature, the bug and Vera's unmistakable touch have brightened table linens, bed linens, bedspreads, towels, draperies, scarves, dresses, blouses and shirts. She paints almost 600 designs in five color combinations each year, and the designs are outstanding for their vibrant color combinations and bold forms.

Noting the surging interest in all sorts of handwork, Vera has turned her design talents to needlepoint. "It's another art form," she says, "and the kids love it."

So do grownups. Her stylized motifs of fruit, flowers and butterflies look terrific in Quickpoint, worked in heavy yarns on a five-mesh screen to form a 3x5 foot rug or wall hanging, or in a smaller screen on a cushion-sized canvas. She has turned out 10 of these designs for Dritz-Scovill, and they are available in department stores.

VERA TRAVELS a great deal, and each of her collections is inspired by the colors and designs of the countries she visits. In recent years she has been to Portugal, Brazil, India, Japan, Peru, Finland, Ireland, Norway, Yugoslavia and Iran. She especially loved the clear, strong light in Yugoslavia, which inspired a radiant range of azure and turquoise tones.

Though she retains her 150-year-old house overlooking the Hudson River, where she turns out most of her designs, she has recently bought a house on Ibiza, the Spanish island made famous by the Clifford Irvings. There, the designer will spend part of the year with her teen-aged son and daughter, and Vera fans can look forward to new designs inspired by the handicrafts and natural beauty of the island, signed with the whimsical ladybug.

Encounter Groups Fill Unmet Need

by GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) —Much has been said and written about some bizarre aspects of encounter groups, or sensitivity training, as they are also labeled.

Are the groups a force for good? Properly directed, they can contribute to "a more human future," says Elizabeth Ogg, an author who's examined the groups to find how they work and why the encounter upsurge in this era.

Miss Ogg divides the sensitivity sessions into two general types: One in which members in a small group are "largely committed to verbal interaction," the other the physical contact in which leaders of the groups "stress the body as the mirror of the psyche and an avenue to emotional release and wholeness."

MISS OGG SAYS small groups in themselves are not new — "Through the centuries they have been used for emotional support, religious communion, learning, and the performance of specific tasks."

As for the current upsurge, she says, "One reason often cited is the increasing deterioration of life in our crowded cities, where close-knit, stable work groups and neighborhoods with roots are fast disappearing. The old-time supportive family has been largely lost and many marriages are brittle. Individuals feel atomized, reduced to numbers on IBM cards. And in their loneliness they yearn for human closeness."

Miss Ogg's views are in "Sensitivity Training and Encounter Groups," a new publication from the Public Affairs Committee, a non-profit educational organization headquartered in New York. The author has written widely in the social sciences field.

SHE FAULTS A "few unqualified, self-styled leaders" who have used "encounter groups as a means for self-aggrandizement, power or personal gain" and some who become encounter "addicts going from group to group, seeking the thrills."

"Yet," she writes, "despite its present limitations and the excesses of some of its leaders, the sensitivity training movement can hardly be dismissed as a passing fad. It speaks too directly to unmet human needs for that."

Miss Ogg says that under qualified leaders, the training is "one way of resolving conflicts — in families, organizations, schools and communities."

Special Assessment Notice

VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the President and Board of Trustees of the VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Cook County, Illinois, have ordered the levying of a special assessment as follows:

Paving and otherwise improving the West half of Kaspar Avenue in the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois, as follows:

That the west half of the roadway of Kaspar Ave., from and connecting with the existing pavement in Slawit Street, north to and connecting with the existing pavement in Campbell Street at a point six hundred (600) feet more or less, north of the north line of Slawit Street, be improved by grading, paving, curbing and drainage, all complete in place in the VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Cook County, Illinois.

The ordinance for the said improvement is on file in the office of the Clerk of the VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, at the Village Hall, and the VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS has applied to the Circuit Court of Cook County, for the levying of the special assessment to pay the cost of the said improvement accordingly and returned to the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, County Department, County Division, Chicago Civic Center, and known as Special Assessment No. 159.

The final hearing will be held on the said proceeding on the 18th day of June, 1972, at the opening of Court or as soon thereafter as the business of the Court will permit. All persons desiring to do so may file objections in the said Court before said day and may appear at the said hearing and make defense. Said ordinance provides for the collection of the said assessment in ten (10) installments with interest thereon at six per cent (6%) per annum.

DELUXE BEEF BURGERS

Hamburgers:

- | | |
|---|--------------------------------------|
| 1 tablespoon instant minced onion | 8 hamburger rolls, split and toasted |
| 1/2 cup milk | 8 tomato slices |
| 2 pounds ground beef | |
| 3/4 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked | Blue Cheese Topping: |
| 1 egg, beaten | One 5-oz. jar blue cheese spread |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons salt | One 4-oz. package blue cheese |
| 1/4 teaspoon pepper | 2 tablespoons milk |

For blue cheese topping, beat together cheese spread, blue cheese and milk.

For hamburgers, combine minced onion and milk; let stand about 5 minutes. Thoroughly combine ground beef, oats, egg, salt, pepper and onion-milk mixture. Shape to form 8 patties. Place on grill or in broiler about 5 inches from source of heat. Cook about 7 minutes; turn and cook an additional 5 minutes for medium-doneness. Serve on toasted hamburger rolls with blue cheese topping and tomato slices. Makes 8 servings.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE SUPREME

- | | |
|-------------------------------|---|
| 2 cups buttermilk pancake mix | Sweetened fresh or frozen sliced strawberries |
| 1/4 cup sugar | Sweetened whipped cream |
| 1/2 cup butter or margarine | |
| 1/2 cup milk | |

Heat oven to hot (425 degrees). Place pancake mix and sugar in bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk, stirring lightly until moistened.

Turn dough out onto lightly floured board or canvas; knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to 1/2-inch thickness; cut with floured 3-inch round cutter to make 8 shortcakes. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets in preheated oven (425 degrees) 12 to 14 minutes.

To serve, split each shortcake in half. Spoon strawberries over bottom halves; replace tops and top with more berries and whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

COSMOPOLITAN FRIED CHICKEN

- | | |
|--|----------------------------|
| Two 2 1/2 to 3 pound frying chickens, cut up | 1 tablespoon salt |
| 3 cups water | 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder |
| 1 teaspoon salt | Dash cayenne |
| 1/2 teaspoon pepper | crushed |
| 1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour | 1 egg, beaten |
| | 1 1/2 cups dry white wine |

Place chicken pieces in large saucepan; add water, salt and pepper; cook covered about 20 minutes. Remove chicken pieces; dry thoroughly and cool on wire rack at least 30 minutes.

For batter, sift together corn meal, flour, salt, garlic powder and cayenne; add thyme. Stir in egg and wine until batter is smooth.

Dip chicken pieces in batter. Fry in hot deep fat (375 degrees) 4 to 5 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 6 servings.

CANDIED WALNUTS

- | |
|-----------------------------|
| 1 pound walnut halves |
| 1/4 cup butter |
| margarine |
| 1/2 cup maple-blended syrup |
| 1 tablespoon sugar |

Spread walnuts evenly in one layer in 15x10-inch jelly roll pan. Toast in preheated slow oven (300 degrees) 15 minutes. Melt butter; add syrup. Pour syrup mixture over toasted walnuts, stirring lightly. Bake an additional 15 minutes, stirring occasionally to evenly coat walnuts with syrup mixture.

Spread on absorbent paper. Cool 10 minutes; sprinkle with sugar, tossing to coat evenly. Cool thoroughly. Store in jar with tight fitting lid. Makes 4 1/2 cups.

Broiled Breakfast Peaches

Peaches Come To Breakfast

Start the day off bright for your family with Broiled Breakfast Peaches. Golden cling peach slices, brown sugar, butter and coconut emerge from the broiler toasty, caramelized and wonderfully good to top cereal. Youngsters will go for it like an ice cream sundae!

BROILED BREAKFAST PEACHES
1 can (17 ounces) cling peach slices
1/4 cup drained peach syrup
1/3 cup coconut flakes
2 tablespoons sugar (brown or granulated)

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Crisp, ready-to-eat wheat flake cereal (or your favorite)
Drain peach slices. Place in shallow baking dish; add the 1/4 cup peach syrup and coconut. Stir gently to distribute evenly. Sprinkle with sugar and dot with butter. Place 3 or 4 inches under broiler until hot, bubbly and golden brown, about 5 to 10 minutes. Spoon hot broiled peach slices and syrup over crisp cereal. Serve at once, with cream if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Burgers Begin The Cookout Season

Both the calendar and the weather confirm it — Memorial Day is here and the official cook-out season has begun. So fire up the barbecue and mix up a batch of these Burger Beauties — they're simple, sure and satisfying for a relaxed holiday meal. The recipe is fast-to-fix and dressed up with "flower" garnishes, the burgers are festive and flavorful. The ground beef patties are spiced with pickle relish and nippy, prepared yellow mustard. After grilling, spread with a mustard-mayonnaise mixture and top with sliced cherry tomatoes and pickle "petals."

Accompany the hot-off-the-grill burgers with chilled Potato Salad Pronto. Practically workless, the salad starts with packaged au gratin potatoes so there's no peeling or slicing necessary. The seasoning mix in the package blended with sour cream makes a tangy, cheese-flavored dressing.

Round out the meal with crisp celery and carrot sticks and top off with fresh strawberry sundaes. This suggested menu is tasty, colorful and balanced to provide servings from each of the Basic Four Food Groups needed daily to keep fit.

BURGER BEAUTIES

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup prepared yellow mustard
1/4 cup pickle relish
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Cherry tomatoes, cut in half Sliced pickles
Parsley
6 to 8 hamburger rolls
Combine ground beef, 1/2 cup of the mustard, and pickle relish in large mixing bowl; shape into 6 to 8 patties. Grill over hot coals or broil until done. Combine mayonnaise with remaining 1/4 cup mustard. Spread burgers with mayonnaise mixture, and garnish with tomatoes, pickles, and parsley to form flower shapes. Serve on rolls. 6 to 8 servings.

POTATO SALAD PRONTO

1 package (5 1/2-oz.) au gratin potatoes
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup chopped celery
1 green pepper, chopped
3 green onions, chopped
Lettuce
Combine potato slices from package of au gratin potatoes with 3 cups salted water in saucepan. Bring to a boil; simmer 15 minutes, until tender. Drain. Combine contents of envelope of seasoning mix from potatoes with 1/2 cup water in small saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; stir in sour cream. Pour sauce over potatoes, stirring gently; cover and chill. Just before serving, add celery, pepper, and onions. Spoon into lettuce-lined bowl. 5 to 6 servings.

Salmon Lasagne

Pasta And Fish In Italian Style

Italy makes poetry with pasta and fish, and the further south one goes in Italy, the more delicious and varied the combinations become. Everything from a sardine to a squid lends its flavor to a myriad of creative combinations of pasta and fish. Way down in the "boot," where the verdant soil yields the reddest and juiciest of tomatoes, where the surrounding sea contributes the freshest of seafoods, and where wonderfully sweet milk cheeses are churned daily, the Sicilians combine salmon, mozzarella and ricotta cheeses and tomato sauce in one of the greatest pasta dishes ever devised — Salmon Lasagne.

Lasagna is the name of just one of the shapes and sizes of macaroni products of which there are at least 150 in all, under the generic umbrella of pasta. Pasta is considered one of the world's perfect foods. It is a carbohydrate food, necessary for energy and an economical source of good nutrition. Made from the heart of durum wheat, the hardest and purest of all wheats, it is low in fat and high in protein, but the protein is incomplete, containing only eight of the essential amino acids. By adding canned salmon, however, you have an economical flavorful and satisfying dish with every amino acid in its right place. In addition salmon adds color and texture, and contributes many important minerals and vitamins. So, next time you think of pasta, let salmon add the complete protein to an otherwise perfect dish, and try Salmon Lasagne this very day.

SALMON LASAGNE

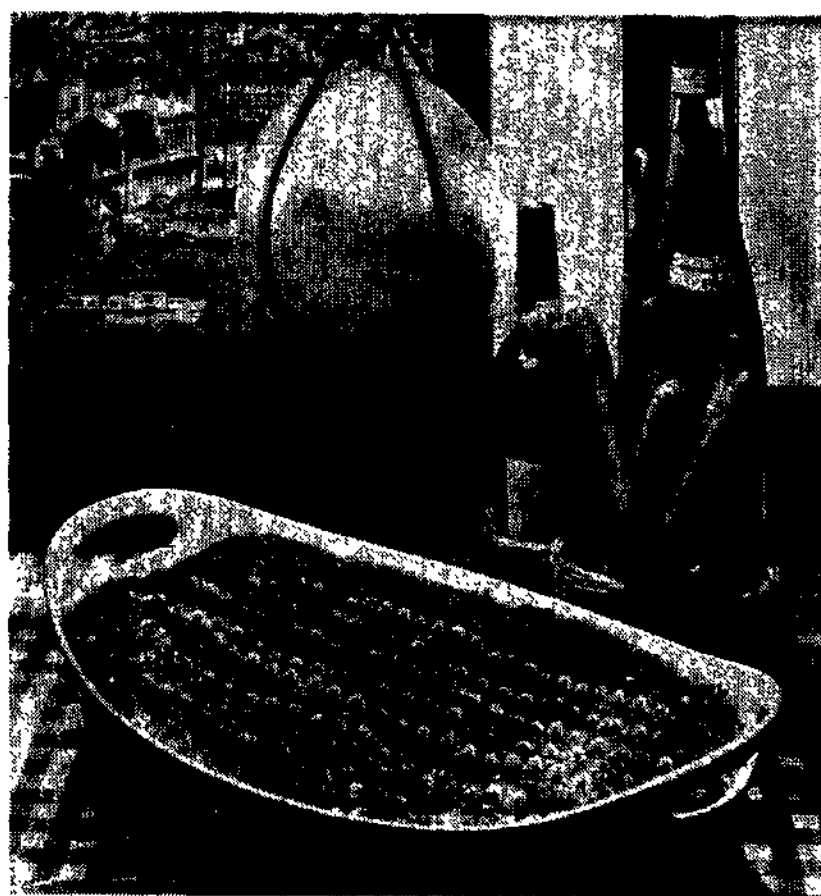

1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 cup cooking oil
1 1-pound, 12-ounce can Italian plum tomatoes
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1 6-ounce can tomato paste
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

1/2 teaspoon sweet basil
1/2 teaspoon oregano
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 pound lasagne
8 ounces Mozzarella cheese sliced
1 pound ricotta cheese
1 1-pound can salmon, drained and flaked
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Saute onion and garlic in the oil for 10 minutes, or until transparent, but not brown. Add tomatoes, tomato sauce and paste, salt, pepper, and herbs and simmer over low heat for 30 minutes.

Meanwhile cook lasagne in boiling salted water for 10 to 12 minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water.

Put a thin layer of sauce in the bottom of a large baking dish and arrange a layer of lasagne on the sauce. On top of the lasagne arrange a few slices of mozzarella, a few spoonfuls of ricotta and some of the salmon, using about 1/3 of each, and sprinkle with 1/3 of the Parmesan. Spoon over about 1/4 of the sauce and cover with lasagne. Repeat layers twice more ending with lasagne and remaining sauce. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

COLD BEER - NO EXTRA COST COLD BEER - NO EXTRA COST COLD BEER - NO EXTRA COST COLD BEER - NO EXTRA COST

Mostly For Men

By Charles Flynn

At the risk of overwhelming you with recipes for fish, I can't resist sharing this delightful and easy-to-prepare dish for your outdoor grill. This was a product of the culinary skill of Bill Essery, our Canadian guide on a fishing expedition, although some of the accoutrements are not readily available in the bush country.

It's called broiled fish pine portage style. You'll find this an inexpensive main course with unusual flavor quality.

Lay out 2 sheets of heavy aluminum foil (18 x 24 inches) and butter the foil while cold. Place 8 average size fish fillets side by side. Salt and pepper to taste.

Slice 3 large fresh tomatoes and 1 large Spanish onion. Completely cover the fillets with tomatoes and onions. On top add thin slices of fresh lemon (1 lemon will suffice).

DOT WITH BUTTER, about 2 tablespoons. Lay a third sheet of foil over all the ingredients and roll the four edges of the foil inward, making a tight seal. Place on your charcoal grill about 6 inches from a hot fire.

When the ingredients begin to steam the top foil will lift. Punch a small hole in the center to allow the steam to escape. Broil for 15 minutes.

Remove the entire dish from the grate, cut away the top layer of foil and serve on thick slices of bread (we had home made, but one can't always have everything). Baste the fish and bread with juices from the foil.

This recipe provides 4 generous servings. You can, of course, add proportionately to serve larger numbers. Baked beans and relishes are recommended to accompany.

Do you have a favorite method of cooking fish outdoors or a question about food? Write Chuck Flynn, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

Citrus Desserts For Every Season

Flavorful Florida oranges and grapefruit are one of the juiciest food buys at your market and the U.S. Department of Agriculture suggests that those who wish to save on food bills should serve fresh and processed citrus products often.

Citrus fruit is the best natural source of valuable vitamin C, and provides the pleasant way to obtain it. Top quality oranges and grapefruit, in both fresh and processed form, lend themselves deliciously to an interesting variety of imaginative desserts to be served throughout the year.

Fresh-frozen orange juice concentrate, a pure, natural product, is a unique and widely popular convenience food used both as a beverage — and in cooking and baking.

Another popular form, in which citrus fruit is available nationwide, is the chilled orange and grapefruit sections packed in one — and two-pound jars. These ready-to-use sections are perfect for appetizers, salads and desserts.

Herewith a quartet of dessert recipes — one each for Winter, Spring, Summer and Fall — featuring the citrus fruit at its peak of flavor and abundance during that season. At this particular time, however, all four dessert recipes are as near as your grocery store, for the fresh fruit is plentiful and inexpensive, and the concentrate and chilled sections are always available, and priced low, too.

For glamorous Winter entertaining, Grapefruit Flambe makes a spectacular dessert after a hearty dinner. Fresh grapefruit halves are centered with darkly contrasting Bing cherries, and flaming brandy is poured over just before serving.

In the Spring, while juicy Florida Valencia oranges are still on the market (they're available February to June), make a lovely "Touch of Spring" Souffle garnished with fresh orange sections and sprigs of mint. Sweet Valentinas, having few if any seeds, are perfect for sectioning and slicing for use in desserts, salads and fruit cups.

In the long hot Summer, a compote of chilled orange and grapefruit sections, combined with any of that season's delectable fresh fruit or berries, is colorfully cool to the eye and palate. A spicy sauce of undiluted orange concentrate and slivered ginger adds a tropical touch.

Fall's bright blue weather suggests a warming pot of tea and this superb Autumn Tea Cake, an adaptation of an English favorite. Flavored with orange concentrate and rind, the cake has a velvety texture that's wonderfully moist and buttery. (It's extra delicious served warm to bring out the orange.)

Add this Florida citrus foursome — each so different, each so good — to your culinary repertoire, and you'll dazzle your guests all year 'round!

GRAPEFRUIT FLAMBE

2 Florida grapefruit
1 can (1 pound) Bing cherries
¼ cup brandy

Cut grapefruit in half; remove core. Cut around each section, loosening fruit from membrane. Do not cut around outer edge of fruit. Chill. Drain Bing cherries; place three or four cherries in middle of grapefruit. Heat brandy over low flame in ovenproof pan. When warm, carefully light match above brandy. Pour flaming brandy over grapefruit. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 servings.

If non-alcoholic flambe is desired: soak 4 cubes of sugar in about 2 tablespoons lemon extract. Place a cube of sugar on each grapefruit half. Sprinkle any leftover extract onto cube. Carefully ignite. Commercial liquid flambe may be used.

"TOUCH OF SPRING" SOUFFLE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
8 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt

2 cans (6 ounces each) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1 cup sugar

1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in top of double boiler to soften. Beat together egg yolks and salt slightly; stir into gelatin mixture. Place over boiling water, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved and mixture thickens slightly, about 4 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in undiluted orange concentrate. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until very stiff. Fold gelatin mixture into egg whites; fold in whipped cream. Turn into a 2-quart souffle dish with 2-inch collar. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, garnish with orange sections and fresh mint, if desired. Yield: 12 servings.

To make collar, fold foil into four thicknesses 3 inches wide and long enough to go around souffle dish with generous overlap. Attach to dish with sealing tape, leaving 1 inch of foil around dish to make collar 2 inches high. Carefully remove collar to serve.

SUMMERY COMPOTE

½ cup frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted

2 tablespoons slivered, candied ginger

2 cups (1 pint) chilled Florida orange and grapefruit sections, drained

1½ cups sliced fruit or berries

Combine undiluted orange concentrate and slivered ginger. Let flavors blend while preparing fruit.

Arrange orange and grapefruit sections in serving dish. Toss in sliced fruit or berries. Pour orange concentrate mixture over fruit. Serve chilled. Yield: 6 servings.

Any fruit in season may be used.

AUTUMN TEA CAKE

½ cup whole blanched almonds

1 cup butter or margarine

3 tablespoons frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted

2 teaspoons grated Florida orange rind

½ teaspoon vanilla

¼ teaspoon salt

4 whole eggs, at room temperature

4 egg yolks, at room temperature

1 cup sugar

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour

¼ cup sifted cornstarch

Grease and dust with flour one 9-inch deep tube pan or kugelhopf-type pan. Arrange blanched almonds around bottom of pan. In small saucepan, combine butter, undiluted orange concentrate, rind, vanilla and salt; stir over low heat until butter is melted. Remove from heat; let cool to lukewarm. In large warm bowl, beat eggs, egg yolks and sugar until triple in bulk. Gently sprinkle flour and cornstarch over eggs, add orange-butter mixture and very gently fold in until there is no trace of butter. Pour into almond lined pan. Bake in 350 degree oven about 50 minutes, or until cake starts to come away from sides of pan. Yield: 10 servings.

Stuffed Cabbage Adds Variety

Stuffed cabbage balls offer a change of pace meal that is filling. The cabbage is stuffed with either ground pork, beef or lamb and rice and cooked with a tomato sauce. The tangy combination is just right to wake up the taste buds. For those who like it, serve a dollop of dairy sour cream atop the cabbage balls.

STUFFED CABBAGE BALLS

1 head cabbage
4 slices bacon, diced
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup cooked rice
1 pound ground pork, lamb or beef
1 egg, beaten
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
Salt and pepper
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce

Dairy sour cream, if desired

Cut core from cabbage. Invert head into a kettle of boiling water. Let stand 20 minutes. Remove. Gently separate leaves, drain on paper towels. Heat pressure cooker, add diced bacon. Saute onion. Turn into a bowl with rice, ground meat, egg and seasonings. Mix well. To make the balls: put a small leaf inside a large leaf; spoon 2 or 3 tablespoons filling in center. Place the filled leaves in center of a damp towel or napkin, bring leaf corners together and twist firmly. Repeat until filling is used up. Tie balls with a piece of soft string. Place stewed tomatoes and tomato sauce in pressure cooker.

Arrange the cabbage balls in the sauce. (Do not fill cooker over 2/3 full.) Close cover securely and cook 20 minutes. Cook cooker at once. Serve hot cabbage balls with sauce and topping of dairy sour cream, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Versatile Fruit

A spring-like salad that can be enjoyed the year-round is made by thawing frozen strawberries and folding into strawberry gelatin, along with canned cling peach slices and grapefruit sections. When preparing gelatin, use only 1 cup boiling water, adding syrup from strawberries and peaches to make the second cup of liquid. In spring and summer, use fresh berries, if you prefer.

Here's a salad sundae the kids will love. Place drained canned cling peach halves in western iceberg lettuce cups. Fill peaches with creamy cottage cheese. Sprinkle generously with salted peanuts, and pop a bright maraschino cherry on each. With cinnamon toast or jelly sandwiches, it's a nutritious noon-time meal.

A spoonful of frozen limeade concentrate stirred into lime gelatin gives a refreshing lift to a molded fruit and cheese salad. When gelatin is partially set, fold in well drained canned fruit cocktail, finely shredded Cheddar cheese and coarsely chopped pecans. Chill until firm.

Meat Leftovers Make Tasty Meal

Meat leftovers are valued by the cook who views them as the makings of an easy yet satisfying meal. Putting cooked beef to good use is a matter of having an appropriate recipe on file.

BEEF ENCORE

1 pound cooked sirloin tip or rump, cut in ¾ to 1-inch cubes
2 tablespoons spaghetti sauce mix from envelope
1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
½ cup water
2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen Italian green beans, cooked and drained
4 ounces noodles, cooked
¼ cup Parmesan cheese
Combine spaghetti sauce mix, tomato sauce and water in pan. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Add beef cubes and cooked beans. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally for 12 to 15 minutes or until beef is heated through. Serve on cooked noodles. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese over top. 4 to 5 servings.

Entertaining With Ease

An Impressive Fiesta For Four

Now that your honeymoon is almost over, you'll be entertaining your favorite couple in your new home. Why not plan a fiesta for four that you can easily put together at the last minute. If you're balancing homemaking with a career, you'll appreciate coming home to a meal you've prepared for in advance. You can also impress your husband with your ability to stick to a food budget, because this authentic and unique Italian meal is also inexpensive.

The basic ingredient is spaghetti but the sauce is Neptune-inspired with shrimps and clams swimming in a delicious butter-rich sea sauce. This butter sauce blends with spicy bits of garlic, onion, and parsley to bring out that famous Italian zip. You could crown this achievement with freshly-grated Parmesan cheese, but since time is the essence, just top with the packaged variety.

Dress up your feast tastefully with warm, crusty slices of buttered bread sprinkled with oregano and an Italian salad. The night before your dinner, you could wash the greens for the salad and refrigerate them in plastic bags. The greens will be crisp and well-chilled when you toss them in the salad bowl with dressing. Now, light the candles, pour the wine, and enjoy Rome right in your own home.

For the grand finale, you'll want to serve a fancy dessert like Rum Tortoni. Vanilla wafer crumbs and almond extract masquerade nicely as macaroon. Blend that devilish delight, rum, and sugar with whipping cream. Here's a hint for whipping cream: Chill the beaters and bowl before whipping. Whipped cream makes a frozen dessert smooth and gives the tortoni its famous rich taste. You can prepare it a day or week before the party if you cover it tightly with freezer wrap. Move the tortoni from the freezer to refrigerator when you begin to serve dinner to allow it to soften and be more flavorful. Your husband will be delighted that this Rum Tortoni recipe yields six servings and he'll probably eat both of the "left overs" after the company departs.

SPAGHETTI WITH CLAM AND SHRIMP SEA-SAUCE

- 6 ounces spaghetti
- 1 can (8 oz.) minced clams
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
- 3 cloves garlic, crushed
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onion
- 2 teaspoons parsley flakes
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 can (8 oz.) shrimp, drained and chopped
- 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese

Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Meanwhile, drain clams reserving liquid; add enough water to measure 1 cup; set aside. In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan melt 6 tablespoons butter; saute garlic, onion and parsley until onion is cooked. Combine cornstarch and reserved clam juice. Add to butter mixture; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Boil 2 additional minutes. Stir in clams and shrimp; heat to serving temperature. Drain spaghetti; toss with remaining 2 tablespoons butter and Parmesan cheese. Arrange on warmed serving platter; pour over clam sauce. Makes 4 servings.

RUM TORTONI

- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 tablespoons chopped almonds
- 1/2 cup vanilla wafer crumbs (about 16 wafers)
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 cup whipping cream, whipped
- 2 tablespoons confectioners sugar
- 2 tablespoons light rum
- 3 maraschino cherries, cut in half

In a small saucepan melt butter; saute almonds until light browned. Remove from heat. Stir in crumbs and extract. Reserve 2 tablespoons for topping. Fold sugar and rum into whipped cream; fold in crumb mixture. Line a muffin pan with 6 paper bake cups. Spoon tortoni mixture into cups. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Top each with a cherry half. Freeze until firm; cover. Let tortoni cups stand at room temperature to soften slightly before serving. Makes 6 servings.

FOR THE BUSY homemaker-career girl who likes to entertain... prepare most of this unique Italian meal the night before, so that your guests can enjoy the pleasure of your company, too.

Who me?

That's how I reacted when someone told me I could make money in stripping. But then I heard about over 150 Houck's Process dealers around the country who have increased their families' incomes by starting their own finish-stripping businesses. So I wrote the Houck's Process people to find out how to set up my own stripping business.

They sent me a brochure which told me how their unique finish-stripping process completely removes nearly any finish from wood or metal in only minutes! Incidentally, the exclusive chemical solution in the Houck's Process is ecologically benign, and can't hurt the basic surface or structure of the piece being stripped. The brochure also described the complete training they give each of their dealers and covered the advertising and promotional aids that go with the franchise.

But I was most pleasantly surprised to learn that the cost of the franchise was less than $8,000 and that they would let me finance up to $4,000!

So, now I'm in the stripping business, as a Houck's Process franchise operator, with an exclusive, protected territory. And besides supplementing my family's income, I'm providing a much-needed finish-stripping service to my community!

If you're looking for a money-making opportunity, better check into a Houck's Process franchise. The coupon below will bring you their complete brochure.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE!

If you're not satisfied, Delhi Chemicals will refund your deposit in full within 30 days of the time you receive our contract for review, or before you begin your training sessions.

Cottage Cheese: A Dessert Staple

It's a shame about cottage cheese. It's always taken for granted as just a cool, mild salad staple or a diet food people have when they don't want to eat. Of course cottage cheese is great in salads, and it is one of the lowest in calories. But cottage cheese has long been denied its rightful recognition as a provocative ingredient in scores of gourmet desserts.

Maybe the problem is that it is too good for you. Made from skim milk with cream added to restore milk fat and vitamins it is high in protein and low in calories — a fact that could mean a lot to you right now if you are thinking about getting back into those summer clothes.

Cottage is one of the oldest of cheeses — so old, in fact, that experts are not even sure where it first was made. We do know, though, that the Dutch women brought it over on those first boats from Holland and many a 17th century New Amsterdam kitchen boasted fresh, home-made cottage cheese.

The recipes that follow show how delicious and unusual desserts can be made with something you probably have in your refrigerator right now.

DESSERT SOUFFLE

- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 3 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons lemon rind, grated
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup toasted chopped almonds
- ½ cup raisins
- Bread crumbs

Melt butter, then remove from heat and blend in flour and salt. Add milk gradually, until it is blended well. Then, continuing to stir, mix over a low heat until thick and smooth. Beat egg yolks until light, then gradually beat in sugar and lemon rind. Now add the almonds, raisins, cottage cheese and sauce. Blend well. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the cheese mixture. Butter the bottom and sides of 1½ quart baking dish and sprinkle with fine dry bread crumbs. Carefully pour in the cheese mixture and place in a shallow pan of hot water. Then bake in a 350 degree oven for 50 minutes or until the top is brown and the souffle has set. Served warm directly from the dish with a fruit sauce it will make six generous portions.

PETIT COEUR A LA CREME

- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 3 ounce cream cheese
- 4 tablespoons heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon rum
- 1 tablespoon powdered sugar
- Dash salt
- Dash kirsch

Blend the two cheeses, gradually adding the cream and mixing until light and fluffy. Beat in sugar, salt and rum. Now take a cheesecloth, moistened with water and a dash of kirsch, and place it at the bottom of the small typical heart-shaped wire basket or small individual dish and mold the cheese into hearts atop the cloth. It should be served with fresh strawberries or raspberries. Serves 4.

RUSSIAN CHEESE TARTS

- 1 cup cottage cheese
- ½ cup sour cream
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 egg white
- Plum jam
- Melted butter
- Pie dough

Line medium size muffin pans with pie dough, allowing the edges to roll over the top. Combine the cheese, cream, sugar and salt. Beat the egg yolks and fold them into the cheese mixture. Place ½ teaspoon of the jam at the bottom of each muffin section and pour in about 1 tablespoon of the cheese mixture. Now pinch the edges of the pastry together and brush with the melted butter. Place in 425 degree oven for 10 minutes, then reduce the heat to 350 degrees and bake for another 20 minutes. This recipe makes about 12 tarts.

Plan Menus With USDA Guide

Do you need help in preparing food for small gatherings — a small church or community supper, a club luncheon, a big family get-together — or perhaps food for a small institution?

A new U.S. Department (USDA) bulletin is designed to help plan and prepare group menus according to likes and dislikes and takes into account available funds.

"Cooking for Small Groups," prepared by nutritionists in USDA's Agricultural Research Service, contains more than 40 recipes that yield given amounts of food, thus preventing leftovers or "running short." The recipes, which serve 25 people, can be adjusted for 15 to 50 servings by using a table of equivalent measurements included for that purpose. There is also a brief section on keeping foods safe to eat.

The new bulletin gives recipes for main dishes, vegetables, salads, breads and desserts. Calories per serving are listed for each recipe and there are suggested luncheon and dinner menus that use many of the recipes and suggest contrasts in color, size, shape, texture and flavor.

Copies of "Cooking for Small Groups," Home and Garden Bulletin No. 197, are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, for 15 cents each. Please use zip codes.

If you ask Joyce Conway of Arlington Heights why she likes to cook, she'll tell you candidly it's because she likes to eat!

A high school junior, Joyce began cooking in fifth grade when a friend gave her "Betty Crocker's Cookie Book" as a birthday gift. Home economics classes in Junior high helped to perpetuate this interest, and now Joyce is a confirmed culinary enthusiast.

Her mother's good cooking and her father's appreciation of tasty dishes have been an inspiration to Joyce. Having an older sister, Gail, a junior at Northern Illinois University who also likes to cook, has also been an incentive.

"Joyce is a perfectionist in everything she does, and this includes cooking," her mother, Lurena, commented. Her father, Ed, often accompanies her on shopping expeditions to get just the right ingredients or to purchase foods they both enjoy.

A teenager busy with many activities, Joyce doesn't have time to prepare complete meals other than during the summer months. But she often pitches in to help her mother prepare dinner, and whenever she gets a free moment she can be found in the kitchen whipping up some appealing baked delicacy.

One of her specialties is a rich and delicious chocolate cake which contains a novel ingredient — sauerkraut.

"I like recipes that are a little bit different," Joyce commented, "so the sauerkraut caught my eye. It proved to be an excellent recipe and has become one of my family's favorites."

The sauerkraut is indistinguishable in the cake, so Joyce never reveals to anyone what is in it until after they have eaten it.

"It's fun to see their disbelief," she laughingly remarked. "It has somewhat the same effect as coconut," she explained, "giving the cake its moist texture."

She frosts it with a rich and creamy icing made from German Sweet Chocolate and cream cheese. It is an elegant dessert for special occasions.

A French girl lived with the Conways last summer, and one night she prepared Tomatoes Provencale for the family.

"I wrote everything down as she prepared it," Joyce said. "We liked the tomatoes so well that I've made them several times since."

Ripe but firm tomatoes should be used. They are simply sliced and simmered in oil. A sprinkling of thyme, garlic and freshly-ground pepper give them flavor interest.

"They dress up any meal, even hamburgers, and add color to a plate," Joyce remarked.

A Fruit Salad Delight that this accomplished cook likes to make also dresses up a meal.

Creamy-pink in color, it is a molded salad with a base of wild cherry gelatin and vanilla ice cream. Pineapple, mandarin oranges and marshmallows add texture and flavor.

In addition to cooking, this versatile young lady has several other interests. She is a member of Choraliers, a vocal ensemble at Arlington High, the Senior Choir and participates in individual speech events.

An honor student, Joyce also belongs to Tri-M, a national music honorary and is secretary of the National Forensic League at Arlington. Active in Campfire Girls, Joyce is a member of Horizon Club. She loves to bicycle, fish and camp, and is planning on majoring in science in college.

SAUERKRAUT CAKE

2/3 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
2 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
2/3 cup sauerkraut, rinsed, drained and chopped

Cream butter and sugar. Beat in eggs and vanilla.

Sift dry ingredients together; add to batter alternately with water. Stir in sauerkraut.

Turn into two greased and floured 8-inch round or square baking pans. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes, or until done. Fill and frost with Chocolate Cream Cheese Frosting.

CHOCOLATE CREAM

CHEESE FROSTING

2 4-ounce packages German Sweet Chocolate
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
2 tablespoons light cream

2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
Melt chocolate over hot water. Cool slightly. Blend in cream cheese and cream. Add sugar gradually, mixing well after each addition. Stir in salt and vanilla.

TOMATOES PROVENCALE

5 medium to large tomatoes, firm and ripe

Vegetable oil
Minced fresh garlic
Whole thyme
Freshly-ground pepper

Slice tomatoes. Cover the bottom of a skillet with oil; heat and add one layer of tomato slices, salted. To the top of each slice add the minced garlic, thyme and pepper. Heat slices until soft, but not so soft that they fall apart. Remove slices as they are done; keep warm.

Heat the remaining slices in the same way. To serve, return all slices to pan and serve layered right from skillet or layer slices in a dish. Serves 3 to 4.

FRUIT SALAD DELIGHT

1 11-ounce can mandarin oranges
1 8 1/2-ounce can crushed pineapple
1 3-ounce package wild cherry gelatin
1 cup vanilla ice cream
1/4 cup miniature marshmallows
12 maraschino cherries (optional)
Drain syrup from oranges and pineapple. Measure one cup and heat to boiling. Dissolve gelatin in syrup. Add ice cream and mix until blended.

Fold in orange segments, pineapple and marshmallows. Chill in shallow pan, 6 by 10-inches or 8-inches square, until firm. Garnish with cherries if desired, and cut in squares to serve. Serves 6.

Economical Perch Dinner

As a thoughtful, discriminating homemaker, you want the best for your family, and you are concerned with the quality, nutrition, and taste in the food you serve. Like many others, however, you are also concerned with the ever-rising cost of most foods. Don't be discouraged — there is a way to please and nourish your family and, at the same time, stay within your food budget. The answer can be found in fishery products, particularly the wide variety of fish fillets available.

Ocean perch fillets are among the most economical. The price of any fishery product is determined by the abundance of the fish, the quantity caught, and the cost involved in getting it to the market. Ocean perch rate well in these areas. They are usually listed as a "best buy" and are ready to use, almost entirely edible, and have a mild, delicate flavor that makes wonderful eating. Ocean perch fillets are usually sold frozen; a 1-pound package usually contains 8 fillets, and they provide a whale-size punch when it comes to nutritional value.

Make sense with your food cents — serve ocean perch fillets often. There are dozens of plain or fancy ways to prepare fillets but Barbecued Fish Fillets With Cranberry Sauce is one of the tastiest. This recipe from the National Marine Fisheries Service provides an easy answer to the quest for that "something different" entree. The fillets are combined with another American standby, cranberries. These tasty, tart berries, rich in Vitamin C, are native to North America and are now extensively cultivated in Massachusetts, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Washington and Oregon. A tangy mixture of jellied cranberry sauce, steak sauce, brown sugar, and mustard is used to marinate and baste the fillets. Broil briefly until the fish flakes and the aroma tantalizes — then serve with the remaining sauce and enjoy. Additional cranberry slices may be used as a garnish if you wish. Try this seafood sophistication soon; it adds dash to weekday dinners and is elegant enough for a dinner party.

BARBECUED FISH FILLETS WITH CRANBERRY SAUCE

2 pounds ocean perch or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen

1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry sauce
1/3 cup steak sauce
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon salad oil
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
Parsley

Thaw frozen fish. Cut fish into serving-size portions and place in a single layer in a shallow baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients, except parsley. Beat with an electric or rotary beater until well mixed. Pour sauce over fish and let stand for 30 minutes, turning once. Remove fish, reserving sauce for basting. Place fish, skin side up, on a well-greased broiler pan. Brush with sauce. Broil about 4 inches from source of heat for 4 minutes. Turn carefully. Baste with sauce. Broil 4 minutes longer or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve with remaining sauce. Garnish with parsley and additional cranberry sauce, if desired.

The Art Of Better Buymanship

Learn Family's Unique Needs

First in a Series

What is a good food buy? The answer is not as simple as you might think when you consider that each family is unique and has varying resources as well as individual needs and desires. A good buy for your family may not be a good value for another family at all, a fact that is often overlooked in better, buymanship materials.

The first step in becoming a skilled food shopper and making the best buys for your family is to determine just what are your family's needs. Knowing what factors influence your family food choices will help you develop shopping patterns and skills that will make the most of your food dollar.

Consumer specialists in the Kraft Kitchens since 1924 have studied the taste preferences and needs of American consumers, building a special knowledge of family characteristics that apply to food buymanship. This same knowledge that guides new product development and product services can be applied to family food buying. To help you determine your family food needs, the Kraft Kitchens suggest you consider the following characteristics of your family:

Individual taste preferences and eating patterns.

Family size and make-up.

Time available for food preparation
Food budget
Life style.

Consumer specialists have found that all these factors influence your food choices. They affect the type and amount of food needed, the price paid for food, the use of convenience products, and overall food buying decisions.

To pinpoint your own family's preferences, consider those foods your entire family enjoys and those foods that appeal specifically to individuals. Can you afford to indulge individual tastes without shaking up the food budget? The decision is yours, keeping in mind that it's good sense and saves cents to buy products the whole family likes — the money spent giving greater value with less food waste.

Family size, and make-up also influence food spending, the quantity of food needed, and the type. Ask yourself these questions to determine your needs: How many members are there in your family and what are their ages, sex and activities? A family with three teenage boys, for example, will need more food and more substantial food than a family with two small children. A man whose work involves physical exertion will probably want a heartier meal at the end of the day than a desk worker would want.

NOW CONSIDER your time schedule. Are there enough hours in your day to plan and cook well-balanced, nutritious meals? Or are you short of time because you work outside the home or have small children requiring constant attention? Are you involved in community activities which keep you away from the kitchen? The actual time available for food preparation can determine how often you use convenience products or serve ready-to-eat foods and how many meals you eat away from home.

Family income plays a major role in determining food choices. How much are you willing to spend on food? With a limited budget, you'll probably choose to forego gourmet items and more expensive cuts of meat and plan menus around low-cost, equally nutritious foods. For instance, since meats take one-third of very food dollar, the budget-minded shopper often looks for less expensive cuts and lower-priced sources of protein such as cheese, fish, poultry and beans. Stews, soups, casseroles, and meat loaf help the pocketbook by stretching meat dishes while providing additional diet requirements.

Finally, recognizing family life style — what the family enjoys doing — is important in becoming a skillful food shopper. How you entertain — simply or elaborately — and what portion of time is spent in barbecuing, camp cooking, picnics, etc., affects your food spending. Consider, too, family eating habits and patterns. With busier schedules and more activities, many families find it impossible to sit down to three meals a day, and statistics show one out of every four meals is eaten away from home. This affects how much food is purchased, the type of meals to plan, and overall budget allocation.

Another trend in eating patterns is snacking. Rather than three square meals eaten each day, more and more families consume five smaller "mini-meals," which include many more snack items. Each should be nourishing, and for those with limited budgets, economical. Plan and prepare snack foods ahead, just as you do full course meals.

With your family analysis complete, you can see why food shopping becomes an individual matter. What's a good buy for you is definitely an individual decision. And when you know the factors affecting these decisions, you can make better choices and become a smarter shopper.

It's up to you to spend your food dollar wisely.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has developed a guide to help determine family food costs.

"Cost of Food at Home Estimated for Food Plans at Three Levels" presents rough guides to the amount and costs of food needed to provide well-balanced meals for a week or a month when all meals are eaten at home or carried from home.

The costs are based on the assumption that the family buys all the food it uses at prices similar to those paid by any urban family. The costs do not include money spent for nonfood items, such as laundry supplies, paper goods, and pet foods.

Here are the figures for three food plans for a family of four (man and woman, 20 to 35 years old; child 6 to 9; and boy 9 to 12 years):

The low-cost plan averages $31.50 a week or $137.20 a month.

The moderate-cost plan amounts to $40.50 a week or $175.30 a month.

Under the liberal plan, the food cost would be $49.80 a week or $215.80 a month.

Homemakers should remember that income is not the only factor that determines which food plan a family will use. The importance of food to the family also affects the amount spent for groceries.

The family's choice of food plans will also be affected by the size of the family, and the age and sex of the family members.

A copy of the USDA food plans, which also includes average costs for individuals according to age and sex, may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Karen Schnitgrund, 535 Bevier Hall, Urbana, Illinois 61801.

Manufacturers may have perfected cake mixes but they still haven't done the same for cooks. Many homemakers have discovered that a cakemix does not always mean a perfect cake everytime.

Over or undermeasurement of liquid can cause low volume in a cake. Undermixing or extreme overmixing will also have the same effect, just as too large a pan, or too low or too high oven temperature.

A sticky top crust is caused by storing cake covered while still warm; overmeasurement of liquid; under baking (too low oven temperature); and/or too short a baking time.

Uneven cakes or uneven browning may be the result of uneven heat circulation, bent pans, uneven shelf or having the pans too close together.

If you earned this when you were a SCOUT-

WE WANT YOU.

Nobody has got more out of Scouting than the men who earned the Eagle Badge.

But when you think about it, nobody owes more to Scouting, either. Any Eagle Scout will tell you how important Scouting was in shaping his confidence and his character.

If you earned the Eagle Badge, we want you back in Scouting—as a volunteer leader. Nobody is better equipped to lead boys to manhood.

America's manpower begins with BOYPOWER, and nothing builds BOYPOWER like the Scouts.

Veterans' News

Guidelines which give Vietnam veterans "absolute preference" for training slots in most programs funded by the Department of Labor were cited by Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson as another example of how government agencies at all levels are co-operating to help returning veterans find suitable jobs.

The Labor Department administrative changes aim to increase veteran participation in programs authorized by the Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA) and by the Economic Opportunity Act (EOA). About 74,000 veterans were recruited into these programs from July 1971 through January 1972, it was noted.

To ease the entry of young veterans into the classroom and on-the-job training components of MDTA programs, the Labor Department has waived some of the normal personal and income requirements for veteran enrollment.

FOR THE EOA PROGRAMS, however, veterans must meet the low-income family requirements. They then will be the first in line for such programs as the Concentrated Employment Program, Operation Mainstream, Public Service Careers, and Job Corps.

Administrator Johnson revealed the Veterans Administration is hiring veterans at the rate of almost 1,000 per month, attributed the February drop in veterans' unemployment to the close co-operation of federal and state governments, local agencies, business groups, and the national Jobs for Veterans Committee. These same groups will be co-operating in carrying out the Labor Department changes in MDTA and EOA.

VA was told that each regional Manpower Administrator (Labor Department) will immediately notify state employment agencies, and all sponsors including state governors, mayors and community action agencies regarding the changes.

State employment agencies will also be advised of existing training slots, and they will be given 48 hours to refer a veteran to vacancies. If veterans are not available to fill the slots, the jobs will be filled with others.

Suburban National Bank Opens House in Elk Grove June 1, 2, 3

Grand Opening Tours Spotlight Bank Services

Suburban National Bank of Elk Grove Village opens the doors to its all-new, ultramodern banking house to you and to all comers during its June 1-3 grand opening celebration.

The bank, which moved from its tiny temporary bank building located east of its present quarters in Elk Grove Village's Devon Avenue Market Center, is offering expanded existing services and adding new ones with you in mind.

Visitors will get a top-to-bottom tour of the two-story, 10,000 square foot colonial style bank building of red brick accented by slate-blue window shutters, Edward's walk and cupola at 500 E. Devon.

The lobby or main floor houses inside teller stations, double walk-up window, new accounts area, loan area, bank offices, night depository and four drive-in teller windows. The lower level presently holds only the safe deposit department.

The building, which blends with existing stores and offices in the Devon Avenue Market at Devon Avenue and Tonne Road, also features a comprehensive, up-to-date security package and attractive, bright interior decor. Architect was Theodore H. Meyer.

Bank Services

The expanded banking services include:

*Rapid pneumatic tube drive-in banking from four lanes with complete visibility of the teller station from each customer area;

*A full range of safe deposit boxes available in every standard size and at reasonable annual rates;

*A night depository allowing you or any personal and business customer to deposit money in the bank any day any time;

*A full array of savings programs that pay you the maximum interest rates annually — 4 1/2%, 5%, 5 1/2% or 5 3/4% depending on the amount of money and the length of time the money is on deposit with us.

*A choice of checking account plans that gives you the opportunity to choose the one that's right for you — that includes our Checking Plus which gives you a pre-authorized loan limit you can activate when and where you need it — our $200 minimum balance checking account which allows you to write an unlimited number of checks each month for free or for a flat charge of $2.00 if you fall below $200 — or our special checking account designed for accounts under $200 with limited check writing activity;

Bank Open Six Days Per Week

Suburban National Bank offers full-scale services five days a week and limited drive-in banking five days a week.

The lobby schedule is:
Monday, Tuesday, Thursday
9 am to 2 pm

Friday
9 am to 2 pm, 6 pm to 8 pm

Saturday
9 am to 12 noon

Drive in hours are:
Monday, Tuesday, Thursday
8 am to 6 pm

Wednesday
8 am to 12 noon

Friday
8 am to 8 pm

Saturday
8 am to 12 noon

*Loans covering your automobile, home improvement, installment and miscellaneous purchase needs and at reasonable bank rates;

*Collection of drafts, coupons and checks requiring special handling from other financial institutions;

*Sale of travelers checks protecting you and your money when you travel;

Business Services

*A wide array of commercial services that include business checking accounts, loans, receivables and inventory financing, accounts receivable, accounts payable lock box services, payroll services, freight bill paying and other computer services.

Accounts in the bank are insured up to $20,000 per account by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The bank is a member of the FDIC as well as of the Federal Reserve System and the Suburban Bank Group.

Visitors coming to Suburban National Bank's grand opening will receive refreshments and opportunities to win special gifts from the Mystery Teller (see story on column five, this page).

President Invites You to Bank Opening

Dear neighbor,

We hope you'll visit our new banking house during our grand opening celebration, June 1, 2 and 3. We think this extended weekend opening provides an unusual opportunity for us to get better acquainted with each other. And it gives us another chance to say "thank-you" for the warm welcome you've extended to us as newcomers in Elk Grove Village.

We think you'll like our new building and the extended banking services it makes possible. From our temporary trailer home we've moved into a 10,000 square foot building. From basic bank lobby service we've expanded to drive-in banking, safe deposit boxes, a six-day week and a whole array of other services that will be beneficial to you.

Suburban National Bank girls will gladly give you a tour of the new building and answer your questions about our bank and about banking.

We've got refreshments, souvenirs, prizes and the same warm welcome we've been giving our friends for the past six months. Please come see us.

Sincerely,

C. Michael Reese
President

Bank Doubles Size First Quarter 1972

Suburban National Bank of Elk Grove Village has set a blistering growth pace!

*The bank doubled its size the first three months of 1972!

*The bank grew from a capitalization of $500,000.00 to assets of $2,000,000.00 in less than six months.

*Bank deposits have risen from zero to $1,500,000.00 in the same time span.

The bank's rapid growth is due in part to the community involvement of its 188 shareholders, employees, officers and directors. The majority reside in Elk Grove Village; the remainder, in the area immediately adjacent. They live in the area; they pay local taxes; they're active in community affairs.

*They're active in community affairs.

Monies deposited in the bank are reinvested in sound loans to individuals and businesses in the community.

That's not all. The bank backs up its commitment to the local community with a full array of bank services.

Friendly, Efficient Staff Serves SNB Customers

Suburban National Bank has doubled its staff size — from five to ten members providing the friendly, professional banking assistance you want.

President Michael Reese has been with the Suburban Bank Group since his 1965 graduation from Valparaiso University. He advanced from Palatine National Bank management trainee to assistant cashier to assistant vice president to vice president with responsibility for commercial business and loans prior to his election as Suburban National Bank president.

He's a member of the American Institute of Banking, the Elk Grove Village Association of Industry and Commerce and the Rotary Club, of which he is both a charter member and treasurer. Reese also holds an M.B.A. from Northwestern University's Graduate School of Business.

Cashier Thomas J. Edfors is second-in-command at Suburban National Bank. Edfors, a 17-year banking veteran, has held general, assistant cashier and cashier posts at First National Bank of Chicago, Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Rolling Meadows, Lake Villa Trust and Savings Bank and Palatine National Bank. He is a member of AIB and Bank Administration Institute.

Virginia Morrow, newly appointed assistant cashier, has charge of new accounts; she ran the same department for Palatine National Bank before joining Suburban National Bank in November. Mrs. Morrow, an AIB member, has had twelve years of teller, bookkeeping and vault experience as well.

Teller Barbara Mero, a Suburban National Bank staffer since the bank's November opening, was formerly a North Central Airlines stewardess and a teller at Ameri-

Will You Win??? Only Our Mystery Teller Can Tell You

Will you be a winner in Suburban National Bank's June 1, 2 and 3 grand opening sweepstakes?

Only the Mystery Teller knows.

The machine on duty in our lobby is programmed to "read" the Mystery Teller cards you've been receiving via newspaper inserts and special mailings to your home and office. Belts sound — lights turn on, if you're a winner!

And as a winner, you'll get your choice of the 1,600 prizes our Mystery Teller is planning to give away during this three-day weekend period. These include:

Ashe Emergency Lights, flashing, red beacons, ready when and where you need them to signal auto and other emergencies and to attract help;

Phinney-Walker's famous travel alarms that go anywhere with you and keep you on time everywhere;

The fashionable and rain-proof clear bubble umbrellas that give you 360° visibility in the heaviest rains;

And marvelous, colorful vinyl tote bags for your beach and vacation convenience this year and for years to come.

If the Mystery Teller doesn't designate you a winner, we'll still make you one. Simply open a $50 checking or savings account with us — or if you're already a Suburban National Bank saver, qualify for one of our prizes by adding $50 to your existing account.

So come and see if you're a winner June 1, 2 or 3. The lobby is open from 9 to 2 on Thursday, from 9 to 2 and 6 to 8 on Friday and from 9 till noon Saturday. We're presenting key tags and helium filled balloons to all comers.

And if our special readings have missed you, please come to our bank and pick up a Mystery Teller entry.

We want you to come to our grand opening; we want you to be a winner.

Mayor Proposes Salary Hike For Elected Officials

by NANCY COWGER

Salary increases for part-time elected officials in Hoffman Estates ranging as high as $8,400 annually have been proposed by Mayor Frederick Downey.

The suggested salaries are between $8,000 and $8,400 for the mayor, $3,000 and $3,600 for trustees, and $2,400 for a part-time village clerk. An $8,400 salary for a full-time village clerk is also proposed.

Current salaries are $1,500 for mayor, plus $600 for liquor commissioner, with the mayor now holding both jobs; $15 per board meeting for trustees, with a yearly maximum of $720; and $750 for village clerk.

DOWNEY CONFIRMED yesterday he had made the suggestions for pay raises in a letter sent to trustees about 10 days ago. He had not asked for any response, and had not yet received any, he said.

However, a poll of trustees yesterday indicated all six consider Downey's proposal too high, although most would favor salary increases to a much lesser extent.

Downey said he made the proposal because he does not think the elected officials "are getting paid enough for their jobs," and cited the time they spend doing them and the responsibilities the jobs entail.

SALARIES HAVE not changed since 1959, Downey noted, and any new salaries adopted would first go in effect for any officials elected in 1973 or later. They would not apply to persons currently in office, unless they run and are elected again.

Also, said Downey, the village is growing, and the work load for officials will increase, not decrease. Salaries should not be determined on the basis of who is elected, but on what the position is worth, he said.

"The only way we have in the American system to evaluate peoples' performance is monetarily," he added.

Downey said he spent from 20 to 30 hours per week on his job, and he estimated trustees spend 50 to 60 hours per month.

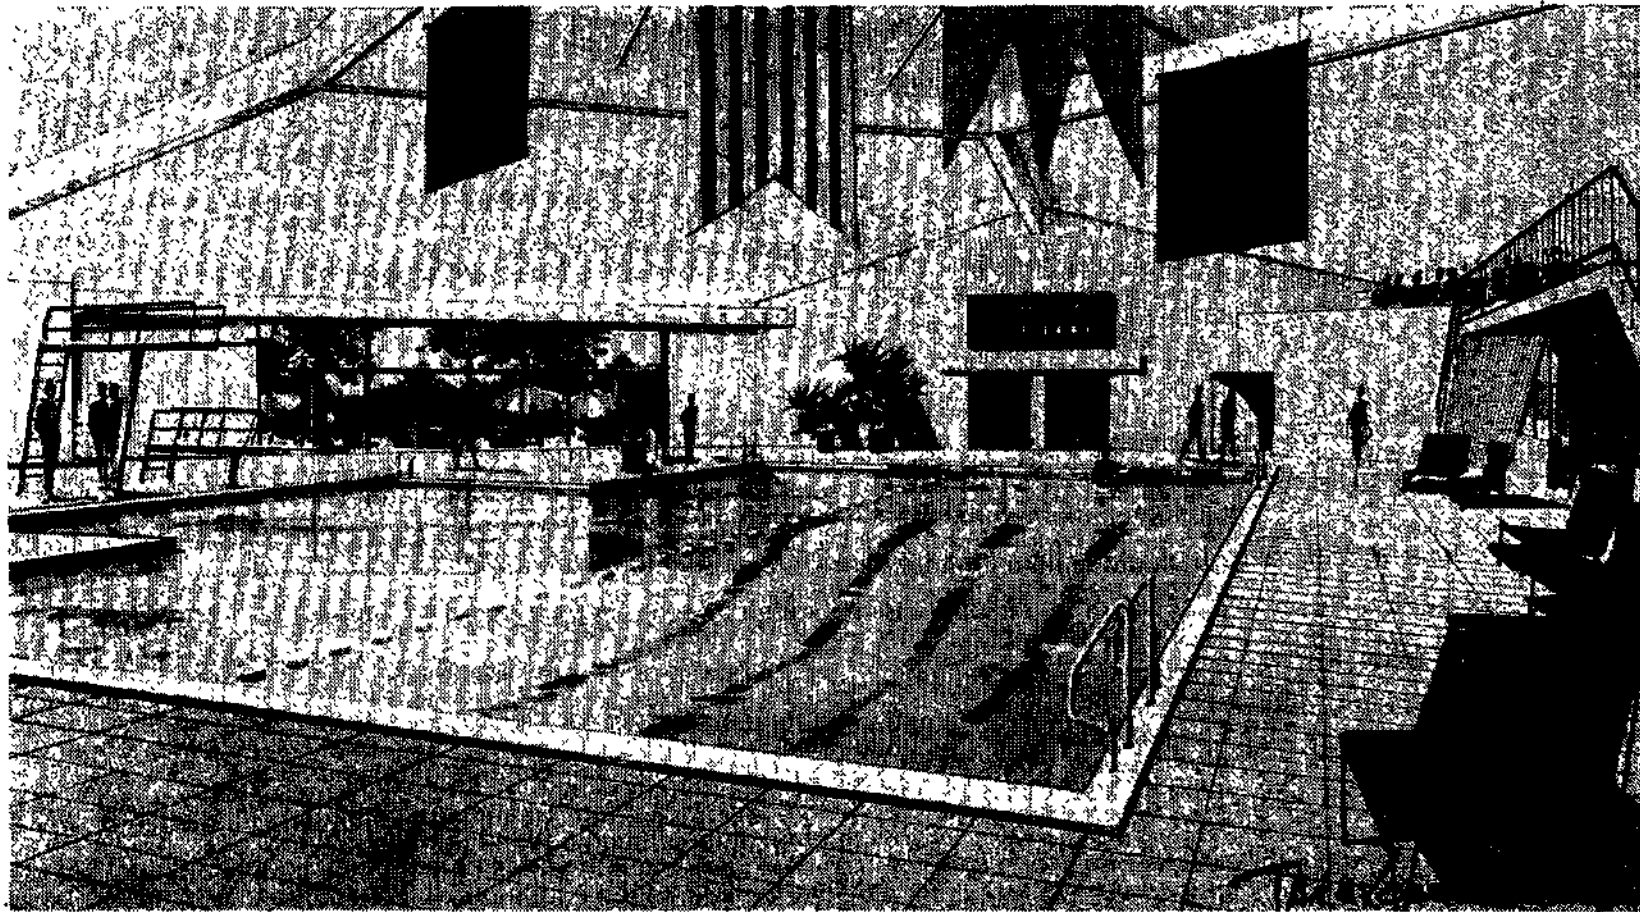

Action must be taken on the mayor's salary four months before the next election, said Downey. While he said he did not think there was a time limit for the other elected jobs, other than prior to the election, he assumed they would be settled at the same time.

ALL EXCEPT ONE of the trustees said they favored raising salaries, some suggesting $100 a month for the positions they hold and others suggesting $150. For the mayor's position, the suggestions ranged from $1,800 a year to $3,000.

Trustee Virginia Hayter was the only trustee who said "I'm satisfied with what we get now," and she noted that each elected official has the opportunity to submit expense accounts to recoup out-of-pocket money.

Generally, the trustees commented their offices are sought for civic reasons, and not for compensation they might expect.

Some of the trustees also said they felt the village was reaching the population size where a full-time mayor should be considered, and an appropriate salary for that type position would be in the neighborhood of $20,000 yearly.

TAKING A DIVE might be a year-round possibility if the Hoffman Estates Park District's June 10 referendum is approved. This is an architect's rendering of the indoor swimming pool proposed for the Hoffman Estates High School as part of the park district's improvement project.

Park Referendum Is June 10

Pool OK Would Expand Swim Program

As many as 3,000 young persons and adults will be able to participate in low cost learn-to-swim programs all year long if the proposed $1.1 million park improvement referendum is approved on June 10, park officials say.

The vastly expanded instructional swimming program would become a reality if the indoor pool at the Hoffman Estates High School gains voter approval.

The pool, which will cost about $475,000 makes up one part of a two-question referendum proposed by the park district. The remainder of the bond issue will be spent for a general park improvement program at all the parks in the district.

"We will be able to give the community a thorough swimming program with the indoor pool," said Al Binder, park district director.

BESIDES THE increased numbers the district will be able to serve with the pool, the quality of the program should exceed the 10-day sessions that the park district offers during the summer, he added. The district can teach about 500 youngsters each summer.

The pool will be jointly operated by High School Dist. 211 and the park district. Officials from both groups are currently working on final arrangements on an operating and cost sharing agreement.

"The pool will be serving the community seven days a week all year long," Binder said.

He explained during the school year, the high school will use the pool until about 7 p.m. each weekday. The evenings will open for general recreation swimming and organized age-group swimming programs. ON THE WEEKENDS the pool will be available for instructional programs; specialized courses, like life saving or synchronized swimming, and open sessions.

The pool would also make it possible for Hoffman Estates High School and possibly one other nearby school to form interscholastic swim teams. Presently none of the schools in Dist. 211 offers such a program.

Full-year family passes for use of both the indoor pool and the Lions Pool would cost only $40.45 for the entire family, Binder estimates. This year, family passes for use of the outdoor pool cost nearly $50.

Special groups, like scouts or other youth organizations can be accommodated for swimming outings all year-round, Binder stated. He also anticipates that the pool will be available on a rental basis for special parties.

Delay Weaver Trial Until At Least July

by STEVE BROWN

The federal district court trial on a recent six-count indictment against Schaumburg State Bank Pres. Ward A. Weaver probably will not start until at least July 1, according to attorneys for Weaver and the government.

Weaver's attorney, Joseph Lamendella entered a plea of not guilty for the banker during a brief arraignment hearing yesterday. Erwin D. Oosting, Weaver's codefendant also pleaded not guilty. Both men waived formal reading of the 12-page indictment in open court.

Weaver and Oosting have both been indicted on charges of making false entries in the records of three suburban banks during 1967 and 1968.

Lamendella said he planned to file pretrial motions on the indictments before proceeding to trial.

"This indictment involves some very complex financial matters and we could not possibly be ready for trial before July 1," he explained.

Federal District Court Judge Thomas R. McMillen set June 7 as the date for a status report on the case and the entering of pretrial motions.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Frank Murtha agreed that July 1 would be the earliest the case could come to trial.

The indictment against Weaver and Oosting, president of the Bank of Clarendon Hills, alleges the two men falsified bank records at the Schaumburg State Bank, the Bank of Clarendon Hills and the Evanston Trust and Savings Bank to show loans and transfers of funds totaling more than $630,000 to the Mar-K-Z Motors and Leasing Company, Inc.

Murtha has refused to say whether he believes the two accused men allegedly took the money from the banks or made the false entries to cover deficiencies from bad loans.

Weaver has been president of the Schaumburg Bank since it was formed. He took a leave of absence from the bank when indicted.

Defer Talks On Condominium Bill

Hearings slated for yesterday morning before the Illinois Senate Judiciary Committee on a proposed condominium truth-in-selling law were not held.

According to the office of State Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, who introduced the bill in the Senate, discussion was deferred. The committee meets at 9 a.m. every Wednesday, and presumably the bill will be taken up next week, Graham's office said, although it is not definite.

The bill has been passed in the house, where it was introduced by State Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect. Regner worked with Hoffman Estates Plan Commission chairman Richard Regan in drafting the bill.

Regan and several village residents of condominiums had planned to testify at the hearing yesterday. They might not do so, however, since Regan has received indications there may be no opposition to the bill in the Senate. The bill was opposed in the house by the Home Builders Association of Illinois, which lobbied for an amendment to weaken the bill.

Ex-Policeman Kweik Seeks Administrative Review

A petition seeking an administrative review of the Schaumburg Fire and Police Commission's dismissal of former police officer Raymond T. Kweik will be filed in Cook County Circuit Court early next month.

The decision to file the suit was made after the commission denied a request for a rehearing on the matter, according to Sherwin B. Kite, Kweik's attorney.

Kweik was fired last month on charges of removing confidential police records, making false statements, insubordination, incompetency, and inefficiency.

Kite, who is a partner in the law firm Silverman and Kite, 1 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, did not represent Kweik during the police and fire commission hearing.

KITE SAID IT would take about two weeks to draw up the formal petition requesting the review.

"We feel there are certain matters concerning the hearing and the transcript that were glossed over and will probably result in an overturning of the commission's decision or an order for a new hearing," Kite stated. He declined to elaborate on the specifics of the petition.

Many of the charges against Kweik stem from his role in the dismissal of another police officer who had been charged with grand theft. Kweik was also implicated in so-called "Greenfield Letters." The letters which were sent to Schaumburg village officials and the media suggested the police acted improperly.

A Cook County Sheriff's Police investigation cleared the department and Police Chief Martin Coaroy of any wrongdoing.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine. Latest medical bulletins said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blond bushy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 6 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sens. George S. McGovern, coming off smashing wins in Oregon and Rhode Island, and Hubert H. Humphrey. Meanwhile, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Former Jersey City, N. J., Mayor John V. Kenny, 80, one of the last of the old-time big-city political bosses, was fined the maximum $50,000 for income tax evasion. He also faces a maximum of 18 years in prison.

The State

A Kensington District patrolman, Robert L. Gallowitch, 31, became the first Chicago policeman killed in the line of duty this year when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle after he answered a burglary alarm at a South Side jewelry store.

The World

A South African Airways Boeing 727 was hijacked by two "dark-skinned" men only minutes before landing in Johannesburg on a flight from Salisbury, Rhodesia with 61 other persons aboard. The men, who threatened to blow up the plane, demanded to be flown to Madagascar.

Mounting Roman Catholic support for peace efforts in Northern Ireland has pushed the rival wings of the outlawed Irish Republican Army to the brink of a shooting war, IRA sources said.

The War

The United States and South Vietnam rejected for the second consecutive week a Communist proposal to resume the Paris peace talks.

The Market

With some glimmers paving the way, the stock market scored a small gain in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Some investors were cautious. The Dow Jones Industrial average rose 3.16 to 985.46. The average price of a NYSE common share increased 19 cents. Turnover amounted to 17,870,000 shares, up from the 16,410,000 traded Tuesday. Advances edged declines 764 to 661. Prices were slightly higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Flooding Report Is Reaffirmed

Results of a final report on flooding problems recently experienced by a Timbercrest family were reaffirmed by village officials this week.

However, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strobel, 1 Treebark Ct., appear dissatisfied with the attitude of local officials.

Mrs. Strobel, at Tuesday's village board meeting, asked for written documentation of village findings to present to the Illinois Department of Health. She also accused the village board of showing an "irresponsible" attitude toward the situation.

Last month, Mrs. Strobel reported two years' experience with sewer backups in her home which, on many occasions, involved raw sewage covering her lower level floor.

A subsequent investigation by the village determined that problems suffered by the Strobel family result, in part, from small debris, such as gravel and twigs, which may have been deposited in a storm sewer.

Procedures which involved televised inspection of the sewers revealed obstructions such as a towel and numerous heavy grease collections, said Joe Zgonina, village engineer.

"SEWERS ARE conduits for human waste, not garbage," Zgonina said, adding he does not think it up to the public works department to instruct homeowners in proper use of sewers.

Installation of an overhead sewer could reduce or eliminate problems, village officials think. They suggested that the Strobel's investigate this method of correction.

The village public works department has promised to initiate a regular series of sewer checks at the Strobel site and to flush the area regularly.

Hoffman Estates Board OKs Hospital Study Fee

Allocation of $3,500 for a share of costs of a hospital feasibility study of the Schaumburg Township area was approved by the Hoffman Estates Village Board this week.

Although the approval was by unanimous vote, Trustee Ed Hennessy initiated discussion by questioning the village's role in attracting a hospital to the community.

"I have never been able to convince myself we should expend great time and money to acquire a hospital. I have wondered about it for years," said Hennessy.

He also asked about the differences between turnkey and community hospitals, and asked if the village would "have any say on what is done" in a community hospital, should one be constructed within the corporate limits.

The committee to which the money is allotted has aimed itself at establishing a not-for-profit hospital if one is developed locally.

Trustee Virginia Hayter added references on community planning, which stated health care is among the services that should be available in well-planned municipalities. She also said community hospitals must be built with a portion of financing pledged by residents of the community, and the community generally is represented on the board of directors.

Mayor Frederick Downey said a turnkey hospital is generally a private institution, run for profit, while community hospitals are nonprofit.

REGARDING CONTROLS, Hennessy said hospital expenses are "outstripping other areas in the cost of living rise," and asked if the community could in any way control profit-making. Mrs. Hayter said the cost increases result from bringing the pay of service employees, such as those in hospital laundries, up to national norms, and added the board of directors would oversee profits.

The village is participating in the feasibility study along with the villages of Schaumburg, Hanover Park and Roselle, and with Northwest Community Hospital and Alexian Brothers Medical Center. The two hospitals are paying 50 per cent of the study costs, and the villages are to split the rest, although the other three have not officially approved their allocations. Also, the committee has applied for state grants.

The board also discussed requests it will make to the state highway department relating to its sodding program along Higgins Road and a number of traffic control measures to be considered at various locations.

The board directed Attorney Edward Hofer to prepare an amendment to the village weed control ordinance, requiring property owners to cut weeds a minimum of twice each month from June through September, rather than three times during the summer as it now stands.

June 6 At McDonald's

McDonald's Slates Scotty Novak Day

Scotty Novak Day will be held June 6 at McDonald's in Schaumburg and Hanover Park as part of a growing effort to help pay major medical expenses.

"Both McDonald's have agreed to donate all proceeds received from 5 to 7 p.m. that day to the Scotty Novak Fund," said Mrs. Sylvia Suberlak, a Weatherfield neighbor who organized the drive to offset medical expenses for the boy.

Scott, 10, suffers an affliction that causes tumors and affects the central nervous system.

Expenses for total care of the Schaumburg boy during a recent stay at Chicago's Children's Memorial Hospital exceeded $400 daily.

Dominick's Finer Foods, Hanover Park, will assist in the Novak Fund Wednesday, June 7, when 5 per cent of the total sales of persons holding special cards will be given to the drive.

Cards may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Suberlak at 894-4641.

PROCEEDS FROM A recent film festival totaled $82.90, and a car wash netted $35.00 for the Novak Fund.

Future Sign Ordinance Variations Are Unlikely

In Schaumburg, it is unlikely that future variations from an ordinance limiting signs to a maximum of 100 square feet will be granted.

Meeting Tuesday, trustees agreed to strict adherence of requirements of the existing sign ordinance and refused to authorize variations for Fireside Chrysler-Plymouth and Snyder's Walgreen Agency Drugs.

$6,000 Raised At Police Dinner-Dance

Nearly $6,000 was raised at a dinner-dance Saturday night to benefit the Schaumburg Police Benevolent Fund, said Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy.

"The event was a great success and I wish to thank everyone in the community who supported the effort," Conroy said.

The dinner-dance was held at the Lancer's Steak House in Schaumburg. Conroy said more than 700 persons attended the affair.

The money raised by the dinner dance will be used to buy uniforms and equipment for the department, Conroy said. He explained a board composed of members of the department decides what the funds raised from the annual event and other contributions go toward each year.

Summer Track Is Planned By Parks

Registration for a Schaumburg Park District summer track program is being held through Friday of this week from 9 to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. every day. Youths and adults may register at Meineke Community Center, 220 E. Weathersfield Way, or by calling 894-4680.

A jogging club for men and women will be held Monday and Wednesday evenings, while programs for age five through high school will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Meets will take place on Thursday evenings with ribbons awarded for top finishers. The overall program will start June 26.

Police Consultants To Address Board

The Board of Education of High School Dist. 211 will hear a report from the police consultants in its four high schools at its meeting today.

The board will meet at 8 p.m. in the administration building, 1750 Roselle Rd., Palatine.

In addition, the board will receive a recommendation on establishing an expanded girls' athletics program. The board at its last meeting asked board member Anna Countryman to study the proposal for the expanded program being prepared by the Mid-Suburban League.

The expanded program will increase the number of interscholastic sports in which girls can participate.

Typewriters, Tools Taken In Burglary

Typewriters and tools valued at about $1,900 were taken in a burglary of a Schaumburg firm earlier this week.

Police said that a window at the Fauver Co., 519 Lunt Ave., Schaumburg was forced either late Tuesday night or early Wednesday.

Three typewriters, assorted tools and about $100 in cash was reported missing to the police. An investigation of the burglary is under way, police said.

Jaycees' Answer To Burt Reynolds

Naked Truth—A Cosmopolitan Guy

by PAT GERLACH

Barry Goldberg, 30, peeled off some of his clothing early this month, posed for pictures and was subsequently elected president of the Schaumburg Jaycees.

A systems analyst with United Air Lines, Goldberg somewhat sheepishly admits he is not in the habit of making what would appear to be nude public appearances.

"I reluctantly agreed to pose for the pin-up type publicity move because the Jaycees election campaign began to get heated and quite a few people were up-tight," he said.

Its purpose was merely to try and turn the campaign onto a lighter footing, according to Goldberg.

"Like the Village of Schaumburg, our Jaycees chapter is really exploding with a total of 115 interested and completely committed members," he said.

While Goldberg predicted that Schaumburg Jaycees will become the number two chapter in their region this year, he placed far heavier emphasis on the group becoming "number one in our village rather than in the state Jaycees."

"Our plans call for becoming more involved in our community and placing greater emphasis on youth programs," the new president said.

THIS YEAR the Jaycees will coordinate Schaumburg's second annual Septemberfest and will plan for a winter festival centering around cold-weather sports and snowmobile racing along with scores of other activities now on the drawing board.

Since his initial involvement with Schaumburg Jaycees over two years ago, Goldberg has spent 25 to 30 hours per week in the group's activities.

"The overall idea of a Jaycees chapter is personal development by participation within a community and there is something vibrant about our village and the group of people involved here," Goldberg feels.

He sees the cross-section of the community now actively involved in the Jaycees as "men who in the next five to 10 years will be leaders in their own individual fields."

Goldberg is staunch in his belief "that the future of Schaumburg lies in people like our present group of Jaycees" and plans to tailor chapter activities accordingly.

How did Mrs. Goldberg feel about "that picture"?

"Oh, she really didn't say much... but she took quite a few pictures of us taking 'the picture,'" the Jaycees leader said.

Salary Dispute Blocks Settlement

Salary is the only thing standing in the way of an early settlement to contract negotiations in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Elementary Dist. 15, serving Winston Knolls.

Four of the five points of the initial proposal prepared by the negotiating team for the Classroom Teachers Council (CTC) were met Monday when the board of education's negotiating team presented a counter proposal. The only point the two teams are not in agreement on is salary.

"The board's team proposed a compensation plan which was less than the original proposal made by the teachers," said Frank Whiteley, superintendent and spokesman for the negotiators.

The CTC team had asked for approximately an 8 per cent increase in salaries. Whiteley would not reveal what the board's team offered and also declined to comment on how far apart the two teams are.

Whiteley emphasized the board's proposal was presented as a total package and if the CTC failed to accept any part of the package the board could alter the entire proposal or any part of it.

THE CTC negotiating team has taken the board's proposal under advisement.

The four points the two teams are in agreement on are extended Blue Cross-Blue Shield coverage, extended sick leave, changes in salary payment schedules and changes in the schedule for the deduction of professional dues.

At the present time teachers have Blue Cross-Blue Shield coverage for the 10 months they are teaching. The proposal is to extend the coverage for the single working person for the two months during the summer.

The board's team agreed to extend sick leave for teachers to 105 days. Currently teachers can accumulate up to 90 days of sick leave. Under the new proposal teachers will receive 10 sick days a year and when they have accumulated 90 days they will receive 15 sick days the next year for a total of 105 sick days.

The board's team has also agreed to make salary payments to teachers every two weeks instead of twice a month. This will increase the number of salary payments from 24 to 26 a year.

The final point of agreement is to deduct professional dues from 20 paychecks instead of six as is presently done.

Whiteley said he could not release figures on how much the board's proposal would cost the district.

No date has been set for the next negotiations session but Whiteley said he expected the two teams to meet sometime late next week.

"Both teams are trying very hard and cooperating to see if they can't end negotiations before the end of the school year," said Whiteley.

Officer Leaves Port

Navy Petty Officer Second Class Paul C. Graessle has sailed for the Mediterranean sea aboard nuclear-powered submarine USS Haddo. His home port is New London, Conn. Graessle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Graessle Jr., 420 Hawthorn Ln., Hoffman Estates.

HOW THE RICH GET RICHER

It's really very simple. The Rich get richer by letting their money make more money. You can do the same.

You've heard a lot about the successes of the Rich in the stock and real estate markets. Here you can both gain — or lose — a lot of money. If you might need your money in a hurry, you risk having to sell your investments for a lot less than you paid for them. These are good investments for those who can afford to take risks or those who have a substantial base of savings behind them.

But very few of us are rich, or even on the road to being rich. Very likely you are most concerned with keeping the money you've already got and seeing it grow enough to prepare you for retirement or to provide you with extra income.

For people like yourself the best way to put your money to work may be 6% Certificates of Deposit from Palatine Savings and Loan. These certificates combine a high yield with the safety and convenience of a savings account.

Risk? None! Your certificate is insured just like a savings account. And the interest rate is guaranteed for two years or more. Return? 6% per annum compounded daily to yield a high 6.18% yearly — and without costly brokerage charges. That's earnings of $309.15 per year on a $5,000 investment or $1,236.60 on a $20,000 investment, if left in for a full year. Availability? With a 6% certificate you agree to keep a minimum of $5,000 with us for two years. But if you really need it, you can have your money on demand with the loss of only 90 days interest.

Some financial institutions are lowering their certificate rates. We are not. If you have $5,000 or more of hard earned money that you want to put to work, complete the coupon below.

Wheeling May Join Emergency Care Network

Buffalo Grove and possibly Wheeling, are to be included in the mobile emergency care network being set up at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Hospital Pres. Malcolm D. MacCoun indicated at a meeting of area fire chiefs Tuesday that the addition of Buffalo Grove, which would operate one mobile unit, would not adversely affect the network.

The suggested number of units served by a participating hospital is eight, but 12 already are included in the local system, and more may be added.

Dr. Stanley Zydlo, who is training firemen in paramedical techniques, said it "doesn't matter how many units there are. It's the number of calls that counts."

He estimated that emergency calls handled on the network would overlap only seven-tenths of one per cent of the time.

Zydlo also pointed out that emergency vehicles could be directed to another hospital that may be considered more convenient or preferable by the patient.

For example, if a case arose in Hoffman Estates, doctors at Northwest Community Hospital could transmit instructions to the firemen on the scene while at the same time contacting nearby Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village that the patient was en route, Zydlo said.

EVENTUALLY, other area hospitals, may set up mobile emergency networks for surrounding communities or, if necessary, the Arlington Heights hospital may add a second receiver to handle additional calls, according to MacCoun.

Currently expected to participate in the network are fire departments in Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

In addition, a private ambulance service, Delta Ambulance, has indicated its vehicles also will be equipped and its attendants trained for the program. Another firm, Arlington Ambulance, plans to get the equipment at a later date, but is training its attendants now.

Wheeling Fire Chief E. Koepfen said his village is considering joining the network, but has not made a definite commitment.

The service is expected to begin in August. It involves firemen and ambulance attendants transmitting data on a patient's condition to doctors in the hospital emergency room, who would relay instructions over a two-way radio on how to care for the patient before his arrival at the hospital.

Equipment is to be ordered by the end of June from Dann Co., Beachwood, Ohio, which submitted the low bid for Pioneer Medical System equipment.

The cost is $7,000 for the hospital and close to $5,700 for each mobile unit. Villages split by railroad tracks must acquire two units.

LEGISLATION enabling paramedical personnel to administer drugs and apply an electrical shock to restore heartbeat, under the supervision of a physician, is being considered by the Illinois Senate.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, the bill has been endorsed by Illinois State Medical Society and the head of the state division of emergency medical services.

Three other groups, the Chicago Board of Health, Illinois Hospital Association and Illinois Nursing Association, are studying the bill.

According to Anne Zimmerman, executive administrator of the organization, the nursing group has taken no formal stand.

are: fireman Dominick Saviano Jr. and Bob Douglas of Buffalo Grove and Bill Arnett of Wheeling. They are receiving instruction in the use of a defibrillator from Mrs. Florence Larabee, a nurse at Northwest. The defibrillator and nearly $5,000 worth of other equipment will be employed by local fire departments and two ambulance services when taking victims to the hospital. The paramedic program will hopefully be ready for service in August.

Police 'Sashay' In New Uniforms

One model pirouetted on one foot to show off the new style while a second asked the audience, "Would you like to see a sashay?"

The scene was not quite that of a typical fashion show, however.

The models were Wheeling police lieutenants Ronald Nelson and Thomas Conte.

And the fashions were new uniforms for the police lieutenants.

The appreciative audience included local citizens and the village trustees at the village board meeting Monday.

The new uniforms — navy blue blazers with the village crest on the pockets, gray slacks and white shirts — were shown to the board by the lieutenants at the request of Director of Public Safety Roger Stricker.

Both men took off their jackets to show off the white shirts which are cut like the blue ones worn by other policemen in the village.

STRICKER EXPLAINED to the board that the lieutenants can replace the blazer with a field jacket and hat in case they are required to work a traffic detail or crime investigation.

He also noted that the blazers are specially cut to cover the automatic pistols the two men wear strapped to their waists.

In addition, the patches on the blazer pockets are clipped on for easy removal in case the lieutenant wants his identity as a policeman to be kept secret, Stricker said.

Stricker told the Herald the new uniforms have proved helpful in calming people who are upset about having to come into a police station. He said the lieutenants look less awesome to residents because they are dressed in less "military" uniforms.

At the meeting Monday Nelson got applause as he twirled on his toe and Conte got a laugh when he offered to sashay.

Trustee Edward Berger commented that the lieutenants were "two beautiful models."

State Division of Highway officials will meet with Wheeling Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon Wednesday to discuss the village's request for traffic lights at the intersection of Dundee Road with Schoenbeck Road and St. Armand Lane.

George Richter of the state will meet with Scanlon and other village officials at 9 a.m.

The meeting is the result of a list of traffic accidents at the corner which the village sent to the state recently.

An earlier effort by the village to get lights at the intersection was refused by the state because traffic volumes were not heavy enough.

The village submitted the accident statistics in hopes they could be considered as a reason for the lights. "It's another effort on our part to press the issue," Scanlon said.

AT THE VILLAGE board meeting Monday, Trustee John Koepfen announced plans for the meeting. Koepfen and trustee Michael Valenza asked administrative assistant Roger Stricker to attend the meeting with Scanlon and question the state officials about getting walks and turn signals installed at the intersections of Wolf and Dundee roads, and Elmhurst and Dundee roads.

Valenza said when the new Wickes furniture store opens, a left turn light for cars traveling north on Wolf Road would decrease traffic problems.

In other roadway work discussions Monday, the board learned the state approved expenditure of $551,000 in Motor Fuel Tax rebates for the realignment of Wheeling Road.

Trustee Edward Berger suggested village engineer Thomas Moody be directed to proceed with the next step in preparations for road work the village hopes to begin this summer.

The realignment will include extending McHenry Road across Dundee Road south to meet the northern end of Wheeling Road.

The realignment will provide an entrance from Dundee Road to the village's industrial sections.

IN OTHER ACTION: The village board accepted a bid of $11,305.30 from the M and W Construction Co. of Wheeling to install a water main loop from Wolf Road to Milwaukee Avenue in northern Wheeling.

The new eight-inch main which will run across an easement recently donated to the village will provide better circulation of water to that area of the village.

Four other companies also bid on the work with one company submitting a bid of more than twice that of the low bidder.

The village may be able to do the job at an even lower cost ($9,975.30) if the state approves a request to allow the village to open-cut Wolf Road instead of tunneling under it.

Trustee William Hein announced a meeting will be scheduled soon to inform local residents about the plans for the widening of the Wheeling drainage ditch. Hein said the meeting will be set to explain ditch widening plans north of Heritage Park to Wolf Road, once the engineering date is collected.

He said residents have expressed concern about the work. Facts will be explained at the meeting.

Wheeling Park District board members a week ago noted many of the trees along the ditch will have to be cut down to allow for the widening. That is a part of the village flood control program.

State To Consider Intersection Lights

Holmes Concerts Set

Oliver Wendell Holmes orchestras will have their final concert of the year at 8 tonight. The beginning and intermediate orchestras will perform.

The school's final band concert of the year will be June 2 in the school gymnasium. The beginning, cadet and concert bands will perform at that 8 p.m. concert.

The public is invited to both performances.

Halls To Close

The Wheeling and Buffalo Grove municipal buildings will be closed Monday for Memorial Day.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for a country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. . . Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine. . . Latest medical bulletins said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blood busboy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 6 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sen. George S. McGovern, coming off smashing wins in Oregon and Rhode Island, and Hubert H. Humphrey. . . Meanwhile, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Former Jersey City, N.J., Mayor John V. Kenny, 80, one of the last of the old-time big-city political bosses, was fined the maximum $30,000 for income tax evasion. He also faces a maximum of 18 years in prison.

The State

A Kensington District patrolman, Robert L. Gallowitch, 31, became the first Chicago policeman killed in the line of duty this year when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle after he answered a burglary alarm at a South Side jewelry store.

The World

A South African Airways Boeing 727 was hijacked by two "dark-skinned" men only minutes before landing in Johannesburg on a flight from Salisbury, Rhodesia with 61 other persons aboard. The men, who threatened to blow up the plane, demanded to be flown to Madagascar.

Mounting Roman Catholic support for peace efforts in Northern Ireland has pushed the rival wings of the outlawed Irish Republican Army to the brink of a shooting war, IRA sources said.

The War

The United States and South Vietnam rejected for the second consecutive week a Communist proposal to resume the Paris peace talks.

The Market

With some glamors paving the way, the stock market scored a small gain in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Some investors were cautious. The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.16 to 965.46. The average price of a NYSE common share increased 19 cents. Turnover amounted to 17,870,000 shares, up from the 16,410,000 traded Tuesday. Advances edged declines 764 to 661. Prices were slightly higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Weaver Trial Delayed

by STEVE BROWN

The federal district court trial on a recent six-count indictment against Schaumburg State Bank Pres. Waid A. Weaver probably will not start until at least July 1, according to attorneys for Weaver and the government.

Weaver's attorney, Joseph Lamendella, entered a plea of not guilty for the banker during a brief arraignment hearing yesterday. Erwin D. Oosting, Weaver's codefendant also pleaded not guilty. Both men waived formal reading of the 12-page indictment in open court.

Weaver and Oosting have both been indicted on charges of making false entries in the records of three suburban banks during 1967 and 1968.

Lamendella said he planned to file pre-trial motions on the indictments before proceeding to trial.

"This indictment involves some very complex financial matters and we could not possibly be ready for trial before July 1," he explained.

Federal District Court Judge Thomas R. McMillen set June 7 as the date for a status report on the case and the entering of pretrial motions.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Frank Murtha agreed that July 1 would be the earliest the case could come to trial.

The indictment against Weaver and Oosting, president of the Bank of Clarendon Hills, alleges the two men falsified bank records at the Schaumburg State Bank, the Bank of Clarendon Hills and the Evanston Trust and Savings Bank to show loans and transfers of funds totaling more than $630,000 to the Mar-K-Z Motors and Leasing Company, Inc.

Murtha has refused to say whether he believes the two accused men allegedly took the money from the banks or made the false entries to cover deficiencies from bad loans.

Weaver has been president of the Schaumburg Bank since it was formed. He took a leave of absence from the bank when indicted.

GERALD GILES

Sacred Heart Of Mary H. S.

School Free To Explore

by JOANN VAN WYE

"The utmost in academic freedom" — this is Gerald Giles' description of what Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows has to offer its students.

Giles, who was recently appointed principal of Sacred Heart effective July 1, explained that while it seems paradoxical, the very fact that Sacred Heart is a religiously-oriented school lends itself to more academic freedom.

"Religion is an important aspect of so many areas and here at Sacred Heart this aspect is integrated right into the curriculum," said Giles. Public schools often do not have as much liberty to explore the religious aspects of subjects, he said.

"The freedom to explore this important aspect of human existence is a very liberating factor."

Religious studies is the area Giles and Miss Louise Jacobs, newly named associate principal also effective July 1, are focusing most of their attention on as they plan for next year.

Sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded and staffed the school since its opening in 1961, will be leaving at the end of this school year.

"We will be deliberately having some sisters on the faculty next year," said Giles. "Preferably the sisters will be from different orders."

Giles and Miss Jacobs agreed they felt it was important to have sisters on the staff to serve as exemplars for the girls at Sacred Heart. By staffing the school with sisters from different orders, they feel the sisters can serve as exemplars of diverse interests and direction.

At the present time Giles, Miss Jacobs, and the Rev. James E. Michaletz, superintendent of Sacred Heart, are interviewing teacher candidates. The exact number of new teachers there will be next year is still unknown but all of the current teaching sisters and approximately 10 per cent of the lay faculty will be leaving.

"Flexibility and a readiness to interact with teenage girls of today on all issues on a personal level as well as strength in their academic field" are the qualifications the three are looking for as they interview candidates, according to Giles.

As to possible curriculum changes, Miss Jacobs said, "We are in the process of reviewing the curriculum now. It is difficult at this point to say what direction the curriculum will take."

Flexibility and an interdisciplinary approach to subjects will definitely be retained in the curriculum, according to Giles. He said he felt these two factors were important to develop responsible freedom in students, stimulate the faculty and show the interrelationship of various areas.

Time is the major problem facing Giles and Miss Jacobs now. Both are currently employed at other schools but they are trying to spend as much time as possible at Sacred Heart talking to students, parents and faculty and just getting the general feel of the school before they actually assume their new positions officially on July 1.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Previously he had been English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and an administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

He is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University, Chicago, his wife, and four children are looking for a home in the area.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching at Trinity High School and Rosary College, both in River Forest.

To Assist Board-PHEA Bargaining

Call Mediator For Talk Stalemate

The Prospect Heights Education Association (PHEA) and Dist. 23 School Board are calling in a mediator to assist the two sides in their current bargaining stalemate.

A letter was drafted by both sides after Tuesday night's bargaining session (the seventh since negotiations opened) to the American Arbitration Association (AAA) requesting that a mediator be sent in.

The PHEA restated its demand Tuesday that the mediator should be brought in if the school board would not enter into salary negotiations. The board, on the other hand, has refused to begin salary talks until a settlement is reached on the professional negotiations (PN) agreement which outlines such items as issues to be discussed along with bargaining methods and methods for grievance procedures. While the board negotiating team refused to bargain on the salary agreement, Henry Vallely, board spokesman said the board had agreed to negotiate two PN items it previously refused to discuss.

VALLELY WOULD not disclose however, what the two items were because the teachers wanted only to negotiate salary, or call in the mediator.

The present stall in the talks occurred earlier this month on several points of the professional negotiations agreement.

The teachers then proposed going into salary talks. That request was refused by the board last week.

The AAA is expected to present the two sides with a list of prospective mediators containing a background and biographical sketch of each from which one will mutually be chosen.

Mrs. Rosen Brast of the AAA said yesterday the PHEA and the school board will have to decide for themselves whether or not the talks with the mediator will be open or closed.

"BOTH SIDES will have to reach a mutual agreement as to whether the talks will be open or not. If only one side objects to open talks, they will have to remain closed."

Mrs. Brast feels that either side is within its rights to request closed negotiations.

Dist. 23 is one of two elementary school districts in the Northwest suburban area holding public negotiations sessions this year.

McDonald's Slates Scotty Novak Day

Scotty Novak Day will be held June 6 at McDonald's in Schaumburg and Hanover Park as part of a growing effort to help pay major medical expenses.

"Both McDonald's have agreed to donate all proceeds received from 5 to 7 p.m. that day to the Scotty Novak Fund," said Mrs. Sylvia Suberlak, a Weathersfield neighbor who organized the drive to offset medical expenses for the boy.

Scott, 10, suffers an affliction that causes tumors and affects the central nervous system.

Expenses for total care of the Schaumburg boy during a recent stay at Chicago's Children's Memorial Hospital exceeded $400 daily.

Dominick's Finer Foods, Hanover Park, will assist in the Novak Fund Wednesday, June 7, when 5 per cent of the total sales of persons holding special cards will be given to the drive.

Cards may be obtained by contacting

Mrs. Suberlak at 894-4641.

PROCEEDS FROM A recent film festival totaled $82.90, and a car wash netted $55.00 for the Novak Fund.

Last week a bake sale sponsored by Prospect Service Club, a new service organization at Prospect High School, collected $70 for donation to the Novak Fund.

The Prairie Eagle Nation Y-Indian Guides of Twinbrook YMCA also donated $62.77 to the fund last week.

A Wallace Prognosis

Paraplegics Can Lead Busy Lives

by DAVID HENDIN

NEA Science Editor

NEW YORK — Even if his physicians' worst fears come to pass and Gov. George Wallace becomes a permanent paraplegic, there is no reason to believe his political prognosis must be as grim as the medical one appears to be.

"The outlook cannot be predicted, but it is not favorable. It would be unusual to get complete recovery under these circumstances," said Dr. James Galbraith, head of the University of Alabama's Neurological Department and a member of the surgical team that operated on Wallace after a would-be assassin shot five low-caliber bullets into the candidate's midsection.

Physicians say that two of the bullets caused serious damage. All of them were removed except for one, which was lodged dangerously close to his spine. The injuries caused by this bullet were being blamed for a paralysis of Wallace's lower extremities.

Wallace suffered other wounds in the abdominal area. But the primary concern remains the possibility of permanent paralysis from the waist down, a condition known as paraplegia.

ONE OF THE surgeons attending the Alabama governor, Dr. Joseph Shanno, voiced early hope that Wallace would make a full recovery. He added, however, "At worst, you could say he would have the same disability as Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Although FDR was confined to a wheelchair for a number of years, his disability was due to polio. His legs were paralyzed, but he had feeling in them.

In paraplegia not only are the legs paralyzed, but there is no feeling in them, explains Dr. Howard A. Rusk, a pioneer in rehabilitative medicine and director of New York University's famed Institute of Rehabilitation Medicine (IRM), the largest such center in the country.

It is difficult, Rusk says, for physicians to determine the seriousness of Wallace's condition because when the spinal cord is injured there is an initial swelling process. The swelling, which is one of the body's first steps toward healing, "shows the same symptoms as lesions," or actual injuries to the spinal cord. If severed, nerve tissues, such as those the spinal cord is made of, do not heal.

THE SPINAL CORD is a bundle of nerves going from the brain to the muscles, skin and internal organs. It can be compared to an electric conduit which connects the power station with the lights in your home. If the conduit is cut the lights do not work. If the spinal cord is cut, parts of the body below the injury are separated from their connections with the brain.

If there is no permanent damage to the cord itself, and "if there is minimal swelling, there may be improvement quite early. But we have seen improvement go on not only for days and weeks but for months," Rusk explains.

It is estimated that there are 100,000 paraplegics and quadriplegics (all four limbs paralyzed) in the United States, and there are some 10,000 new cases each year. Most come from traumatic injuries associated with sports, automobile, diving or similar accidents.

Today, however, the paraplegic and quadriplegic can lead next-to-normal lives in literally every way.

"Fifteen years ago," Rusk says, "if you got 10 to 15 per cent of them back into some kind of life you thought you were doing pretty well."

BUT IN A RECENT follow-up study of 141 paraplegic and quadriplegic patients treated at IRM in the last three years, 83 per cent were found to be back at school or at work in gainful occupations.

"Prior to antibiotics and newer surgical techniques, bladder, kidney and skin care, the prognosis for life expectancy in the spinal cord-injured patient was very low," Rusk says.

Today, however, the life expectancy of the person with such injuries is within two years of normal — an average life span for quadriplegics and paraplegics of 70 years.

With proper rehabilitation they can learn to meet all the needs of daily living. They can drive their own car, with hand controls, type, shave, bathe and work office machines.

OVER THE YEARS the Institute for Rehabilitation Medicine has had scores of lawyers, executives and doctors as patients, and today they are all living full, active lives.

Indeed, today there are quadriplegics and paraplegics active in high government circles.

Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Alan Reich is a quadriplegic who broke his neck in a diving accident in 1962. At the time he was an executive with the Polaroid Corp. Today, he says from his office in the State Department, "One tends to get so involved in his work that he pays no attention to the disability."

Reich drives to work every day and goes to his office by wheelchair via an elevator.

"Doing a lot of flying in a wheelchair is a little bit awkward and cumbersome, particularly when it involves overnight travel, but the airlines have been terrific," he says.

LYMAN KIRKPATRICK, former executive officer of the CIA, is another quadriplegic, confined to his wheelchair because of a serious case of polio. Today Kirkpatrick is professor of political science at Brown University. He is now on leave he has taken the Chester W. Nimitz Chair of National Security and Foreign Affairs at the Naval War College.

Another active and well-known quadriplegic is former Brooklyn Dodger catcher Roy Campanella. After the accident that disabled him, Campanella has led a full life coaching baseball, doing his own radio program, charity work and raising his family.

"In the paraplegic with no complications our average training time to get to an ability to meet all needs of daily living is about 120 days," Rusk explains.

As far as recreation, the paraplegic is certainly limited by the fact that he cannot use his legs. But he can drive, shoot archery, bowl and even play basketball. The annual Para-Olympics also has shot putting and javelin throwing as events and they are "very hot and spirited games," say witnesses.

NEITHER IS MENTAL function affected by the paralyzing conditions. Once a person injured permanently in this way accepts his condition the battle is all but won, Dr. Rusk says.

HOW THE RICH GET RICHER

It's really very simple. The Rich get richer by letting their money make more money. You can do the same.

You've heard a lot about the successes of the Rich in the stock and real estate markets. Here you can both gain — or lose — a lot of money. If you might need your money in a hurry, you risk having to sell your investments for a lot less than you paid for them. These are good investments for those who can afford to take risks or those who have a substantial base of savings behind them.

But very few of us are rich, or even on the road to being rich. Very likely you are most concerned with keeping the money you've already got and seeing it grow enough to prepare you for retirement or to provide you with extra income.

For people like yourself the best way to put your money to work may be 6% Certificates of Deposit from Palatine Savings and Loan. These certificates combine a high yield with the safety and convenience of a savings account.

Risk? None! Your certificate is insured just like a savings account. And the interest rate is guaranteed for two years or more. Return? 6% per annum compounded daily to yield a high 6.18% yearly — and without costly brokerage charges. That's earnings of $309.15 per year on a $5,000 investment or $1,236.60 on a $20,000 investment, if left in for a full year. Availability? With a 6% certificate you agree to keep a minimum of $5,000 with us for two years. But if you really need it, you can have your money on demand with the loss of only 30 days interest.

Some financial institutions are lowering their certificate rates. We are not. If you have $5,000 or more of hard earned money that you want to put to work, complete the coupon below.

Buffalo Grove In Emergency Care Network

Buffalo Grove and possibly Wheeling, are to be included in the mobile emergency care network being set up at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Hospital Pres. Malcolm D. MacCoun indicated at a meeting of area fire chiefs Tuesday that the addition of Buffalo Grove, which would operate one mobile unit, would not adversely affect the network.

The suggested number of units served by a participating hospital is eight, but 12 already are included in the local system, and more may be added.

Dr. Stanley Zylo, who is training firemen in paramedical techniques, said it "doesn't matter how many units there are. It's the number of calls that counts."

He estimated that emergency calls handled on the network would overlap only seven-tenths of one per cent of the time.

Zylo also pointed out that emergency vehicles could be directed to another hospital that may be considered more convenient or preferable by the patient.

For example, if a case arose in Hoffman Estates, doctors at Northwest Community Hospital could transmit instructions to the firemen on the scene while at the same time contacting nearby Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village that the patient was en route, Zylo said.

EVENTUALLY, other area hospitals may set up mobile emergency networks for surrounding communities or, if necessary, the Arlington Heights hospital may add a second receiver to handle additional calls, according to MacCoun.

Currently expected to participate in the network are fire departments in Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

In addition, a private ambulance service, Delta Ambulance, has indicated its vehicles also will be equipped and its attendants trained for the program. Another firm, Arlington Ambulance, plans to get the equipment at a later date, but is training its attendants now.

Wheeling Fire Chief B. Koepfen said his village is considering joining the network, but has not made a definite commitment.

The service is expected to begin in August. It involves firemen and ambulance attendants transmitting data on a patient's condition to doctors in the hospital emergency room, who would relay instructions over a two-way radio on how to care for the patient before his arrival at the hospital.

Equipment is to be ordered by the end of June from Dann Co., Beachwood, Ohio, which submitted the low bid for Pioneer Medical System equipment.

The cost is $7,000 for the hospital and close to $5,700 for each mobile unit. Villages split by railroad tracks must acquire two units.

LEGISLATION enabling paramedical personnel to administer drugs and apply an electrical shock to restore heartbeat, under the supervision of a physician, is being considered by the Illinois Senate.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, the bill has been endorsed by Illinois State Medical Society and the head of the state division of emergency medical services.

Three other groups, the Chicago Board of Health, Illinois Hospital Association and Illinois Nursing Association, are studying the bill.

According to Anne Zimmerman, executive administrator of the organization, the nursing group has taken no formal stand.

are: firemen, Dominick Saviano Jr. and Bob Douglas of Buffalo Grove and Bill Arnett of Wheeling. They are receiving instruction in the use of a defibrillator from Mrs. Florence Larabee, a nurse at Northwest. The defibrillator and nearly $5,000 worth of other equipment will be employed by local fire departments and two ambulance services when taking victims to the hospital. The para-med program will, hopefully, be ready for service in August.

Meet Tomorrow On Connecting Bicycle Routes

Representatives of seven Northwest suburban park districts will get together tomorrow to discuss the development of connecting bicycle routes.

A master plan devised by the Council of Governments of Cook County which links the communities is to be presented.

Roger A. Bjorvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the governmental council, proposed that the workshop be held to coordinate each village's plan for a bicycle trail. Some have already begun mapping out a route.

Invited to the meeting, scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday at Olympic Park in Arlington Heights, are park district representatives from Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Rolling Meadows.

In addition, Joe Kesler, Arlington Heights village planner; Robert Cleckner of Arlington Heights, field director of the Bicycle Institute of America; and Richard Mirner of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, have been invited to speak.

According to James Devos, director of Recreation Park in Arlington Heights, most of the planning will involve setting up a bicycle route along roadways.

A bike route differentiates from a bike path in that a path is set aside from the streets, specifically for bicycles or hiking.

Devos said the route is to be developed "so a person could ride with some degree of safety from one town to the next and not get lost."

Thoroughfares are to be selected based on traffic safety and riding comfort, he indicated.

Road Work Contracts To Be Awarded

Contracts for construction of Arlington Heights Road from Dundee Road to Lake-Cook Road may be awarded soon if Cook County supervisors approve their portion of the four-part agreement at the June meeting.

Buffalo Grove trustees Monday approved the agreement with Arlington Heights for $10,000 of the construction, finalizing the third step. Wheeling Township has already agreed to pay about $24,000, and Buffalo Grove has received approval to use as much as $120,000 in state Motor Fuel Tax funds.

Village officials had estimated Arlington Heights' share at more than $30,000, but Arlington Heights had already allocated its Motor Fuel Tax funds and was only able to squeeze the $10,000 from its current budget.

Trustees also gave a boost to the proposed youth employment service Monday by agreeing to take part in a joint and equal venture with the Buffalo Grove Park District.

Park Commissioner Dede Armstrong is organizing the joint venture, hopefully at a total cost of less than $2,000.

Summer Physical Ed Courses Planned

Adlai Stevenson High School will offer three physical education courses this summer, including instructional swimming for elementary and preschool children, basketball for students 12 through 19 years of age, and physical fitness for high schoolers and incoming freshmen.

Applications for all courses and enrollment details may be obtained by calling or writing to the business office of the high school.

Three two-week instructional swimming courses will be offered for elementary students, beginning June 19, July 3 and July 19. There will be several classes each day from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Enrollment is $10 for each two-week class period. One morning class is for pre-schoolers 3 and 4 years old.

The pool will be open to the public during June and July from 2 to 3 p.m. and 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays and from 7 to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Admission is 50 cents for residents of Dist. 125 and $2 for non-residents.

The summer swimming program will be directed by Hank Andrew, head of Stevenson's physical education department.

SUMMER basketball classes will begin June 19 under the direction of Stevenson coach Robert Jackson. He will concentrate on game fundamentals including the jump shot, layup, hook and set shots, individual and team defense, individual and team rebounding, dribbling, passing, ball handling and other techniques.

Students 12 through 15 years of age may enroll in the 8 to 10 a.m. section. Classes will meet every day Monday through Friday. Students 16 through 19 years of age may enroll in the evening class, 6 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. The enrollment fee is $15.

The summer physical fitness program, under the direction of football coach Tom Baumann, will be from July 5 through August 14. "It is designed to develop strength, agility and endurance," Baumann said. "Each session will include weight training, agility exercises, and competitive games including soccer, volleyball, speed and flicker ball." Classes will be in the morning and evening on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. Enrollment fee is $7.50.

THE SERVICE will operate from the conference room at the municipal building during the summer. Mrs. Armstrong hopes student participation at all levels will make the program a success. She hopes to find jobs of short-term duration, such as lawn mowing, painting and baby-sitting, for the teenagers.

In other business, the board approved payment of $3,125 to the OMNI-HOUSE Youth Services for half the annual rent on the building at 516 N. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling. The village had previously pledged $8,000, none of which had been previously requested by the bureau.

Trustees also approved two zoning variations recommended by the Zoning Board of Appeals. One was for a circular driveway at the home of Larry Gamm, 330 Checker Dr., and the other was for a six-foot instead of five-foot fence at 400 Castledown.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for a country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. . . . Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine. . . . Latest medical bulletins said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blood busboy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 8 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sens. George S. McGovern, coming off smashing wins in Oregon and Rhode Island, and Hubert H. Humphrey. . . . Meanwhile, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Former Jersey City, N. J., Mayor John V. Kenny, 80, one of the last of the old-time big-city political bosses, was fined the maximum $50,000 for income tax evasion. He also faces a maximum of 18 years in prison.

The State

A Kensington District patrolman, Robert L. Gallowitch, 31, became the first Chicago policeman killed in the line of duty this year when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle after he answered a burglary alarm at a South Side jewelry store.

The World

A South African Airways Boeing 727 was hijacked by two "dark-skinned" men only minutes before landing in Johannesburg on a flight from Salisbury, Rhodesia with 61 other persons aboard. The men, who threatened to blow up the plane, demanded to be flown to Madagascar.

Mounting Roman Catholic support for peace efforts in Northern Ireland has pushed the rival wings of the outlawed Irish Republican Army to the brink of a shooting war, IRA sources said.

The War

The United States and South Vietnam rejected for the second consecutive week a Communist proposal to resume the Paris peace talks.

A hearing to suppress certain evidence gathered in the trial of three men indicted for the murder of Inverness horseman George Jayne yesterday was continued to June 20 in Cook County Criminal Court.

Asst. State's Atty. Nicholas Motherway asked Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald for the continuance because several witnesses he planned to call for the hearing could not be in court yesterday.

Attorneys for Joseph LaPlaca of Elgin, who is charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder along with Jayne's brother, Silas, and Julius Barnes of Chicago, last month made a motion to suppress evidence taken from La-Placa's home.

Police last year had confiscated three unregistered handguns from LaPlaca after they received an anonymous telephone tip that LaPlaca had the weapon that was used to kill Jayne. None of the guns taken by police from his home was the murder weapon.

Judge Fitzgerald instructed defense and assistant state's attorneys to be prepared for a hearing on the motion to suppress on June 20 and have their witnesses present.

LaPlaca, a close friend and former bodyguard of Jayne, has been held in Cook County Jail without bond along with Jayne and Barnes since their arrest for the murder last May.

Motherway also told Judge Fitzgerald he would file similar motions to suppress evidence provided to him by defense attorneys this week.

"After a preliminary reading of the evidence it tells me that we'll file a motion to strike much of this because it doesn't say anything," Motherway told the judge.

Before the actual trial can be started, both the defense attorneys and the state must turn over to each other whatever reports, transcripts and evidence they have that will aid in the preparation of their cases.

Motherway will file his motions to suppress evidence provided by the defense at the June 20 hearing.

'Freedom To Explore' At Sacred Heart High

by JOANN VAN WYE

"The utmost in academic freedom" — this is Gerald Giles' description of what Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows has to offer its students.

Giles, who was recently appointed principal of Sacred Heart effective July 1, explained that while it seems paradoxical, the very fact that Sacred Heart is a religiously-oriented school lends itself to more academic freedom.

"Religion is an important aspect of so many areas and here at Sacred Heart this aspect is integrated right into the curriculum," said Giles. Public schools often do not have as much liberty to explore the religious aspects of subjects, he said.

"The freedom to explore this important aspect of human existence is a very liberating factor."

Religious studies is the area Giles and Miss Louise Jacobs, newly named associate principal also effective July 1, are focusing most of their attention on as they plan for next year.

Sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded and staffed the school since its opening in 1961, will be leaving at the end of this school year.

"We will be deliberately having some sisters on the faculty next year," said Giles. "Preferably the sisters will be from different orders."

Giles and Miss Jacobs agreed they felt it was important to have sisters on the staff to serve as exemplars for the girls at Sacred Heart. By staffing the school with sisters from different orders, they feel the sisters can serve as exemplars of diverse interests and direction.

At the present time Giles, Miss Jacobs, and the Rev. James E. Michaletz, superintendent of Sacred Heart, are interviewing teacher candidates. The exact number of new teachers there will be next year is still unknown but all of the current teaching sisters and approximately 10 per cent of the lay faculty will be leaving.

As to possible curriculum changes, Miss Jacobs said, "We are in the process of reviewing the curriculum now. It is difficult at this point to say what direction the curriculum will take."

"Flexibility and a readiness to interact with teenage girls of today on all issues on a personal level as well as strength in their academic field" are the qualifications the three are looking for as they interview candidates, according to Giles.

Flexibility and an interdisciplinary approach to subjects will definitely be retained in the curriculum, according to Giles. He said he felt these two factors were important to develop responsible freedom in students, stimulate the faculty and show the interrelationship of various areas.

Time is the major problem facing Giles and Miss Jacobs now. Both are currently employed at other schools but they are trying to spend as much time as possible at Sacred Heart talking to students, parents and faculty and just getting the general feel of the school before they actually assume their new positions officially on July 1.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Previously he had been English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and an administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

He is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University. Giles, his wife, and four children are looking for a home in the area.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching at Trinity High School and Rosary College, both in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in La Grange, where she was curriculum coordinator. She holds a master's degree from Loyola University.

Sacred Heart Nuns In Last Graduation Day

Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows will graduate 181 girls at its eighth commencement tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the school.

This commencement has a special significance for the school since it is the last one sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary will attend.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary founded the school in 1960 and have staffed and operated it since. Due to financial problems and problems in staffing the school, the sisters will be leaving at the end of this academic year. The Archdiocese of Chicago has assumed ownership of the school.

The commencement will climax two days of graduation activities which will start tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Arlington Park Towers.

Tonight's activities will begin with mass celebrated by Rev. Patrick Rander, acting principal of St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights.

MANY OF THE sisters at the school will act as extraordinary ministers and distribute communion at the mass.

Following mass a welcome address will be delivered to the graduating seniors, their parents, friends and relatives by Evelyn Mary Vanden Dolder.

Miss Vanden Dolder is the valedictorian of the class of '72. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Vanden Dolder of 406 Ridge, Arlington Heights.

A straight A student, Miss Vanden Dolder has been active in the National Honor Society and Girl Scouts while at Sacred Heart. This year she was cited by Merit's Who's Who Among American High School Students. An Illinois State Scholar, she has won a scholarship to St. Theresa College in Winona, Minn. for next year.

The welcome address will be followed by the presentation of awards to the seniors and a graduation dinner.

Friday's commencement activities will start with a multi-media senior profile put together by the faculty.

PATRICK O'BRIEN, dean of faculty and curriculum at Sacred Heart, will be the graduation speaker. Len Baenen, principal, will give the girls their diplomas and a rose.

The farewell address will be delivered

Meet Tomorrow On Connecting Bicycle Routes

Representatives of seven Northwest suburban park districts will get together tomorrow to discuss the development of connecting bicycle routes.

A master plan devised by the Council of Governments of Cook County which links the communities is to be presented.

Roger A. Bjorvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the governmental council, proposed that the workshop be held to coordinate each village's plan for a bicycle trail. Some have already begun mapping out a route.

Invited to the meeting, scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday at Olympic Park in Arlington Heights, are park district representatives from Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Rolling Meadows.

In addition, Joe Kesler, Arlington Heights village planner; Robert Cleckner of Arlington Heights, field director of the Bicycle Institute of America; and Richard Mirner of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, have been invited to speak.

According to James Devos, director of Recreation Park in Arlington Heights, most of the planning will involve setting up a bicycle route along roadways.

A bike route differentiates from a bike path in that a path is set aside from the streets, specifically for bicycles or hiking.

Devos said the route is to be developed "so a person could ride with some degree of safety from one town to the next and not get lost."

Thoroughfares are to be selected based on traffic safety and riding comfort, he indicated.

MISS LOUISE JACOBS, newly appointed associate principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School, will work closely with Gerald Giles, principal, in providing the overall instructional leadership for the school in the future. The two plan to use a team approach in their administrative functions but Miss Jacobs will work closely with the students while Giles' emphasis will be on the faculty. Both have strong backgrounds in curriculum.

Police Consultants Report Is Today

The Board of Education of High School Dist. 211 will hear a report from the police consultants in its four high schools at its meeting today.

The board will meet at 8 p.m. in the administration building, 1750 Roselle Rd., Palatine.

In addition, the board will receive a recommendation on establishing an expanded girls' athletics program. The board at its last meeting asked board member Anna Countryman to study the proposal for the expanded program being prepared by the Mid-Suburban League.

The expanded program will increase the number of interscholastic sports in which girls can participate.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. . . . Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine. . . . Latest medical bulletin said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blond busboy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 6 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sens. George S. McGovern, coming off smashing wins in Oregon and Rhode Island, and Hubert H. Humphrey. . . . Meanwhile, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Former Jersey City, N. J., Mayor John V. Kenny, 88, one of the last of the old-time big-city political bosses, was fined the maximum $30,000 for income tax evasion. He also faces a maximum of 18 years in prison.

The State

A Kensington District patrolman, Robert L. Gallowitch, 31, became the first Chicago policeman killed in the line of duty this year when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle after he answered a burglary alarm at a South Side jewelry store.

The World

A South African Airways Boeing 727 was hijacked by two "dark-skinned" men only minutes before landing in Johannesburg on a flight from Salisbury, Rhodesia with 61 other persons aboard. The men, who threatened to blow up the plane, demanded to be flown to Madagascar.

Mounting Roman Catholic support for peace efforts in Northern Ireland has pushed the rival wings of the outlawed Irish Republican Army to the brink of a shooting war, IRA sources said.

The War

The United States and South Vietnam rejected for the second consecutive week a Communist proposal to resume the Paris peace talks.

Palatine Today

The Pitfalls Of 'The Good Life'

by MARGE FERROLI

It's got a new transportation center with the best-looking depot on the entire northwest line of the Chicago and North Western Ry.

It's got highly regarded public schools, a high school and grade school district that are in the black and a booming junior college.

It's got a registered Democrat and a woman on its governing body, giving a voice to two minority groups that traditionally have been pretty powerless in municipal affairs.

It's got an old-town character in its hub with gas street lamps, wood-frame houses and large rambling trees that fade off on the edges to make room for rows of single family homes in countless subdivisions.

It's got a municipal golf course, abundant liquor licenses for late-hour lounges and home rule.

It sounds as though Palatine is a well-balanced community, offering "something for everyone" just like the Chamber of Commerce brochure tells potential residents and businessmen.

Yet it's pretty typical of the Northwest suburbs, or suburbs in general.

CHICAGO HAS FORCED Palatine to get a face lift as the endless stream of inner-city dwellers continue to seek out the good life in the suburbs. They move in by the thousands to their spanking new houses in subdivisions with names like Pepper Tree Farms, Hunting Ridge and English Valley.

As each new homeowner moves in, he figures he should be the last one to do it. He usually resents any attempt to bring a shopping center, hamburger drive-in or apartments near his humble suburban home, ranting all the while about deteriorating property values and overloaded sewers.

You begin to pick up a pattern after observing the migration and the settling in. Everyone thinks progress is great and there should be new shopping centers, but not next door to their plot of subdivision ground that they worked years to buy.

So petitions are passed around, names are signed and objections are made to local officials. Their reaction may depend on how close it is to election time, how threatened they feel by the proposed apartment and/or shopping center and/or hot dog stand, or maybe even how valuable the proposal might be to the community.

Once a person ties the knot and becomes a homeowner, he also becomes an expert in sewers, garbage collection, flooding, land planning and property values. Maybe it's the fine print in the mortgage that gives them all this extra information and allows them to speak out with such expertise against new development.

Growth is not going to stop, not in this or any other suburban area. If someone expects to have peaceful, rolling and uninhabited acres surrounding his home, he'll have to commute to Wisconsin for it.

But then again, Wisconsin has mosquitoes, polluted air, flooding, apartments and rutted roads, just like there are in Palatine.

THERE ARE SEVERAL high points in Palatine of which many residents may not be aware. They make themselves known by sitting through long village board, school board and committee meetings, spending time and money in local establishments and driving up and down the streets of Palatine looking for news.

A few of the better ones follow:
—The flow of one-liners from Trustee Wendell Jones never fails to liven up an otherwise tiresome meeting.

—Blarney Stone kissing practice goes on irregularly over the bar at The Office. Warning — be careful who holds your feet. If he reaches for his beer at a strategic moment, you may end up on top of the Blarney Stone.

—There's "noble blood" in the village finance department. Go up there (the second floor of village hall) sometime and just ask for the Kaiser himself (Mr. Von Huebner) or his royal assistant.

—The hardworking ace public relations and personnel man for Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 puts on quite a show every Friday night during the winter months. Paul Jung can be seen five and performing in bowling shoes at an Arlington Heights bowling alley. He's especially good when he makes a spare.

—Harry Benstein's house, a rambling white frame structure in the old part of town. He claims there's plenty of available space to take in boarders, whether they be temporary or permanent.

—The best coffee in town is available at the Dist. 15 administration building. It serves its purpose well by reopening eyes that start to shut during the final financial items of the monthly agendas.

Douglas of Buffalo Grove and Bill Arnett of Wheeling. They are receiving instruction in the use of a defibrillator from Mrs. Florence Larabee, a nurse at Northwest. The defibrillator and nearly $5,000 worth of other equipment will be employed by local fire departments and two ambulance services when taking victims to the hospital. The para-med program will hopefully be ready for service in August.

Emergency Plan Expanding

Buffalo Grove and possibly Wheeling, are to be included in the mobile emergency care network being set up at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Hospital Pres. Malcolm D. MacCoun indicated at a meeting of area fire chiefs Tuesday that the addition of Buffalo Grove, which would operate one mobile unit, would not adversely affect the network.

The suggested number of units served by a participating hospital is eight; but 12 already are included in the local system, and more may be added.

Dr. Stanley Zyldo, who is training firemen in paramedical techniques, said it "doesn't matter how many units there are. It's the number of calls that counts."

He estimated that emergency calls handled on the network would overlap only seven-tenths of one per cent of the time.

Zyldo also pointed out that emergency vehicles could be directed to another hospital that may be considered more convenient or preferable by the patient.

For example, if a case arose in Hoffman Estates, doctors at Northwest Community Hospital could transmit instructions to the firemen on the scene while at the same time contacting nearby Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village that the patient was en route, Zyldo said.

EVENTUALLY, other area hospitals may set up mobile emergency networks for surrounding communities or, if necessary, the Arlington Heights hospital may add a second receiver to handle additional calls, according to MacCoun.

Currently expected to participate in the network are fire departments in Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

In addition, a private ambulance service, Delta Ambulance, has indicated its vehicles also will be equipped and its attendants trained for the program. Another firm, Arlington Ambulance, plans to get the equipment at a later date, but is training its attendants now.

Wheeling Fire Chief B. Koepfen said his village is considering joining the network, but has not made a definite commitment.

The service is expected to begin in August. It involves firemen and ambulance attendants transmitting data on a patient's condition to doctors in the hospital emergency room, who would relay instructions over a two-way radio on how to care for the patient before his arrival at the hospital.

Equipment is to be ordered by the end of June from Dann Co., Beachwood, Ohio, which submitted the low bid for Pioneer Medical System equipment.

The cost is $7,000 for the hospital and close to $5,700 for each mobile unit. Villages split by railroad tracks must acquire two units.

LEGISLATION enabling paramedical personnel to administer drugs and apply an electrical shock to restore heartbeat, under the supervision of a physician, is being considered by the Illinois Senate.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, the bill has been endorsed by Illinois State Medical Society and the head of the state division of emergency medical services.

Three other groups, the Chicago Board of Health, Illinois Hospital Association and Illinois Nursing Association, are studying the bill.

According to Anne Zimmerman, executive administrator of the organization, the nursing group has taken no formal stand.

'Nurse Of Year' Quiets Tots' Fears

by CINDY TEW

There's nothing like a hypodermic needle to scare a child in the pediatric ward at Northwest Community Hospital. And there's no one like Mrs. Edwina Ellefsen, R.N., to calm him down.

Mrs. Ellefsen, 1221 S. Prairie, Arlington Heights, was recently named Northwest Community Hospital Employee of the Year. She's been a nurse in the pediatrics ward for five years.

"The whole idea is to keep the children's minds off the shots," said Mrs. Ellefsen. "The best method I've found is to have them count."

Small children enjoy showing off their ability to count through the teens, and older children rattle off the multiplication tables.

"I hate shots myself, and giving them isn't my favorite job, but I know it helps the children get well," she said.

BESIDES SHOTS, Mrs. Ellefsen administers other treatment ordered by the doctors, along with a lot of good bedside manner.

"She has the patience of a saint," said Mrs. Barbara Barlo, R.N., "She really loves kids and is able to quiet even the most rambunctious ones."

For Mrs. Ellefsen, kids aren't a new experience. Besides working previously at Children's Hospital, she has three daughters at home, and one recently married who is living in Arlington Heights.

"I love all children — especially the little ones," she said.

Among her favorites are diabetic boys, who she teaches to care for themselves.

Patients in the 26-bed children's ward include cases of broken limbs, upper respiratory diseases and tonsils, to name a few. According to Mrs. Ellefsen, "we've seen everything."

AS A SINGLE parent, Mrs. Ellefsen has also had her hands full at home.

"I taught all the girls how to cook, and whoever wants to cook each day does that task," she said. The girls at home, ages 16, 11 and 10, attend Forest View High School, South Junior High and Dunton School respectively.

Sacred Heart Nuns In Last Graduation Day

by Mary Alice Ward, salutatorian of the class.

While at Sacred Heart, Miss Ward was active in NHS and won several trophies in forensics competition. She recently placed 12th in the National Catholic Forensics League Competition. She was also named Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ward of 1820 Illinois St., Des Plaines, Miss Ward was named an Illinois State Scholar and will be attending the University of Illinois in the fall.

Several sisters who have taught at the school will be coming from New York where the order is centered for the graduation activities. They will stay until Sunday when an alumnae reunion is planned for students who have graduated from Sacred Heart. The reunion will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. at the school.

BESIDE MANNER is one of the most important jobs of nurses in the pediatrics ward at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. Mrs. Edwina Ellefsen, R.N., who was recently selected Employee of the Year at the hospital, excels in comforting children, according to other staff members.

McDonald's Slates Scotty Novak Day

Scotty Novak Day will be held June 6 at McDonald's in Schaumburg and Hanover Park as part of a growing effort to help pay major medical expenses.

"Both McDonald's have agreed to donate all proceeds received from 5 to 7 p.m. that day to the Scotty Novak Fund," said Mrs. Sylvia Suberlak, a Weathersfield neighbor who organized the drive to offset medical expenses for the boy.

Scott, 10, suffers an affliction that causes tumors and affects the central nervous system.

Expenses for total care of the Schaumburg boy during a recent stay at Chicago's Children's Memorial Hospital exceeded $400 daily.

Domnick's Finer Foods, Hanover Park, will assist in the Novak Fund Wednesday, June 7, when 5 per cent of the total sales of persons holding special cards will be given to the drive.

Cards may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Suberlak at 894-4641.

PROCEEDS FROM A recent film festival totaled $82.90, and a car wash netted $55.00 for the Novak Fund.

Last week a bake sale sponsored by Prospect Service Club, a new service organization at Prospect High School, collected $70 for donation to the Novak Fund.

The Prairie Eagle Nation Y-Indian Guides of Twinbrook YMCA also donated $62.77 to the fund last week.

The money was contributed during a Nation Campout at Lowden State Park.

SCOTTY IS A member of the Cheyenne Tribe of Y-Indian Guides along with his father, Edward, and brother, Todd.

The group is also planning a June 17 drive to collect returnable bottles with proceeds to go to the fund.

The drive is being lead by Clem Ellis, chief of the Prairie Eagle Nation.

All contributions may be made directly to Schaumburg State Bank.

Delay Weaver Trial Until At Least July

by STEVE BROWN

The federal district court trial on a recent six-count indictment against Schaumburg State Bank Pres. Ward A. Weaver probably will not start until at least July 1, according to attorneys for Weaver and the government.

Weaver's attorney, Joseph Lamendella entered a plea of not guilty for the banker during a brief arraignment hearing yesterday. Erwin D. Oosting, Weaver's codefendant also pleaded not guilty. Both men waived formal reading of the 12-page indictment in open court.

Weaver and Oosting have both been indicted on charges of making false entries in the records of three suburban banks during 1967 and 1968.

Lamendella said he planned to file pre-trial motions on the indictments before proceeding to trial.

"This indictment involves some very complex financial matters and we could not possibly be ready for trial before July 1," he explained.

Federal District Court Judge Thomas R. McMillen set June 7 as the date for a status report on the case and the entering of pretrial motions.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Frank Murtha agreed that July 1 would be the earliest the case could come to trial.

The indictment against Weaver and Oosting, president of the Bank of Clarendon Hills, alleges the two men falsified bank records at the Schaumburg State Bank, the Bank of Clarendon Hills and the Evanston Trust and Savings Bank to show loans and transfers of funds totaling more than $630,000 to the Mar-K-Z Motors and Leasing Company, Inc.

Murtha has refused to say whether he believes the two accused men allegedly took the money from the banks or made the false entries to cover deficiencies from bad loans.

Weaver has been president of the Schaumburg Bank since it was formed. He took a leave of absence from the bank when indicted.

Youth Drop-In Center Car Wash Saturday

A car wash will be held Saturday for the youth drop-in center at St. Paul United Church of Christ in Palatine.

The car wash will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church, 144 E. Palatine Rd., for a $1 donation per car.

The wash is sponsored by the drop-in center, the church council and The Bridge, a youth services bureau in Palatine Township.

The St. Paul drop-in center is operated from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. Chaperones are Mike Putignano and Diane McGowan.

VIP Elects Officers

Officers of the Very Interested Parents (VIP) Club of Palatine High School have been elected for the 1972-73 school year. They are Ed Finlay, president; Hal St. John, vice president; Highley Countryman, treasurer, and Rose Carlson, secretary.

HOW THE RICH GET RICHER

It's really very simple. The Rich get richer by letting their money make more money. You can do the same.

You've heard a lot about the successes of the Rich in the stock and real estate markets. Here you can both gain — or lose — a lot of money. If you might need your money in a hurry, you risk having to sell your investments for a lot less than you paid for them. These are good investments for those who can afford to take risks or those who have a substantial base of savings behind them.

But very few of us are rich, or even on the road to being rich. Very likely you are most concerned with keeping the money you've already got and seeing it grow enough to prepare you for retirement or to provide you with extra income.

For people like yourself the best way to put your money to work may be 6% Certificates of Deposit from Palatine Savings and Loan. These certificates combine a high yield with the safety and convenience of a savings account.

Risk? None! Your certificate is insured just like a savings account. And the interest rate is guaranteed for two years or more. Return? 6% per annum compounded daily to yield a high 6.18% yearly — and without costly brokerage charges. That's earnings of $309.15 per year on a $5,000 investment or $1,236.60 on a $20,000 investment, if left in for a full year. Availability? With a 6% certificate you agree to keep a minimum of $5,000 with us for two years. But if you really need it, you can have your money on demand with the loss of only 90 days interest.

Some financial institutions are lowering their certificate rates. We are not. If you have $5,000 or more of hard earned money that you want to put to work, complete the coupon below.

Despite Some Confusion

Referendum To Annex Fire District Slated Aug. 19

The Rolling Meadows City Council voted Tuesday to schedule a referendum Aug. 19 that will allow the city to annex the Rolling Meadows Fire Protection District and take over the district's present taxing authority.

No decision was made Tuesday about how the referendum will be conducted, but City Atty. Donald Rose will meet with John Doyle, attorney for the fire district, to hammer out the details.

Some confusion exists over whether the fire district will have to be dissolved by referendum, and whether the annexation requires a referendum or if it can be done by a court decree.

The referendum will be necessary, however, to give the city power to tax up to 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation for fire protection. That is the rate at which the fire district presently taxes.

TUESDAY, FIRE District Pres. James Service said he had been told by the district's attorney that no referendum is necessary to dissolve the fire district. He said the dissolution could be accomplished by a petition to the county court system.

Rose told the council Tuesday night he does not feel the annexation proposal has to be put on the referendum, but can also be handled in court.

Mayor Roland Meyer emphasized again that he hopes the city will be able to run the fire district without using the maximum 40 cents taxing power that a favorable referendum would allow. Plans now are to levy only a part of the 40 cent tax and make up the difference in the first year operating cost of a city controlled fire department from sales tax surplus funds.

Between now and the referendum date, the city council and fire district trustees will be working together to reconcile some areas of policy on which they disagree.

The major areas of disagreement are salary schedules, compensation for paid-on-call (volunteer) firemen, over-time pay for supervisory firemen, like lieutenants, and purchasing of new equipment and hiring of additional full-time firemen.

If compromises cannot be reached in these areas, either side can decide to cancel the referendum. Service said Tuesday, however, that the council and trustees are "pretty much in accord" on most of the policy questions.

Meet Tomorrow On Connecting Bicycle Routes

Representatives of seven Northwest suburban park districts will get together tomorrow to discuss the development of connecting bicycle routes.

A master plan devised by the Council of Governments of Cook County which links the communities is to be presented.

Roger A. Bjorvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the governmental council, proposed that the workshop be held to coordinate each village's plan for a bicycle trail. Some have already begun mapping out a route.

Invited to the meeting, scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday at Olympic Park in Arlington Heights, are park district representatives from Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Rolling Meadows.

In addition, Joe Kesler, Arlington Heights village planner; Robert Cleckner of Arlington Heights, field director of the Bicycle Institute of America; and Richard Mirner of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, have been invited to speak.

According to James Devos, director of Recreation Park in Arlington Heights, most of the planning will involve setting up a bicycle route along roadways.

A bike route differentiates from a bike path in that a path is set aside from the streets, specifically for bicycles or hiking.

Devos said the route is to be developed "so a person could ride with some degree of safety from one town to the next and not get lost."

Thoroughfares are to be selected based on traffic safety and riding comfort, he indicated.

MISS LOUISE JACOBS, newly appointed associate principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School, will work closely with Gerald Giles, principal, in providing the overall instructional leadership for the school in the future.

The two plan to use a team approach in their administrative functions but Miss Jacobs will work closely with the students while Giles' emphasis will be on the faculty. Both have strong backgrounds in curriculum.

Bill Ahrens Elected Mayor Pro Tem

Ald. William D. Ahrens was elected mayor pro tem of the Rolling Meadows City Council Tuesday night by vote of the aldermen.

He was elected by an 8-1 vote of the council, over Ald. Thomas Scanlan. Ald.

Thomas Waldron was also nominated for the post but declined.

Ahrens, representing the second ward, is in his sixth year as a city councilman. He is chairman of the licenses, police

GERALD GILES

'Freedom To Explore' At Sacred Heart High

by JOANN VAN WYE

"The utmost in academic freedom" — this is Gerald Giles' description of what Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows has to offer its students.

Giles, who was recently appointed principal of Sacred Heart effective July 1, explained that while it seems paradoxical, the very fact that Sacred Heart is a religiously-oriented school lends itself to more academic freedom.

"Religion is an important aspect of so many areas and here at Sacred Heart this aspect is integrated right into the curriculum," said Giles. Public schools often do not have as much liberty to explore the religious aspects of subjects, he said.

"The freedom to explore this important aspect of human existence is a very liberating factor."

Religious studies is the area Giles and Miss Louise Jacobs, newly named associate principal also effective July 1, are focusing most of their attention on as they plan for next year.

Sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded and staffed the school since its opening in 1961, will be leaving at the end of this school year.

"We will be deliberately having some sisters on the faculty next year," said Giles. "Preferably the sisters will be from different orders."

Giles and Miss Jacobs agreed they felt it was important to have sisters on the staff to serve as exemplars for the girls at Sacred Heart. By staffing the school with sisters from different orders, they feel the sisters can serve as exemplars of diverse interests and direction.

At the present time Giles, Miss Jacobs, and the Rev. James E. Michalek, superintendent of Sacred Heart, are interviewing teacher candidates. The exact number of new teachers there will be next year is still unknown but all of the current teaching sisters and approximately 10 per cent of the lay faculty will be leaving.

As to possible curriculum changes, Miss Jacobs said, "We are in the process of reviewing the curriculum now. It is difficult at this point to say what direction the curriculum will take."

"Flexibility and a readiness to interact with teenage girls of today on all issues on a personal level as well as strength in their academic field" are the qualifications the three are looking for as they interview candidates, according to Giles.

Flexibility and an interdisciplinary approach to subjects will definitely be retained in the curriculum, according to Giles. He said he felt these two factors were important to develop responsible freedom in students, stimulate the faculty and show the interrelationship of various areas.

Time is the major problem facing Giles and Miss Jacobs now. Both are currently employed at other schools but they are trying to spend as much time as possible at Sacred Heart talking to students, parents and faculty and just getting the general feel of the school before they actually assume their new positions officially on July 1.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Previously he had been English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and an administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

He is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University. Giles, his wife, and four children are looking for a home in the area.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching at Trinity High School and Rosary College, both in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in La Grange, where she was curriculum coordinator. She holds a master's degree from Loyola University.

Sacred Heart Nuns In Last Graduation Day

Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows will graduate 161 girls at its eighth commencement tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the school.

This commencement has a special significance for the school since it is the last one sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary will attend.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary founded the school in 1960 and have staffed and operated it since. Due to financial problems and problems in staffing the school, the sisters will be leaving at the end of this academic year. The Archdiocese of Chicago has assumed ownership of the school.

The commencement will climax two days of graduation activities which will start tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Arlington Park Towers.

Tonight's activities will begin with mass celebrated by Rev. Patrick Rende, acting principal of St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights.

MANY OF THE sisters at the school will act as extraordinary ministers and distribute communion at the mass. Following mass a welcome address will be delivered to the graduating seniors, their parents, friends and relatives by Evelyn Mary Vanden Dolder.

Miss Vanden Dolder is the valedictorian of the class of '72. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Vanden Dolder of 406 Ridge, Arlington Heights.

A straight A student, Miss Vanden Dolder has been active in the National Honor Society and Girl Scouts while at Sacred Heart. This year she was cited by Merit's Who's Who Among American High School Students. An Illinois State Scholar, she has won a scholarship to St. Theresa College in Winona, Minn. for next year.

The welcome address will be followed by the presentation of awards to the seniors and a graduation dinner.

Friday's commencement activities will start with a multi-media senior profile put together by the faculty.

PATRICK O'BRIEN, dean of faculty and curriculum at Sacred Heart, will be the graduation speaker. Len Baenen, principal, will give the girls their diplomas and a rose.

The farewell address will be delivered

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. . . . Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine. . . . Latest medical bulletins said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blond busboy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 6 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sen. George S. McGovern, coming off smashing wins in Oregon and Rhode Island, and Hubert H. Humphrey. . . . Meanwhile, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Former Jersey City, N. J., Mayor John V. Kenny, 80, one of the last of the old-time big-city political bosses, was fined the maximum $30,000 for income tax evasion. He also faces a maximum of 18 years in prison.

The State

A Kensington District patrolman, Robert L. Gallowitch, 31, became the first Chicago policeman killed in the line of duty this year when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle after he answered a burglary alarm at a South Side jewelry store.

The World

A South African Airways Boeing 727 was hijacked by two "dark-skinned" men only minutes before landing in Johannesburg on a flight from Salisbury, Rhodesia with 61 other persons aboard. The men, who threatened to blow up the plane, demanded to be flown to Madagascar.

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U. S. Constitution drew a bare one-vote majority in the Illinois Senate over objections that it would make women subject to the draft.

The War

The United States and South Vietnam rejected for the second consecutive week a Communist proposal to resume the Paris peace talks.

A hearing to suppress certain evidence gathered in the trial of three men indicted for the murder of Inverness horseman George Jayne yesterday was continued to June 20 in Cook County Criminal Court.

Asst. State's Atty. Nicholas Motherway asked Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald for the continuance because several witnesses he planned to call for the hearing could not be in court yesterday.

Attorneys for Joseph LaPlaca of Elgin, who is charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder along with Jayne's brother, Silas, and Julius Barnes of Chicago, last month made a motion to suppress evidence taken from LaPlaca's home.

Police last year had confiscated three unregistered handguns from LaPlaca after they received an anonymous telephone tip that LaPlaca had the weapon that was used to kill Jayne. None of the guns taken by police from his home was the murder weapon.

Judge Fitzgerald instructed defense and assistant state's attorneys to be prepared for a hearing on the motion to suppress on June 20 and have their witnesses present.

LaPlaca, a close friend and former bodyguard of Jayne, has been held in Cook County Jail without bond along with Jayne and Barnes since their arrest for the murder last May.

Motherway also told Judge Fitzgerald he would file similar motions to suppress evidence provided to him by defense attorneys this week.

"After a preliminary reading of the evidence it tells me that we'll file a motion to strike much of this because it doesn't say anything," Motherway told the judge.

Before the actual trial can be started, both the defense attorneys and the state must turn over to each other whatever reports, transcripts and evidence they have that will aid in the preparation of their cases.

Motherway will file his motions to suppress evidence provided by the defense at the June 20 hearing.

Police Consultants To Address Board

The Board of Education of High School Dist. 211 will hear a report from the police consultants in its four high schools at its meeting today.

The board will meet at 8 p.m. in the administration building, 1750 Roselle Rd., Palatine.

In addition, the board will receive a recommendation on establishing an expanded girls' athletics program. The board at its last meeting asked board member Anna Countryman to study the proposal for the expanded program being prepared by the Mid-Suburban League.

The expanded program will increase the number of interscholastic sports in which girls can participate.

Industrial Park Development Gets Final OK

A multi-use commercial development planned for Rolling Meadows' south industrial park area has received final approval from the city council.

The development will add approximately 60,000 square feet of commercial and office space to the industrial area along Newport Drive, between the Northwest Tollroad and Algonquin Road.

The property owners, Babbitt & Assoc., of Chicago, plan to build a two-story office building and two single-story multi-use incubated buildings on their 177,000 square foot plot.

The development conformed, without a special use permit, to the M-1 commercial zoning requirements along Newport Drive.

Space in the multi-use incubated buildings will be rented primarily as light manufacturing or warehousing facilities, according to a description presented to the council in February by a Babbitt representative.

Babbitt has similar complexes in Mount Prospect and Des Plaines. Tenants in those towns range from firms operating a sub-assembly plant for electronics equipment to a computer firm selling computer services.

'Bike-In' Set At Randhurst

A "bike-in" will be held 1-3 p.m. June 10 at Randhurst Shopping Center, Mount Prospect.

The event is part of a series of bicycle safety clinics sponsored by WIND radio and Carson, Pirie, Scott and Co., in cooperation with the Illinois State Police.

The clinics will feature demonstrations in bike safety maneuvers and bike safety inspections by state police safety education officers. Bike safety literature will be provided by the state police and Secretary of State John W. Lewis.

'Nurse Of Year' Quiets Tots' Fears

by CINDY TEW

There's nothing like a hypodermic needle to scare a child in the pediatrics ward at Northwest Community Hospital. And there's no one like Mrs. Edwina Ellefsen, R.N., to calm him down.

Mrs. Ellefsen, 1221 S. Prairie, Arlington Heights, was recently named Northwest Community Hospital Employee of the Year. She's been a nurse in the pediatrics ward for five years.

"The whole idea is to keep the children's minds off the shots," said Mrs. Ellefsen. "The best method I've found is to have them count."

Small children enjoy showing off their ability to count through the teens, and older children rattle off the multiplication tables.

"I hate shots myself, and giving them isn't my favorite job, but I know it helps the children get well," she said.

BESIDES SHOTS, Mrs. Ellefsen administers other treatment ordered by the doctors, along with a lot of good bedside manner.

"She has the patience of a saint," said Mrs. Barbara Barlo, R.N., "She really loves kids and is able to quiet even the most rambunctious ones."

For Mrs. Ellefsen, kids aren't a new experience. Besides working previously at Children's Hospital, she has three daughters at home, and one recently married who is living in Arlington Heights.

"I love all children — especially the little ones," she said.

Among her favorites are diabetic boys, who she teaches to care for themselves.

Patients in the 26-bed children's ward include cases of broken limbs, upper respiratory diseases and tonsils, to name a few. According to Mrs. Ellefsen, "we've seen everything."

AS A SINGLE parent, Mrs. Ellefsen has also had her hands full at home.

"I taught all the girls how to cook, and whoever wants to cook each day does that task," she said. The girls at home, ages 16, 11 and 10, attend Forest View High School, South Junior High and Dunton School respectively.

Besides a recognition pin and a dinner with Employees of the Year of other Chicago area hospitals at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago, Mrs. Ellefsen received a pen and pencil set from the pediatricians of the ward.

Sacred Heart Nuns In Last Graduation Day

by Mary Alice Ward, salutatorian of the class.

While at Sacred Heart, Miss Ward was active in NHS and won several trophies in forensics competition. She recently placed 12th in the National Catholic Forensics League Competition. She was also named Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ward of 1820 Illinois St., Des Plaines, Miss Ward was named an Illinois State Scholar and will be attending the University of Illinois in the fall.

Several sisters who have taught at the school will be coming from New York where the order is centered for the graduation activities. They will stay until Sunday when an alumnae reunion is planned for students who have graduated from Sacred Heart. The reunion will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. at the school.

Douglas of Buffalo Grove and Bill Arnett of Wheeling. They are receiving instruction in the use of a defibrillator from Mrs. Florence Larabee, a nurse at Northwest. The defibrillator and nearly $5,000 worth of other equipment will be employed by local fire departments and two ambulance services when taking victims to the hospital. The para-med program will hopefully be ready for service in August.

Emergency Plan Expanding

Buffalo Grove and possibly Wheeling, are to be included in the mobile emergency care network being set up at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Hospital Pres. Malcolm D. MacCoun indicated at a meeting of area fire chiefs Tuesday that the addition of Buffalo Grove, which would operate one mobile unit, would not adversely affect the network.

The suggested number of units served by a participating hospital is eight, but 12 already are included in the local system, and more may be added.

Dr. Stanley Zydlow, who is training firemen in paramedical techniques, said it "doesn't matter how many units there are. It's the number of calls that counts."

He estimated that emergency calls handled on the network would overlap only seven-tenths of one per cent of the time.

Zydlow also pointed out that emergency vehicles could be directed to another hospital that may be considered more convenient or preferable by the patient.

For example, if a case arose in Hoffman Estates, doctors at Northwest Community Hospital could transmit instructions to the firemen on the scene while at the same time contacting nearby Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village that the patient was en route, Zydlow said.

EVENTUALLY, other area hospitals may set up mobile emergency networks for surrounding communities or, if necessary, the Arlington Heights hospital may add a second receiver to handle additional calls, according to MacCoun.

Currently expected to participate in the network are fire departments in Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

In addition, a private ambulance service, Delta Ambulance, has indicated its vehicles also will be equipped and its attendants trained for the program. Another firm, Arlington Ambulance, plans to get the equipment at a later date, but is training its attendants now.

Wheeling Fire Chief B. Koepfen said his village is considering joining the network, but has not made a definite commitment.

The service is expected to begin in August. It involves firemen and ambulance attendants transmitting data on a patient's condition to doctors in the hospital emergency room, who would relay instructions over a two-way radio on how to care for the patient before his arrival at the hospital.

Equipment is to be ordered by the end of June from Dann Co., Beachwood, Ohio, which submitted the low bid for Pioneer Medical System equipment.

The cost is $7,000 for the hospital and close to $5,700 for each mobile unit. Villages split by railroad tracks must acquire two units.

LEGISLATION enabling paramedical personnel to administer drugs and apply an electrical shock to restore heartbeat, under the supervision of a physician, is being considered by the Illinois Senate.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, the bill has been endorsed by Illinois State Medical Society and the head of the state division of emergency medical services.

Three other groups, the Chicago Board of Health, Illinois Hospital Association and Illinois Nursing Association, are studying the bill.

According to Anne Zimmerman, executive administrator of the organization, the nursing group has taken no formal stand.

Senior Citizen Housing Survey Starts Tomorrow

Questionnaires on the need for senior citizen housing in Mount Prospect will be distributed to village residents starting tomorrow.

Only residents aged 62 and over and residents with parents in that age bracket are asked to fill out the survey. Results will include the number of senior citizens desiring low or moderate-income housing.

The Mount Prospect Jaycees are in charge of distributing the survey. Surveys will be mailed using the village's water billing system or delivered by hand to those in apartments and in the newly annexed area. The Mount Prospect Village Board has approved $1,000 to cover the cost of distribution.

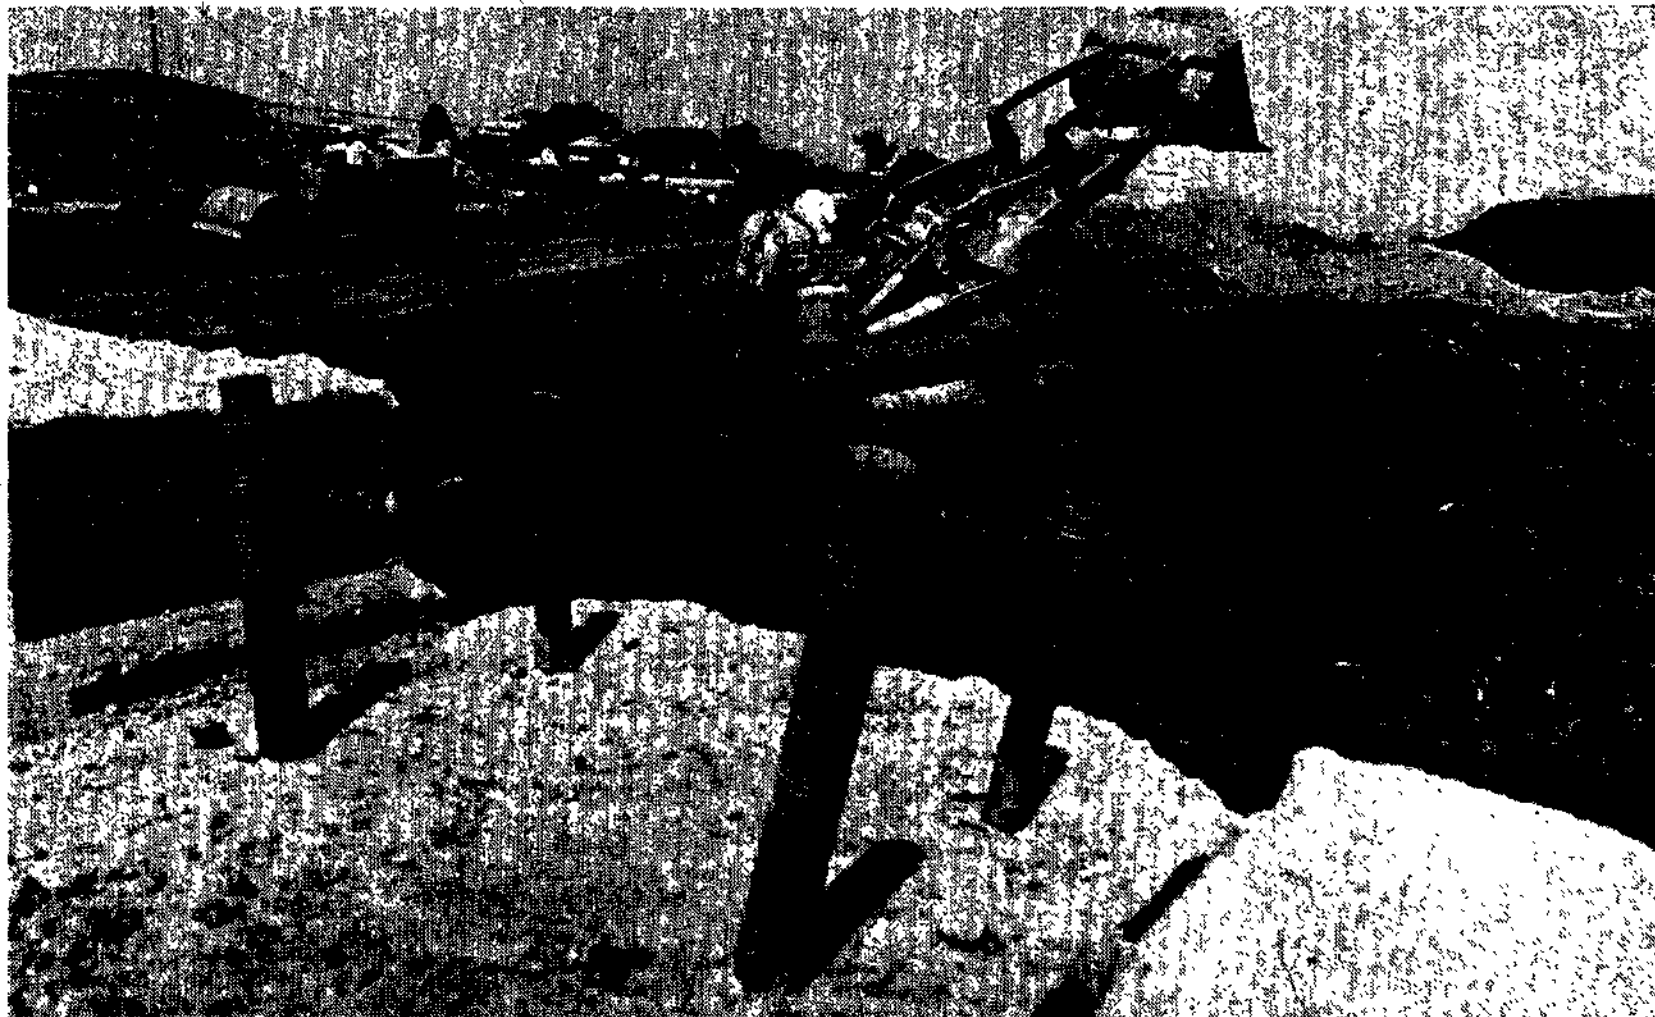

Results of the surveys will be discussed June 14 at a meeting of the village's public health and safety committee. Residents are asked to mail in the completed form to the Village of Mount Prospect before that time. Anyone who does not receive a form and is eligible to complete one can pick up a copy at the village clerk's office, 112 E. Northwest Hwy.

THE QUESTIONNAIRES are patterned after those used by Skokie and Niles, which both have senior housing developments built by the Cook County Housing Authority (CCHA). Among other things there will be questions about prospective tenants' income levels. The forms, which need not be signed, also ask for income sources and the type of activities that would be desired in a senior housing development.

Joseph Grittani, chairman of the board of directors of a local senior group, initiated plans for the survey. Grittani, senior housing manager of the Chicago Housing Authority (CHA), said he is convinced there is a need for such housing in the village. Mayor Robert Teichert has agreed with Grittani.

If the survey shows there is such a need, Grittani has suggested the village secure federal funds for the project through the CCHA.

A BULLDOZER CLEARS land at the site of the future Friendship Junior High School, adjacent to Algonquin Road near Elmhurst Road in Des Plaines.

The school, estimated to cost more than $2.4 million, was approved in a 1971 bond referendum. It will be Elk Grove Township Dist. 59's fifth junior high when finished next year.

7 Park Districts Plan Connecting Bike Routes

Representatives of seven Northwest suburban park districts will get together tomorrow to discuss the development of connecting bicycle routes.

A master plan devised by the Council of Governments of Cook County which links the communities is to be presented.

Roger A. Bjorvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the governmental council, proposed that the workshop be held to coordinate each village's plan for a bicycle trail. Some have already begun mapping out a route.

Invited to the meeting, scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday at Olympic Park in Arlington Heights, are park district representatives from Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Rolling Meadows.

In addition, Joe Kesler, Arlington Heights village planner; Robert Cleckner of Arlington Heights, field director of the Bicycle Institute of America; and Richard Mirner of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, have been invited to speak.

To Assist Board-PHEA Bargaining

Call Mediator For Talk Stalemate

The Prospect Heights Education Association (PHEA) and Dist. 23 School Board are calling in a mediator to assist the two sides in their current bargaining stalemate.

A letter was drafted by both sides after Tuesday night's bargaining session (the seventh since negotiations opened) to the American Arbitration Association (AAA) requesting that a mediator be sent in.

The PHEA restated its demand Tuesday that the mediator should be brought in if the school board would not enter into salary negotiations. The board, on the other hand has refused to begin salary talks until a settlement is reached on the professional negotiations (PN) agreement which outlines such items as issues to be discussed along with bargaining methods and methods for grievance procedures.

While the board negotiating team refused to bargain on the salary agreement, Henry Valley, board spokesman said the board had agreed to negotiate two PN items it previously refused to discuss.

VALLEY WOULD not disclose however, what the two items were because the teachers wanted only to negotiate salary, or call in the mediator.

The present stall in the talks occurred earlier this month on several points of the professional negotiations agreement.

The teachers then proposed going into salary talks. That request was refused by the board last week.

The AAA is expected to present the two sides with a list of prospective mediators containing a background and biographical sketch of each from which one will mutually be chosen.

Mrs. Rosen Brast of the AAA said yesterday the PHEA and the school board will have to decide for themselves whether or not the talks with the mediator will be open or closed.

"BOTH SIDES will have to reach a mutual agreement as to whether the talks will be open or not. If only one side objects to open talks, they will have to remain closed."

Mrs. Brast feels that either side is within its rights to request closed negotiations.

Dist. 23 is one of two elementary school districts in the Northwest suburban area holding public negotiations sessions this year.

Grand Jury Gets Heroin Sale Case

A 19-year-old Niles youth has been bound over to the grand jury in connection with the sale of $400 worth of heroin.

John P. Kopec was arrested March 31 by Mount Prospect Police and Metropolitan Enforcement Group officials at Beck Lake, near Central Road and the Tri-State Tollway.

Both Police said Kopec and two others tried to exchange 20 to 30 $10 packets of heroin for a guitar in the possession of a MEG officer.

Both Kopec and Alan S. Rudolph, 17, of 9259 N. Hamlin Ave., Des Plaines, appeared yesterday in Niles Court. Rudolph's case has been continued to June 13. The third youth was handled by the juvenile courts.

The heroin seizure was one of the largest ever made locally, according to Mount Prospect Police.

Work On New Well To Begin Today

Work on Mount Prospect's newest well, located on an acre south of Algonquin Road and near Minnesota Plywood Co., was scheduled to begin today.

A $492,000 contract for construction of the well, well house and reservoir with the J. P. Miller Artesian Well Co. was signed by the village Tuesday. At the same time, the village board authorized the administration to borrow up to $250,000 in short-term loans for the project.

By building the well now, the village is speeding up its five-year water system improvement by a year. Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley, however, told the board he was "confident that the interest on such loans will be less than the increase in construction prices" were the village to wait a year or more.

Currently, the village has only $242,000 available to use toward the project. This money has come from last summer's water rate increase, which was specifically designed to fund the $1.5 million program over the five-year period.

Insufficient water supply, pressure problems and water rationing in the area of the village south of Golf Road, particularly during last summer, were the reasons given by Eppley for doing the project now. Special rotary drilling equipment which will be used will cut completion time by three months too, so the well could be in operation by August.

The well will have a capacity of two million gallons a day. The land has been donated to the village by Otto Semrow and is eventually to be annexed into the village along with the Minnesota Plywood building.

Patrick J. Link cast his first vote as village trustee in making the decision unanimous. Link was appointed Tuesday to fill out former Trustee Richard H. Monroe's term until the April 1973 general election. Monroe resigned last week in order to spend more time with his son, who is rehabilitating from a recent serious injury.

Trumfio Gets Job As Principal

Harry Trumfio has been hired as a principal for the 1972-73 school year in Mount Prospect Dist. 57.

Trumfio is currently director of pupil services in the district at a salary of $14,500. The position was eliminated, however, when the school board recently made staff cutbacks to ease a financial deficit. Trumfio, who has not yet been assigned to a school, will receive $14,000 in his new job.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for a country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. . . Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine. . . Latest medical bulletins said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blond busboy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 6 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sens. George S. McGovern, coming off smashing wins in Oregon and Rhode Island, and Hubert H. Humphrey. . . Meanwhile, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Former Jersey City, N. J., Mayor John V. Kenny, 80, one of the last of the old-time big-city political bosses, was fined the maximum $30,000 for income tax evasion. He also faces a maximum of 18 years in prison.

The State

A Kensington District patrolman, Robert L. Gallowitch, 31, became the first Chicago policeman killed in the line of duty this year when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle after he answered a burglary alarm at a South Side jewelry store.

The World

A South African Airways Boeing 727 was hijacked by two "dark-skinned" men only minutes before landing in Johannesburg on a flight from Salisbury, Rhodesia with 61 other persons aboard. The men, who threatened to blow up the plane, demanded to be flown to Madagascar.

Mounting Roman Catholic support for peace efforts in Northern Ireland has pushed the rival wings of the outlawed Irish Republican Army to the brink of a shooting war, IRA sources said.

The War

The United States and South Vietnam rejected for the second consecutive week a Communist proposal to resume the Paris peace talks.

'New Town' Is On Board

by TOM VON MALDER

When Richard H. Monroe resigned last week as Mount Prospect village trustee, he hastened by a year the eventual seating of a "new town" resident on the village board and may have given long-time candidate Richard Hendricks new hope for 1973.

Monroe's resignation allowed the "new town" person to be put onto the board now, rather than after the April 1973 election. This gives everyone more leeway in preparing for that election.

With some 25 per cent of the village living in this newly annexed northeast area, political necessity and common sense dictated that a "northerner" be placed on the board at the first available opportunity.

That opportunity came last week with the resignation.

THE CHOICE OF Patrick J. Link came as no surprise. His was one of two names that immediately came to mind. The second person, Marie Caylor, was eliminated the same night Monroe resigned because she was named to the village plan commission.

How Hendricks is helped is that the slot filled by Link was an unexpected one. Most early campaign planning has centered around the seat of Trustee Daniel J. Ahern, who has said he will not run again.

Hendricks, although he has not officially announced, would like to capture Ahern's trustee post. With a "new town" resident already on the board and expected to run for reelection, Hendricks can feel his task is easier. The "northern necessity" has been filled, and there will still be one spot open.

Easiest of all would be if Hendricks could run on Teichert's ticket. Hendricks ran as an independent in 1970 and finished fourth behind a victorious three-man, Teichert-endorsed slate.

THE CHANCES for Hendricks to get on Teichert's ticket appear slim, however. Several sources have indicated that Hendricks has already approached Teichert with such a request — only to be turned down.

Both men have refused to confirm or deny the stories. They have said, "It's too early."

This has not stopped Hendricks. He has become a regular and vocal participant at village board meetings and committee meetings. What better preparation for campaigning, even if it must be as an independent?

'Bike-In' Set At Randhurst

A "bike-in" will be held 1-3 p.m. June 10 at Randhurst Shopping Center, Mount Prospect.

The event is part of a series of bicycle safety clinics sponsored by WIND radio and Carson, Pirie, Scott and Co., in cooperation with the Illinois State Police.

The clinics will feature demonstrations in bike safety maneuvers and bike safety inspections by state police safety education officers. Bike safety literature will be provided by the state police and Secretary of State John W. Lewis.

Have You Lost A Bike Recently?

Lost a bicycle or had one stolen recently?

Today will be the last day you can check with the Mount Prospect Public Works Department to see if your missing bike is one of the approximately 55 to be auctioned Saturday by the police department. The bikes will be available for viewing at the public works building, 11 S. Pine St.

The bikes may also be viewed by prospective purchasers who plan to attend the auction. The auction itself will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, at the 11 S. Pine St. building.

All proceeds, as in the past, will go to the police pension fund. The bikes, all unclaimed, have been found by police since last year's auction.

Bus Line Gets Grant For $17,000

Gov. Richard Ogilvie on Friday announced an emergency grant of almost $17,000 in state aid for United Motor Coach Co. of Des Plaines.

The money is being made available as part of a series of grants to five suburban bus companies totaling $394,487. In a press statement, Ogilvie said the grants "represent the first use of state funds for private transit carriers, a use made possible by the new Illinois Constitution passed in 1970."

In each case, the money is being extended as an emergency debt service grant, Ogilvie said. Also receiving funds were Evanston Bus Co., Glenview Bus

Co., West Towns Bus Co. and South Suburban SafeWay Lines, Inc.

The grants, the governor said, "will help assure the continuance of vitally needed transit services in the north-eastern Illinois metropolitan area."

"WITHOUT THIS assistance, there was danger that many of these services would have been sharply curtailed or completely eliminated," said Ogilvie.

"These debt service grants will help maintain these transit services until longer-range assistance is possible both through the state's capital improvement grant program and through our efforts to seek a regional solution to the area's mass transportation problems," he said.

The debt service funds provide emergency assistance to carriers who are unable to meet principal and interest payments on long-term debts from fare revenues.

In the case of United Motor Coach, the money will be used to make up a portion of the principal and interest payments on the first mortgage at the company's headquarters, 900 E. Northwest Hwy., Des Plaines, according to John Hanck, vice president and general manager.

"This won't keep us in business, but anything is a help," Hanck said Friday after the governor announced the grants. The financially-troubled company has asked to be taken over by the City of Des Plaines, which has commissioned a feasibility study of United's purchase by the city's mass transit district.

THE DEBT service grant program, set up in 1971, has given prior grants totaling $7,427,073 to the Chicago Transit Authority, the Springfield Mass Transit District and the Greater Peoria Mass Transit District.

United Motor Coach was awarded a total of $16,694, according to Ogilvie's announcement. The Evanston Bus Co. received $148,183; Glenview Bus Co. was given $19,411; West Towns Bus Co. was extended a $67,886 grant; and South Suburban SafeWay received $142,313.

Stockbrokers of United have offered to sell the firm for about $500,000 according to Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel.

A hearing to suppress certain evidence gathered in the trial of three men indicted for the murder of Inverness horseman George Jayne yesterday was continued to June 20 in Cook County Criminal Court.

Asst. State's Atty. Nicholas Motherway asked Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald for the continuance because several witnesses he planned to call for the hearing could not be in court yesterday.

Attorneys for Joseph LaPlaca of Elgin, who is charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder along with Jayne's brother, Silas, and Julius Barnes of Chicago, last month made a motion to suppress evidence taken from LaPlaca's home.

Police last year had confiscated three unregistered handguns from LaPlaca after they received an anonymous telephone tip that LaPlaca had the weapon that was used to kill Jayne. None of the guns taken by police from his home was the murder weapon.

Judge Fitzgerald instructed defense and assistant state's attorneys to be prepared for a hearing on the motion to suppress on June 20 and have their witnesses present.

LaPlaca, a close friend and former bodyguard of Jayne, has been held in Cook County Jail without bond along with Jayne and Barnes since their arrest for the murder last May.

"After a preliminary reading of the evidence it tells me that we'll file a motion to strike much of this because it doesn't say anything," Motherway told the judge.

Before the actual trial can be started, both the defense attorneys and the state must turn over to each other whatever reports, transcripts and evidence they have that will aid in the preparation of their cases.

HOW THE RICH GET RICHER

It's really very simple. The Rich get richer by letting their money make more money. You can do the same.

You've heard a lot about the successes of the Rich in the stock and real estate markets. Here you can both gain — or lose — a lot of money. If you might need your money in a hurry, you risk having to sell your investments for a lot less than you paid for them. These are good investments for those who can afford to take risks or those who have a substantial base of savings behind them.

But very few of us are rich, or even on the road to being rich. Very likely you are most concerned with keeping the money you've already got and seeing it grow enough to prepare you for retirement or to provide you with extra income.

For people like yourself the best way to put your money to work may be 6% Certificates of Deposit from Palatine Savings and Loan. These certificates combine a high yield with the safety and convenience of a savings account.

Risk? None! Your certificate is insured just like a savings account. And the interest rate is guaranteed for two years or more. Return? 6% per annum compounded daily to yield a high 6.18% yearly — and without costly brokerage charges. That's earnings of $309.15 per year on a $5,000 investment or $1,236.60 on a $20,000 investment, if left in for a full year. Availability? With a 6% certificate you agree to keep a minimum of $5,000 with us for two years. But if you really need it, you can have your money on demand with the loss of only 90 days interest.

Some financial institutions are lowering their certificate rates. We are not. If you have $5,000 or more of hard earned money that you want to put to work, complete the coupon below.

Parade To Begin At 9:30 A.M.

Honor American War Dead

Marching bands, drum and bugle corps, colorful floats and fluttering flags will all be in step for Monday's Memorial Day parade in Arlington Heights.

The parade is being sponsored by Arlington Heights Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981.

Marching bands from Arlington, Forest View, Elk Grove and Horsey high schools will march in the parade along with the award-winning Coronets drill team, sponsored by Post 981.

The Guardsmen Drum & Bugle Corps, the Racine Drum and Bugle Corps from Racine, Wis., and the Holmes Junior High School girls drill team from Elk Grove Village are also scheduled to join Monday's parade.

Floats will be entered by VFW Auxiliary Post 981, St. Peter's Lutheran Laymen League, the Knights of Columbus and the 4-H Club.

The Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, 4-H Club, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Bluebirds are also expected to be represented in the parade, along with dancers from area dance schools.

THE MARCHERS will step off at 9:30 a.m. from the parking lot across from the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The parade will follow Sigwalt Street west to Dunton Avenue where the marchers will turn and head north to Euclid Avenue. The parade will follow Euclid west to Walnut Avenue where it will turn south and proceed to Memorial Park.

Memorial ceremonies will be conducted at the park including an address by Maj. P. Christofferson of the 45th Artillery Brigade, Arlington Heights; reading of an honor roll; and the placing of memorial wreaths.

After the ceremony at Memorial Park, Post 981 will hold a ceremony at Memory Gardens, 2501 E. Euclid Ave., where the graves of nearly 1,000 veterans of all wars since World War I will be marked with flags.

A 30-gun salute and the playing of taps will highlight the Memorial Day service at the cemetery which is scheduled to begin at 11:30 a.m.

GERALD GILES

'Freedom To Explore' At Sacred Heart High

by JOANN VAN WYE

"The utmost in academic freedom" — this is Gerald Giles' description of what Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows has to offer its students.

Giles, who was recently appointed principal of Sacred Heart effective July 1, explained that while it seems paradoxical, the very fact that Sacred Heart is a religiously-oriented school lends itself to more academic freedom.

"Religion is an important aspect of so many areas and here at Sacred Heart this aspect is integrated right into the curriculum," said Giles. Public schools often do not have as much liberty to explore the religious aspects of subjects, he said.

"The freedom to explore this important aspect of human existence is a very liberating factor."

Religious studies is the area Giles and Miss Louise Jacobs, newly named associate principal also effective July 1, are focusing most of their attention on as they plan for next year.

Sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, who founded and staffed the school since its opening in 1961, will be leaving at the end of this school year.

"We will be deliberately having some sisters on the faculty next year," said Giles. "Preferably the sisters will be from different orders."

Giles and Miss Jacobs agreed they felt it was important to have sisters on the staff to serve as exemplars for the girls at Sacred Heart. By staffing the school with sisters from different orders, they feel the sisters can serve as exemplars of diverse interests and direction.

At the present time Giles, Miss Jacobs, and the Rev. James E. Michalec, superintendent of Sacred Heart, are interviewing teacher candidates. The exact number of new teachers there will be next year is still unknown but all of the current teaching sisters and approximately 10 per cent of the lay faculty will be leaving.

As to possible curriculum changes, Miss Jacobs said, "We are in the process of reviewing the curriculum now. It is difficult at this point to say what direction the curriculum will take."

"Flexibility and a readiness to interact with teenage girls of today on all issues on a personal level as well as strength in their academic field" are the qualifications the three are looking for as they interview candidates, according to Giles.

Flexibility and an interdisciplinary approach to subjects will definitely be retained in the curriculum, according to Giles. He said he felt these two factors were important to develop responsible freedom in students, stimulate the faculty and show the interrelationship of various areas.

Time is the major problem facing Giles and Miss Jacobs now. Both are currently employed at other schools but they are trying to spend as much time as possible at Sacred Heart talking to students, parents and faculty and just getting the general feel of the school before they actually assume their new positions officially on July 1.

Giles, 41, is currently the administrative assistant to the superintendent of Oak Lawn Community High School. Previously he had been English department chairman at high schools in Princeton, N.J. and Omaha, Neb. and an administrative intern at Westside High School in Omaha.

He is presently completing his doctoral work in administration and supervision at Loyola University. Giles, his wife, and four children are looking for a home in the area.

Miss Jacobs' experience includes teaching at Trinity High School and Rosary College, both in River Forest. The greater portion of her educational career was spent at Nazareth Academy in La Grange, where she was curriculum coordinator. She holds a master's degree from Loyola University.

Sacred Heart Nuns In Last Graduation Day

Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows will graduate 161 girls at its eighth commencement tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the school.

This commencement has a special significance for the school since it is the last one sisters from the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary will attend.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary funded the school in 1960 and have staffed and operated it since. Due to financial problems and problems in staffing the school, the sisters will be leaving at the end of this academic year. The Archdiocese of Chicago has assumed ownership of the school.

The commencement will climax two days of graduation activities which will start tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Arlington Park Towers.

Tonight's activities will begin with mass celebrated by Rev. Patrick Rinder, acting principal of St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights.

MANY OF THE sisters at the school will act as extraordinary ministers and distribute communion at the mass.

Following mass a welcome address will be delivered to the graduating seniors, their parents, friends and relatives by Evelyn Mary Vanden Dolder.

Miss Vanden Dolder is the valedictorian of the class of '72. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Vanden Dolder of 406 Ridge, Arlington Heights.

A straight A student, Miss Vanden Dolder has been active in the National Honor Society and Girl Scouts while at Sacred Heart. This year she was cited by Merit's Who's Who Among American High School Students. An Illinois State Scholar, she has won a scholarship to St. Theresa College in Winona, Minn. for next year.

The welcome address will be followed by the presentation of awards to the seniors and a graduation dinner.

Friday's commencement activities will start with a multi-media senior profile put together by the faculty.

PATRICK O'BRIEN, dean of faculty and curriculum at Sacred Heart, will be the graduation speaker. Len Baenen, principal, will give the girls their diplomas and a rose.

MISS LOUISE JACOBS, newly appointed associate principal of Sacred Heart of Mary High School, will work closely with Gerald Giles, principal, in providing the overall instructional leadership for the school in the future. The two plan to use a team approach in their administrative functions but Miss Jacobs will work closer with the students while Giles' emphasis will be on the faculty. Both have strong backgrounds in curriculum.

Park Board To Buy Tax Anticipation Warrants

Because tax money is flowing into the Arlington Heights Park District at a faster rate than normal, tax anticipation warrants will probably not have to be sold by the district until later in the year.

Roger Burke, park district treasurer, was given the authority to purchase $50,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants at Monday night's board meeting in case the tax flow drops off.

"I don't think we'll have to sell warrants until later in the year, since the taxes are coming in at such a high rate," said Burke. "We definitely will have to sell bonds later, however, to make up for the $66,000 error in our tax rate made in the Cook County Clerk's office."

The error was made in the corporate fund tax rate, which was listed at .10, and should have been .125. The extra .025 will be included in next year's tax bills.

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine. Latest medical bulletins said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blond busboy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 6 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sens. George S. McGovern, coming off smashing wins in Oregon and Rhode Island, and Hubert H. Humphrey. Meanwhile, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Former Jersey City, N. J., Mayor John V. Kenny, 66, one of the last of the old-time big-city political bosses, was fined the maximum $50,000 for income tax evasion. He also faces a maximum of 18 years in prison.

The State

A Kensington District patrolman, Robert L. Gallowitch, 31, became the first Chicago policeman killed in the line of duty this year when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle after he answered a burglary alarm at a South Side jewelry store.

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U. S. Constitution drew a bare one-vote majority in the Illinois Senate over objections that it would make women subject to the draft.

The World

A South African Airways Boeing 727 was hijacked by two "dark-skinned" men only minutes before landing in Johannesburg on a flight from Salisbury, Rhodesia with 61 other persons aboard. The men, who threatened to blow up the plane, demanded to be flown to Madagascar.

The War

The United States and South Vietnam rejected for the second consecutive week a Communist proposal to resume the Paris peace talks.

The Market

With some glimmers paving the way, the stock market scored a small gain in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Some investors were cautious. The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.16 to 965.46. The average price of a NYSE common share increased 19 cents. Turnover amounted to 17,670,000 shares, up from the 16,410,000 traded Tuesday. Advances edged declines 764 to 681. Prices were slightly higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Nurse Of Year Quiets Tots' Fears

by CINDY TEW

Mrs. Ellefsen, 1221 S. Prairie, Arlington Heights, was recently named Northwest Community Hospital Employee of the Year. She's been a nurse in the pediatric ward for five years.

"The whole idea is to keep the children's minds off the shots," said Mrs. Ellefsen. "The best method I've found is to have them count."

Small children enjoy showing off their ability to count through the teens, and older children rattle off the multiplication tables.

"I hate shots myself, and giving them isn't my favorite job, but I know it helps the children get well," she said.

BESIDES SHOTS, Mrs. Ellefsen administers other treatment ordered by the doctors, along with a lot of good bedside manner.

"She has the patience of a saint," said Mrs. Barbara Barlo, R.N., "She really loves kids and is able to quiet even the most rambunctious ones."

For Mrs. Ellefsen, kids aren't a new experience. Besides working previously at Children's Hospital, she has three daughters at home, and one recently married who is living in Arlington Heights.

"I love all children — especially the little ones," she said.

Among her favorites are diabetic boys, who she teaches to care for themselves.

Patients in the 26-bed children's ward include cases of broken limbs, upper respiratory diseases and tonsils, to name a few. According to Mrs. Ellefsen, "we've seen everything."

AS A SINGLE parent, Mrs. Ellefsen has also had her hands full at home.

"I taught all the girls how to cook, and whoever wants to cook each day does that task," she said. The girls at home, ages 16, 11 and 10, attend Forest View High School, South Junior High and Dunton School respectively.

Besides a recognition pin and a dinner with Employees of the Year of other Chicago area hospitals at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago, Mrs. Ellefsen received a pen and pencil set from the pediatricians of the ward.

by Mary Alice Ward, salutatorian of the class.

While at Sacred Heart, Miss Ward was active in NHS and won several trophies in forensics competition. She recently placed 12th in the National Catholic Forensics League Competition. She was also named Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ward of 1320 Illinois St., Des Plaines, Miss Ward was named an Illinois State Scholar and will be attending the University of Illinois in the fall.

Several sisters who have taught at the school will be coming from New York where the order is centered for the graduation activities. They will stay until Sunday when an alumnae reunion is planned for students who have graduated from Sacred Heart. The reunion will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. at the school.

Notice to Monday and Tuesday Customers

Next Monday, Memorial Day, is a holiday for our men. Therefore:

Mon. Thurs. customers will receive service on TUESDAY instead of Monday.

Tues. Fri. customers will receive NO mid-week service next week. Their next pick-up after Friday, May 26, will be on FRIDAY, June 2.

NOTE: Per our union contract, our men get 6 holidays each year, on which no garbage service is provided. We equalize these among our 3 routes, so that each route averages 2 holiday omissions per year. (The only other Tues. Fri. holiday "skip" this year will be the day after Thanksgiving.)

We appreciate your cooperation.

Emergency Care Plan Expanding

Buffalo Grove and possibly Wheeling, are to be included in the mobile emergency care network being set up at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Hospital Pres. Malcolm D. MacCoun indicated at a meeting of area fire chiefs Tuesday that the addition of Buffalo Grove, which would operate one mobile unit, would not adversely affect the network.

The suggested number of units served by a participating hospital is eight, but 12 already are included in the local system, and more may be added.

Dr. Stanley Zydo, who is training firemen in paramedical techniques, said it "doesn't matter how many units there are. It's the number of calls that counts."

He estimated that emergency calls handled on the network would overlap only seven-tenths of one per cent of the time.

Zydo also pointed out that emergency vehicles could be directed to another hospital that may be considered more convenient or preferable by the patient.

For example, if a case arose in Hoffman Estates, doctors at Northwest Community Hospital could transmit instructions to the firemen on the scene while at the same time contacting nearby Alexian Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village that the patient was en route, Zydo said.

EVENTUALLY, other area hospitals may set up mobile emergency networks for surrounding communities or, if necessary, the Arlington Heights hospital may add a second receiver to handle additional calls, according to MacCoun.

Currently expected to participate in the network are fire departments in Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

In addition, a private ambulance service, Delta Ambulance, has indicated its vehicles also will be equipped and its attendants trained for the program. Another firm, Arlington Ambulance, plans to get the equipment at a later date, but is training its attendants now.

Wheeling Fire Chief B. Koeppen said his village is considering joining the network, but has not made a definite commitment.

The service is expected to begin in August. It involves firemen and ambulance attendants transmitting data on a patient's condition to doctors in the hospital emergency room, who would relay instructions over a two-way radio on how to care for the patient before his arrival at the hospital.

Equipment is to be ordered by the end of June from Dann Co., Beachwood, Ohio, which submitted the low bid for Pioneer Medical System equipment.

The cost is $7,000 for the hospital and close to $5,700 for each mobile unit. Villages split by railroad tracks must acquire two units.

LEGISLATION enabling paramedical personnel to administer drugs and apply an electrical shock to restore heartbeat, under the supervision of a physician, is being considered by the Illinois Senate.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, the bill has been endorsed by Illinois State Medical Society and the head of the state division of emergency medical services.

Three other groups, the Chicago Board of Health, Illinois Hospital Association and Illinois Nursing Association, are studying the bill.

According to Anne Zimmerman, executive administrator of the organization, the nursing group has taken no formal stand.

Meet Tomorrow On Connecting Bicycle Routes

Representatives of seven Northwest suburban park districts will get together tomorrow to discuss the development of connecting bicycle routes.

A master plan devised by the Council of Governments of Cook County which links the communities is to be presented.

Roger A. Bjorvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the governmental council, proposed that the workshop be held to coordinate each village's plan for a bicycle trail. Some have already begun mapping out a route.

Invited to the meeting, scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday at Olympic Park in Arlington Heights, are park district representatives from Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Rolling Meadows.

In addition, Joe Kesler, Arlington Heights village planner; Robert Cleckner of Arlington Heights, field director of the Bicycle Institute of America; and Richard Mirner of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, have been invited to speak.

According to James Devos, director of Recreation Park in Arlington Heights, most of the planning will involve setting up a bicycle route along roadways.

A bike route differentiates from a bike path in that a path is set aside from the streets, specifically for bicycles or hiking.

Devos said the route is to be developed "so a person could ride with some degree of safety from one town to the next and not get lost."

Thoroughfares are to be selected based on traffic safety and riding comfort, he indicated.

Freidlen Owner Charged In Tax Case

The owner of Freidlen Brothers clothing store at 346 E. Rand Rd. in Arlington Heights was arrested Monday by agents of the Illinois Department of Revenue on charges of operating a business on a revoked sales tax certificate.

Edwin S. Freidlen, 48, of 267 Charrel Ln. in Highland Park, is scheduled to appear in court June 8 on the state charge. Freidlen is president of North Point Inc., which owns Freidlen Brothers clothing, according to state investigators.

Conviction on the charge carries a maximum penalty of six months imprisonment or a fine up to $500.

HOW THE RICH GET RICHER

It's really very simple. The Rich get richer by letting their money make more money. You can do the same.

You've heard a lot about the successes of the Rich in the stock and real estate markets. Here you can both gain — or lose — a lot of money. If you might need your money in a hurry, you risk having to sell your investments for a lot less than you paid for them. These are good investments for those who can afford to take risks or those who have a substantial base of savings behind them.

But very few of us are rich, or even on the road to being rich. Very likely you are most concerned with keeping the money you've already got and seeing it grow enough to prepare you for retirement or to provide you with extra income.

For people like yourself the best way to put your money to work may be 6% Certificates of Deposit from Palatine Savings and Loan. These certificates combine a high yield with the safety and convenience of a savings account.

Risk? None! Your certificate is insured just like a savings account. And the interest rate is guaranteed for two years or more. Return? 6% per annum compounded daily to yield a high 6.18% yearly — and without costly brokerage charges. That's earnings of $309.15 per year on a $5,000 investment or $1,236.60 on a $20,000 investment, if left in for a full year. Availability? With a 6% certificate you agree to keep a minimum of $5,000 with us for two years. But if you really need it, you can have your money on demand with the loss of only 90 days interest.

Some financial institutions are lowering their certificate rates. We are not. If you have $5,000 or more of hard earned money that you want to put to work, complete the coupon below.

Environmental Panel May Get Broader Powers

Des Plaines' newly created environmental controls commission may be given new powers so it can demand enforcement of the city's pollution ordinances and compliance by residents.

The new commission may replace the city's air pollution appeals board, taking over its powers as the first step in creating a strong, effective commission, Ald. Alan Abrams (8th) told the Herald yesterday.

Eventually, the commission could act to enforce city ordinances in the same way the powerful Illinois and U.S. environmental protection agencies enforce state and federal laws, according to Abrams, a member of the city council's environmental controls committee.

This newly empowered commission could have authority to hear complaints from residents, conduct investigations, to work out agreements between the city and polluters, and to order enforcement of its decisions by environmental control officers. It could also propose ways of strengthening city laws, Abrams said.

At present, the commission, set up in early March by the council, is only empowered to hear complaints and to advise the council of its findings. Members of the commission have not been appointed yet. The commission will include at least one chemist, as well as experts in ecology and technical fields, aldermen have said.

The only city official who now has responsibility to enforce city pollution ordinances is the building commissioner, and he can spend only a small fraction of his time examining pollution problems. The council, in the 1972 city budget, authorized hiring of an environmental controls officer, but no officer has been hired.

THE SEVEN-MEMBER air pollution board, created in 1969 to hear appeals of actions by city officials, grant exceptions or to form compromises if compliance is impossible, has never met, according to Building Commissioner Alfred Prickett.

The air pollution ordinance, also passed in 1969, was not enforced until 1971. In acting to enforce the ordinance, Prickett was able to gain compliance in all cases and no appeals were made to the board, he said.

The council's environmental controls committee, which had recommended creation of the new commission, met this week to discuss the possibility of combining the commission's authority to hear complaints with the board's authority to enforce its decisions and work out compromises.

A proposal to merge the commission and the board had been submitted to the committee by Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel.

Because the commission and the board may have jurisdiction over the same ordinances, the mayor said, they could be merged "into one functional group."

According to Abrams, the new commission could be empowered to enforce the city's air pollution and noise pollution ordinances, as well as the proposed water pollution ordinance now being readied for council study by the committee.

THE NEW COMMISSION could coordinate the activities of all city departments — garbage disposal, housing development, planning and water pumping — in enforcing and following the pollution ordinances, Abrams said.

Like the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, the city commission could receive complaints from residents, carry out investigations into those complaints, and order that violations be stopped, through court action, if necessary, Abrams said.

The city's environmental protection officer, could also check local industries and other potential polluters to make sure that city laws are not broken. He would report to the commission.

The commission would interpret the ordinances — and because there are "many grey areas" in determining what must be done in highly technical situations involving pollution — the commission could work out compromises and timetables for complying with the laws, Abrams said.

DONNA GLINKA of Mount Prospect and Garrett Hopkins of Des Plaines demonstrate the winning style that brought them a first place trophy in aquatic art in international competition last year. They will fly to England next week to represent the United States in an international aquatic art symposium.

national competition last year. They will fly to England next week to represent the United States in an international aquatic art symposium.

'Aquatic Artists' Off To England

by CAROL RYHNE

The United States will be represented by a teacher from Devonshire School in Des Plaines next week at an artistic swimming symposium in Stevenage, England, near London.

Donna Glinka of Mount Prospect is one of the top swimmers in the world in the little-known sport of aquatic art, which is like acting out a story in the water. Last year she and her partner, Garrett Hopkins of Des Plaines, won a first place trophy in mixed duets in international aquatic art competition.

Mrs. Glinka and Hopkins will present the number that won them top honors as well as help conduct a workshop on mixed duets at the symposium sponsored by the International Academy of Aquatic Art from June 1-4.

"Aquatic art is a more creative form of swimming, than water ballet or synchronized swimming," she said, "It takes a strong swimmer but speed is not important."

"I STARTED aquatic art at Wright Junior College in Chicago in 1955, and I have been doing it ever since between children," the petite mother of five said.

She said she practiced for 10 years before entering the mixed duet competition which won her a total of four first-place trophies from the International Academy of Aquatic Art. After she won her third first place trophy in 1970, she was awarded a lifetime membership in the Swimming Hall of Fame in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where five pictures of her swimming talents are on permanent display.

Mrs. Glinka said it takes about a year to perfect the three- or four-minute routines that have won her international honors. "I make up all of my own routines and originality is important. I guess a person needs to be a little far out to come up with the winning ideas."

Last year she and Hopkins won with a number entitled, "The Sheik," a comic take-off on an old Rudolph Valentino movie. "It was the first time I had ever tried adapting comedy to aquatic art," she said. "I thought of the idea, and then my partner (Hopkins) and I worked out the technical side of it."

"AQUATIC ART is ageless; you don't have to be really young to compete like in the racing events," Mrs. Glinka said. "I practice only three to five hours a week because of family responsibilities, but I have been swimming so long my muscles are attuned to the exercise."

"Aquatic art is a relaxation for me," she said. "It is my creative outlet away from school, housework and family."

Aquatic art is strictly an amateur event and Mrs. Glinka said she pays her own way to meets, including the upcoming symposium in England. She said there is a movement under way to get aquatic art accepted as an official Olympic event, but it is too late to get competition in this summer's Olympics in Munich, Germany.

MRS. GLINKA said the biggest problem with aquatic art is finding a place to practice. "We have been using the Mount Prospect Park District pool at Dempster Junior High to get ready for the symposium, but I don't know where we'll practice later."

Between family and swimming Mrs. Slinka also found time last year to earn a master's degree in special education from Northeastern Illinois State College.

Plan Commits City To Expansion

by BOB CASEY

First of a Series

It gets answered bit by bit every day, but the question isn't asked very often: what kind of community do we want?

Someone comes up with a reply to that question when a franchise restaurant opens, each time plans for an apartment building or single-family house are approved, when a new park site is chosen or when rezoning brings changes to an older neighborhood.

It's a question, for example, that lies at the bottom of the debate over low-income housing. Whether they've consciously asked themselves or not, those on both sides of the housing issue have in the backs of their minds an idea of what they want, or at least don't want, to be part of the community where they live.

SOME TIME in the coming months, city officials in Des Plaines will get around to providing an answer of their own in the form of a new comprehensive plan for the city.

Through the efforts of a planning consultant firm, the city took stock of itself for more than three years, looking at local housing, business, industry, schools, parks and community facilities. The goal was to decide what will be needed for Des Plaines in the next 20 years.

The result, which awaits hearings and formal adoption by city council, is both detailed and far-reaching. Describing growth as inevitable and saying "good growth" is desirable, the plan commits the city to continued economic and population expansion.

It calls for 7,000 to 8,000 new housing units, an addition of 525 acres of industrial development and a total of 250 acres of retail shopping area to serve an estimated 1990 population of 90,000 Des Plaines residents.

In the words of its authors, Rolf C. Campbell and Assoc., the plan "depicts the most desirable future arrangement and development of areas for homes, businesses, industries, recreation and public uses."

In many ways, the comprehensive plan is a conservative one — conservative in the sense that it takes the city in no really new directions, down no paths the city hasn't already started to travel.

DOWNTOWN REDEVELOPMENT and construction of high-rise apartments in the area immediately surrounding downtown Des Plaines, both key elements of the proposed plan, will have a dramatic effect on the community.

But like some other portions of the plan, they represent policies that have been established and agreed on by local officials for several years, not changes in direction for the community. The plan also builds on a number of earlier studies, in such areas as traffic, parking and transportation, helping to summarize many of the ideas and proposals put forth by them.

Citing as its overall goal the creation of an "economically balanced and esthetically pleasing community," the comprehensive plan gives top priority to downtown redevelopment. "An improved downtown area that thrives in any successful economic capacity will make a tremendous difference in the spirit of the city," say the planners.

Specifically, it says the city should take action to improve housing conditions, maintain the "integrity" of resi-

Lawnmower Stolen

A six-horsepower riding lawn mower valued at $365 and a $50 wheelbarrow were taken by thieves from the front lawn of a Des Plaines home sometime early Tuesday morning.

Robert Larson, 2401 Ballard Rd., Des Plaines told police he last saw the lawn equipment in his front yard shortly after 12 a.m. Tuesday. The items were discovered missing at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Mini-Bikes Stolen

Thieves broke into the basement storage locker of a west side Des Plaines apartment building and stole a $45 mini-bike motorcycle sometime Sunday night.

Jeffrey Middleton of 640 Murray Ln. told police the thieves pried off the lock to the storage locker door and removed the mini-bike. He said the bike was stolen sometime after 9 p.m. Sunday and was discovered missing at 3 p.m. Monday.

Another $45 mini-bike was stolen from a storage space belonging to someone else in the building approximately the same time Middleton's was stolen. That incident was reported yesterday.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission, signed an agreement for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and left for a country dacha and more talks with Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. . . . Nixon laid a wreath at the Soviet Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while First Lady Pat Nixon made the rounds of Russian tourist attractions.

Gov. George Wallace, cheered by his showing in the Oregon primary, met with reporters for the first time since he was wounded and said he felt fine. . . . Latest medical bulletins said he showed "marked improvement" though his waist-down paralysis persists.

Arthur H. Bremer, the blond busboy accused of wounding Wallace, pleaded innocent at a federal court arraignment amid the tightest security precautions in Baltimore history.

The June 6 California primary, with 271 convention delegate votes hanging in the balance, was the next arena for Sens. George S. McGovern, coming off smashing wins in Oregon and Rhode Island, and Hubert H. Humphrey. . . . Meanwhile, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Former Jersey City, N. J., Mayor John V. Kenny, 80, one of the last of the old-time big-city political bosses, was fined the maximum $30,000 for income tax evasion. He also faces a maximum of 18 years in prison.

The State

A Kensington District patrolman, Robert L. Gallowitch, 31, became the first Chicago policeman killed in the line of duty this year when he was fatally wounded during a gun battle after he answered a burglary alarm at a South Side jewelry store.

The proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U. S. Constitution drew a bare one-vote majority in the Illinois Senate over objections that it would make women subject to the draft.

The World

A South African Airways Boeing 727 was hijacked by two "dark-skinned" men only minutes before landing in Johannesburg on a flight from Salisbury, Rhodesia with 61 other persons aboard. The men, who threatened to blow up the plane, demanded to be flown to Madagascar.

The War

The United States and South Vietnam rejected for the second consecutive week a Communist proposal to resume the Paris peace talks.

The Market

With some glimmers paving the way, the stock market scored a small gain in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Some investors were cautious. The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.16 to 965.46. The average price of a NYSE common share increased 19 cents. Turnover amounted to 17,870,000 shares, up from the 16,410,000 traded Tuesday. Advances edged declines 764 to 681. Prices were slightly higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Plan Commits City To Balanced Growth

Burnett Funeral Home, 120 W. Park dental areas, expand industry and improve the city's thoroughfare system.

In addition to a 130-page volume summarizing and giving the reasoning behind its recommendations, the comprehensive plan also consists of a land-use map; a separate volume concentrating on business and downtown redevelopment; another volume full of community facts and statistics; and a statement of goals agreed on before the plan was begun.

THE COMPREHENSIVE plan, which will probably be adopted in conjunction with a new zoning ordinance, should prove most useful to city officials as a back up to any zoning regulations that might be tested in courts.

Traditionally, zoning ordinances that are supported by a consistent, rational city plan stand a better chance of resisting lawsuits filed by land owners or developers who want to use their properties in ways those ordinances do not allow.

City council committees met several times last year to discuss the plan and have begun meetings again, in hopes of adopting the plan and a new zoning ordinance in the near future. The council's municipal development committee will meet to discuss both measures next Wednesday night.

More interesting and probably more valuable than its zoning applications are the comprehensive plan's inventories of community facilities and services.

Through a housing condition survey, the planners determined that there is a significant amount of residential housing blight in Des Plaines, a problem they say will get worse if nothing is done to stop it.

The park facilities available here, although they provide a wide range of excellent programs are at less than "accepted" standards of total recreation acreage per 1,000 residents. Library facilities here are also well below accepted standards, the planners point out.

MATCHED AGAINST the future needs of a population expected to grow by 50 per cent between now and 1990, those and other facilities such as schools, streets, sewers, fire stations and post offices will need upgrading and improvement.

In addition to its inventory of existing facilities, the plan also provides a shopping list of improvements that will be needed in coming years. Many of those are spelled out in great detail — from where to put a lot lot playground to what intersections should get new street lighting.

If local officials pay attention to the needs it pinpoints and the recommendations it makes, the comprehensive plan may have a significant effect in determining what kind of community Des Plaines will be in 1990.

Some things, of course, are beyond the control of the community and impossible to predict from a city planning standpoint. Construction of a major sewage plant on the west side, or the continuing expansion of O'Hare Airport, making some south side neighborhoods uninhabitable, are examples.

The plan also counts on the type of economic levels and development pressures needed to sustain a project like downtown renewal or to construct 7,000 to 8,000 new housing units within 20 years. Already, there are indications Des Plaines just will not be able to grow at the rates predicted in the plan, even if it wants to.

But whatever its rate of growth, Des Plaines will be able to benefit from the guidelines put down in the plan, a document that merits close examination by both community officials and the public.

Tomorrow: A look at the population of Des Plaines.

Dorothy Oliver

I was amazed at the response I got from last week's column on the Equal Rights Amendment. All of it was good.

The callers were men and women — with women outnumbering men about two to one. Of the 25 or so calls I received only two against the ERA — but even those two were appalled by the conduct displayed by our state representatives.

ERA barely passed the state Senate yesterday and will now be returned to the House, so representatives will be given a second chance. Write your district representative now, about how they handled their first chance.

ONE OF THE greatest times of year is the coming of spring. That means I can stop doing all that work in the house with the excuse of concentrating on the yard.

Come to think of it I usually get all excited about fall because I have a convenient excuse for stopping all that hard work in the yard: it's time to work in the house.

My fall, winter, and early spring have been very productive house-wise. For the first time since I moved here I really like my house and the things in it. I'm not sure what the exact incentive was for my sudden decorating streak but it lasted for months and resulted in some "House Beautiful" changes.

I always keep two very important things in mind when I decorate: don't spend much money and get only the things you can live with for the rest of your life because you probably will have to.

Keeping the above in mind I spent less than $400 decorating four rooms and now walk around my house smiling a lot and touching things.

THE DINING room got the major overhaul. Practically everything was scrapped or redone. The well-worn hardwood floor was covered with an (inexpensive) imitation oriental rug; the rickety, falling-apart dinette set was replaced with an (inexpensive) unfinished wood table and four chairs.

Furniture — like the dinette set — does not have to be expensive if you want to put in the time and do the labor. Finishing that set was not my favorite job in the whole world but it saved me around $100.

I hated the ugly brown record cabinet in that room until I cut off its legs and painted in bright red. Another Oliver decorating axiom is if you hate it to begin with, do anything to change it; if you ruin it, who cares.

GETTING THINGS for walls has always been a problem. I like real art, etc.

but my bank account and art's price tags just don't jive. When you're in that boat you have two choices: make it yourself or get to know some generous artists. I did both. My walls are now filling with self-created macramé. My "real" art pieces are silk-screens, lithos and a few oils which were done by friend artists in their early days. I loved them and they were tired enough of them to part with them.

Some things I admittedly got lucky on. God bless my friend's aunt who went in to a rest home. Without her move I'd have never gotten the rug for the boy's room, the Mason jars for the red chest or my magnificent trunk. (You remember my trunk. The one that ruined my hands, knees and disposition for the two weeks it took me to restore it.)

THE MOST FUN and aggravation I had with a project was putting burlap up on my walls. I started with one wall in the living room and used natural burlap ($12 for the whole wall and some left over).

My first problem was that I didn't know what I was doing.

Crafty people always use a clear drying wallpaper paste when gluing things on burlap so I decided that would be the best adhesive to use. (I was right.)

The mistakes I made, are, in order: not using enough paste on the fabric, not priming the wall with paste, running out of paste and not allowing for shrinkage.

Having learned from all those mistakes I decided to cover three of the bedroom walls with blue burlap ($22 for three big walls). The mistakes I made the second time around are in order: taking the fast way out by not coating the whole panel in paste resulting in air bubbles here and there, allowing for shrinkage when that particular type of burlap was already preshrunk, not wearing gloves.

THE LAST MISTAKE was the most embarrassing. The blue dye came off all over my hands and arms when it was wet with the paste. I walked around with blue skin for a week.

Regardless of all I did wrong the walls turned out looking right with the help of some quick repairs. Now that I've learned from all of these mistakes I'm going to burlap two walls in the boys' room in red. Some people are gluttons for punishment, I guess.

The house decorating goes on and on and there's still more to be done. But it will have to wait a few months until fall. Right now I've got to cut my grass before the city's beautification committee condemns my property.

High School Teachers Reject Latest Pay Offer

Maine Township High School Dist. 207 teachers rejected the district's latest wage offer because they felt it would have made them "bear the brunt" of the district's current austerity program, the Teachers' Association president said yesterday.

In announcing results of a poll of association members, Karl Miller, the teacher group's president, said those responding indicated the district's budget cut-backs were falling too heavily on teachers.

Association members, Miller said, also felt the 2.25 per cent increase offered under the wage package was too small to be acceptable, according to the poll, which was taken to learn the reasons behind the offer's 301 to 281 defeat May 15.

The school district, which has been strapped with a $3 million deficit, eliminated 27 full-time and 13 part-time teaching positions for next year.

SCHOOL BOARD officials have said they hope that many of the teachers whose positions are being eliminated will find jobs at Dist. 207 through normal attrition and resignations.

Many of the 13 part-time positions had been filled by teachers working for masters degrees.

The 2.25 per cent increase which had been approved by school officials and the Teachers' Association Executive Board, represents less than half of the five per cent raises the high school teachers received last year.

Karl Miller, association president, told the Herald yesterday the results of the poll will be presented to the school officials when the two groups meet soon. He said it would be up to the representatives from both sides to decide what happens next in the negotiations.

Miller said more than two-thirds of the association's 660 members replied to the survey.

UNDER THE proposed wage package, top scale for a teacher with a masters degree, reached in 16 steps, would be $16,535, up from the present $18,170. Teachers with masters degrees plus 64 graduate hours would get a top of $19,110 compared to the current top of $18,690.

The proposal would also raise starting teaching salaries for a bachelors degree with no experience from the present $8,400 to $8,590. Starting pay for masters degree teachers with no experience would be $9,285 up from the present $9,080.

DAMP Dry On Lake Water Allocation

Preliminary allocations for the diversion of water from Lake Michigan were released last week, but the DAMP Water Commission — serving Des Plaines, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine — remained dry, at least temporarily.

The City of Rolling Meadows and the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District also remained without an allocation.

The allocations were released in a letter addressed to all agencies requesting permission to divert water and signed by John Guillou, chief waterway engineer for the State Department of Transportation.

The schedule of preliminary allocations indicates 29 requesting agencies — including municipalities, water commissions, sanitary districts and federal agencies — have been granted permission to divert 2,891 cubic feet per second of water from the lake in 1975.

One cubic foot per second equals about 690,000 gallons a day.

The DAMP request was among several which was not included in the preliminary allocations because of a duplication of requests.

GUILLOU EXPLAINED that while DAMP requested permission to divert 37.5 cubic feet per second, the City of Des Plaines also requested 23.5 cubic feet per second.

The chief engineer said a questionnaire, known as Administrative Inquiry Number One, was attached to the preliminary allocation schedule when mailed to concerned parties. As soon as those questionnaires are returned and the duplication problem is resolved, Guillou said, the allocations will be granted.

Among others affected by a similar duplication of requests was Elk Grove Village, which requested 15.9 cubic feet per second for its own use. About four months later the Elmhurst-Villa Park-Lombard Water Commission requested an allocation which included water for Elk Grove Village.

Elk Grove Village is under contract with the nearby water commission for the purchase of water.

The City of Rolling Meadows and the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District also received no tentative allocation from the state, despite requests for 8.1 and 4.2 cubic feet per second, respectively.

GUILLOU SAID those two agencies made requests, but not necessarily for 1975. The engineer said, "We believe they will not be able or will not even desire to get water from the lake by 1975." He added if either or both of those agencies are not satisfied with the tentative allocations they were awarded for 1980, they are requested to submit further information. "That's another purpose of the questionnaire," Guillou said.

For 1980 Rolling Meadows tentatively was allocated 11 cubic feet per second, while the Old Town Sanitary District was awarded 8.8 cubic feet per second.

Guillou said the questionnaires should be returned to his office by June 20. Barring any unusual protests or legal battles, he said, final allocations should be released by the end of July.

Any agency that receives an allocation from the state for water diversion in 1975 will lose that allocation if they do not make use of it by that time, Guillou explained.

Local water experts have said once the allocations are awarded, DAMP could complete the engineering and construction of a pipeline or tunnel to the lake within two or three years.

THE U.S. SUPREME COURT in 1967 outlined the general guidelines by which water may be diverted from the Lake Michigan watershed.

The Illinois General Assembly designated the Department of Transportation to administer the allocation of lake water and to make suggestions and recommendations for the control and regulation of diversion from the watershed.

Name 'Y' Aquatic Head 'Director Of The Year'

Nicki Doehtler, aquatic program director at Northwest Suburban YMCA, was honored with the "Physical Director of the Year" award for 1972 at the Region I Health and Physical Education Congress held at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel on May 12-13.

This award is given to the professional YMCA worker who has made outstanding contributions at the local, state, regional and national levels. Mrs. Doehtler, who directs 3 swimming pools at Northwest Suburban YMCA, is a member of the National Operating Council on Aquatics and recently co-directed the Directors and Instructors Aquatic Institute Training in Denver, where a totally new YMCA Aquatic Program was initiated.

SHE HAS BEEN instrumental in the development of this new program, having helped develop the field test model at George Williams College. She has recently been appointed as Aquatic Commissioner of Region I, which includes all of Illinois and Indiana serving as a resource person in aquatic training. Nicki has hosted several district I swimming championship meets, is past chairman of the Metropolitan Aquatic Committee, served as a field agent in aquatics, and is the professional related to the District I Competitive Swim Committee. She also serves on the national Synchronized Swim Committee and helped develop the new Synchronized Progressive Swim Manual and the Progressive Swim Manual.

Mrs. Doehtler has worked for the YMCA for 10½ years, both as a layman and as a professional.

Patricia Clement

Victory Stingley

Barbara Farringer

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clement of Des Plaines are announcing the coming marriage of their daughter, Patricia, to Michael McCulloch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McCulloch of Waterville, Wis.

Patricia attended the New School for Social Research, New York, the University of Vienna, and graduated in psychology in 1971 from the University of Illinois. Michael will receive his degree in architecture in June from Cornell University.

The couple will be married in June in a garden wedding at the summer home of the bride's parents at Lake Delavan, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Stingley, 124 Bonnie Brae, Mount Prospect, announce the engagement of their daughter Victory to Charles Brinkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brinkman of Morton Grove.

Miss Stingley is a graduate of Maine Township West High School and is attending Oakton Community College while employed at the First National Bank of Des Plaines. Her fiancé is a graduate of St. Joseph Seminary High School and Oakton Community College. He is employed with Lyon Healy, Mount Prospect. They are planning a September wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Farringer, 196 Drake Lane, Des Plaines, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to John J. Tierney, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Tierney, 630 Warrington Ave., Des Plaines.

Miss Farringer is a graduate of Maine Township High School West and is employed by L. Karp and Sons, Elk Grove Village. Her fiancé, also a Maine Township graduate, is employed with the Winnetka Station of the U.S. Post Office.

The wedding is planned for the fall, 1973.

Anne Marie Chorba
Mr. and Mrs. Stephen E. Chorba Jr., Chicago, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anne Marie, to William E. Hoversen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hoversen of Des Plaines.

Miss Chorba is a student at Loyola University majoring in educational theater. She is affiliated with Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority. Her fiancé is a 1971 graduate of Loyola where he was a member of Alpha Delta Gamma Fraternity. He is currently employed by the Chicago Board of Education.

A summer wedding is planned.

BOB Meets Tonight

Best Off Broadway Players, a community theater organization, will hold its monthly meeting tonight, 8 o'clock, at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights.

Reports will be given on BOB's current show in the making, "Gypsy," and also, the new board of directors will be elected.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by "Celebration," a musical group consisting of Linda and Lenny Dvella, Lauren Luback and Rick Parkin, all of Mount Prospect, and Greg Ziomak of Arlington Heights.

All area residents interested in community theater are invited to attend the meeting.

Dear Dorothy: What's a good remedy to use on ants which come in both the kitchen and cellar? I have a Siamese cat and do not want to use a commercial spray.

—Mrs. Dorothy Weidner

Every summer we get fresh home remedies. These that follow came from faithful readers who have shared their successes with us. One correspondent painted oil of sassafras over the area ants frequent and another sprinkled powdered cloves wherever she spotted an ant. A third sprinkled red pepper at the entrances and one poured plain table salt along window ledges and door entrances. And still another heard that chalk lines across doorways and windows would keep them out and, after trying it, said she never saw another ant. Sounds kooky, but it works —

Dear Dorothy: Personally, I like to take the outside leaves off lettuce regardless of whether they are green and full of nutrients. I feel these outside leaves might contain traces of insecticides and germs from dirty hands which couldn't possibly be washed off with cold water. — Lisa F.

Good point.

Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

Democratic Women Meeting Tonight

The last meeting of the year 1971-72 for the Democratic Women's Club of Des Plaines will be an installation dinner at Heuer's Restaurant in Rosemont tonight at 6:30.

Outgoing president, Mrs. William Pelinski, will relinquish the gavel to Mrs. Gene Barry, president for 1972-73. Presenting the new board will be installing officer Nicholas Blase, Democratic Committeeman of Maine Township.

Lucky me! I've been given access to a $20,000 greenhouse at Rockwood Estates (the former Florsheim Shoe Company property), where I rent one of the homes.

I've never had too much experience in greenhouses, outside of drooling over them.

And to me, it is something like working on a terrarium — from the inside. After I cleaned up my benches, scrubbed, and hosed, I lined the benches with gravel, and set down a 4 x 6 inch fibreboard flats or bulb pans.

Since the medium is the message, I called the shots for vermiculite, composted soil, a little sand, and regular potting soil. Other people who start seeds like peat moss and sand, peat moss and vermiculite, peat moss and perlite, milled shagnum moss and screened potting soil. You have to use what works for you. Personally, I can't stand to use peat moss for anything.

ANYWAY, as big-time greenhouse people (and freeloaders) like to keep the temperature skirting 55 to 75 degrees — especially when someone else is paying the heating bill, and the humidifier at 75 per cent.

What, no humidifier? Then just hose the place down every so often.

To tackle greenhouse pests, I use my supply of ladybugs to eat all the white fly, aphids, scale and red spider mite.

The ladybugs I keep dormant in my refrigerator and take out a few when needed. If necessary, I set a praying mantis out to tip-toe through the tulips. I also keep a box of tobacco dust handy for big jobs (condoned by the organic movement) in emergencies, and use a cotton swab dipped in alcohol for errant mealybugs.

WHEN SEEDLINGS are up for seven to ten days, I begin twice-weekly feedings with fish emulsion. (Fish is good for transplant shock, too.) I started giving the tomatoes cottonseed meal every second week, after they graduated to their own 2 1/2 inch pots.

Any sick plants going into the greenhouse "hospital," are isolated first to prevent an epidemic. There is also a plant nursery for African violet cuttings. These take from two to four months to incubate. But just about the time I am ready to give up on them, the cuttings start getting new arrivals.

Automatic timers on the fluorescent lights and waterers make my job easy. The only thing I have to do is open the shades "once in a while, so the plants don't roast on sunny days — and never let anybody sneak soft water into the place — that's subversion!

(For more on greenhouse growing, I refer you to Elvin McDonald's "The Flowering Greenhouse Day by Day," D. Van Nostrand, publisher.)

THE BRASS RAIL STEAKS 'N' STUFF

It's our salad bar that's ice cold and bottomless. A variety of breads and plenty of butter. The salad's crisp, with a choice of dressings.

The beer is in frosted mugs . . . all you can handle with dinner. And all the Coca-Cola the kids can drink. No charge. We charge for the first dessert but the second is FREE. What do we charge for? The steak, for one thing. It's a good cut of meat, non-doctored with tenderizers and other things that cover a lesser grade. You taste what you're getting.

One thing more. You can dress any way you like. The whole idea is to be comfortable and enjoy yourself at reasonable prices.

School Chiefs Ask 5% Raises

Administrators in High School Dist. 214 have asked the board of education to grant them an average 5 per cent pay increase next year, more than the amount being recommended by District Supt. Edward Gilbert.

The board postponed action until June 5 on the administrative salary proposals Monday, after receiving salary and fringe benefit recommendations from Gilbert and a committee of administrators.

Gilbert recommended that the board put aside $60,000 to be divided among the administrators. The amount would mean average raises of three per cent, although some administrators might receive more and others less as determined by Gilbert and the board.

The committee of administrators, with representatives from most of the administrative categories, asked the board to set aside $100,000 for the raises, which would mean an average five per cent increase over this year. The committee is not a formal bargaining group.

In addition, Gilbert and the committee disagreed on proposals for increasing fringe benefits for administrators, including proposals for extended sick leave, retirement pay and extra duty pay.

The administrators' committee also asked the board to adopt an auto purchase plan which would allow administrators to take a decreased salary if the district buys a car for their personal use.

Gilbert said he had no recommendation on the plan, but pointed out the idea would result in income tax savings for the administrators and would allow them to benefit from the district's tax-exempt status. He said he thought most administrators would eventually participate if the board adopts the plan. This, he said, would mean the district could end up owning as many as 100 cars for their administrators.

The administrators, whose salaries will be determined when the final package is accepted, range from the district's two assistant superintendents to the heads of each academic department in each school.

Once the board has determined the total limit on raises, Gilbert will present the board with a recommendation for raises for each individual administrator based on a merit evaluation. Gilbert said he hopes to have the individual raises prepared by the middle of June.

The administrative salary package is not related to the negotiations currently underway between the board and the Dist. 214 Education Association, the bargaining unit for teachers.

District teachers recently turned down a proposed salary package that would have reduced base pay for beginning teachers and would have given teachers now in the district a four per cent increment for additional experience plus $100 across the board raise.

The Education Association and the board agreed last week to call in a team of fact-finders to try to break the deadlock on salary negotiations.

Chris Royal 15th In U.S. Junior Olympics

Chris Royal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Royal of Des Plaines, recently placed 15th in the first National Junior Olympics for fencing at Notre Dame High School in Niles. Also competing in the Junior Olympics were Karen Beckman who placed ninth and Denise DiValerio, who placed sixth, both of Park Ridge.

The trip to the Junior Olympics began for Chris when four Des Plaines girls participated in the state finals of the Illinois Amateur Fencers League of America held at Arlington High School. Participating from Des Plaines were Karen Neetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neetz, who placed fifth in the 14-15 division; Lynn Rosner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rosner, who placed fifth in the preliminary round for the 16-19 division; Bonnie Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barker, who placed third in the preliminary and fifth in the final round for the 16-19 division; and Chris who placed second in the preliminary and fourth in the final round, also for the 16-19 division. Her fourth enabled her to advance to the super finals.

The superfinals included the top four finishers in the 16-19 division, the top three in the 14-15 division and the top one under thirteen. Chris emerged as the second place winner in the super finals, thereby qualifying her for the Junior Olympics.

Eye School Decentralization Plan

The Board of Education of High School Dist. 214 will meet next week to discuss the possibility of participating in a study on school decentralization that may bring the district as much as $1 million next year.

The study, being prepared by the Illinois Department of Urban Education, would set up a local school board at one of the district's seven high schools, according to Supt. Edward Gilbert. The department would then study the school for three years to see if decentralized control will result in better education.

The board will meet as a committee of the whole Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at Rolling Meadows High School with a representative from the state department.

The study was authorized by the Illinois Legislature last year and by law only the state's largest districts can participate. Besides Dist. 214, other districts eligible are Chicago, Decatur, Elgin, East St. Louis, Rockford, Springfield, and Peoria.

If a district agrees to participate in the study, it becomes eligible to receive grant money of between $100 and $200 per student for one-fourth of its average daily attendance, Gilbert said. For Dist. 214, this grant would amount to between $500,000 and $1,000,000 a year.

The district would have to submit propoposals on how the grant money would be used, Gilbert said, but it does not have to be limited to the school involved in the study.

The law authorizing the study set aside $6.7 million to be given to participating districts as grants, Gilbert said. Most of the money, more than $2 million, will probably go to the Chicago schools, he said.

Dist. 214 is the only eligible district that does not have all grades from kindergarten to senior in high school. It is also the only district not in a major city.

"Apparently when they defined the characteristics of urban districts," Gilbert said, "they based it on size, but not on whether they were in a city."

Methodist Youth Are Confirmed

The First United Methodist Church of Des Plaines confirmation class of 1972 was received into the church Sunday by Rev. R. A. W. Bruehl, Rev. Charles L. Kepler and the Rev. Paul Grimes. Members of the class were: Michael Paisley, Bill Lindberg, David Geist, Glenn Martin, Tom Grupe, Keith Duncan, Douglas Murray, Leslie Hissong, Sue Shakespear, Darcy Brobst, Jean Garvey, Rance Pattison, Beth Porter, Martha Postma, Mark Roque, Tina Voelker, Camille Bonnell, Eugenia Sjostrand, Linda Steffen, Cynthia Burgstrom, Melissa Sharp, David Ingrish, Gary Letnich, Amy Robinson, Tammy Huffaker, John Nankervis, Bruce Weaver, Kaye Miner, Marilyn Jackson, Susan Hansen, Elizabeth Martin, Julie Carstens, Kim Gound, Doris Duncan, Sheryl Rutten, Steve Brown, Mike Maday, Jim Pugh, Bob Zuccarini, David Sherden, Larry Duncan, David Hansen, David Morey, Lisa Lindmark, Sheldine Hulett, Norma Ragland and Cheryl Matteson.

At the 9:30 a.m. service Sunday, 50th anniversary of the Rev. Mr. Grimes' entrance into the ministry was observed. The Rev. Grimes, now retired, is a part-time associate at the church and does much pastoral calling on behalf of the church. For many years he was the minister of the West Ridge Community Church (United Methodist) at 2301 W. Lunt, Chicago. He lives in Des Plaines with his wife, Helen, his sister Miriam, and two sons, Paul Jr. and Mark.
